ACOLLIERY, (formerly Rogers, Sinnickon & Co.,) are now prepared to receive orders for their celebrated WHITE ASH GOAL from the Raven and Black Heath veins, and RED ASH from the Luther and Peach Orchard veins, all of which are free burning and well adapted for family use. Having recently adopted some improvements in the machinery for the preparation of this Coal, which enables them to separate the state and flat pieces from the square fractured, giving it a handsome and uniform size and appearance, they can confidently recommend it to the public.

The want of PURE BRANDY has long been felt in this kountry, and the introduction of an article of such quality as to supercede the sale and use of these vile compounds hitherto sold under the name of Brandy, can enly be regarded as a great public good. The UATAWBA BRANDY possesses all the good qualities claimed for the best imported Liquor, and is of perfect purity and superior flavor. We feel confident that its reception in this State will be as favorable as that which the met with in the Great West, and TRATHE THE TIELT

These Bitters are a most useful remedy for those com-laints the female sex are generally subject to, by giving one to the digestive organs—the iron, entering the lood, clampes, purifies and induces a vigorous circula-ion, overcoming the obstructions to which they are lisble, assisting nature in the performance of those fun-tions whereby health is recovered, and the patient, from looking pale and sickly is restored to a lively compleion.

We would recommend this as a Tonic of superior efficacy, and are assured in doing so, from the fact that we have taken great care and spared no expense in its preparation, in order that it should contain the full strength of the active ingredients of which it is composed, and that the attention of Physicians has been drawn to it, and prescribed in numerous cases with the happlest results.

The Farmer.

CARDENING FOR THE LADIES. We wish to say a few words, this mouth, to our lady readers about gardening. As we have leaded into your houses the past Winter, we have noticed your attempts to make home cheerful by cultivating a few house plants. Some of you have had " the skill and good fortune to make a fine show; others have succeeded but indifferently. The verbenas would dry up, or damp off; the geranitus would drop their yellow leaves and look seraway ? the roses were covered with insects, and would not bloom. You have almost begun to less faith : 1700 in gardening. But we will say nothing more at present on that point. Spring is now open, and you will undoubtedly, succeed better in out-door; operations. Light, sir, moisture and temperature are better regulated by nature than we can manage them.

Our little sermon to you now is suggested by the sight of the early buibs just peeping up in the warm border on the south side of our dwelling The anow drop and crocus are beginning to show their blossom buds; and the daffodils, hyacinths, and tulips are coming up, ready to flower in their turn. And yet, not far away are snow banks .--Why should not this sheltered spot be, as it is, one of our family pets? Here Spring shows her? self first, and here Autumn lingers latest. We therefore advise you to seek out a warm corner like this, under a high, tight fence, or a wall, or the protected side of your house, and make a bed there for early bulbs. In this neighborhood, also, it might be well to put a few early shrubs, such as Mezereon .. Japan Quince, and flowering Almond; and these might be planted now. It is too late, however, to set out bulbs for Spring flowering; but now, while your mind is upon it, secure the spot for planting in the Mall. Such a spot as this is an excellent one, also, for setting out late flowering plants, which would be injured, by the frosts of Autumn, if growing in the open garden. Last Pall, we had Chinese Shrysanthemums flowering in our border, after nearly every plant in their situations had been killed by the cold.

Now is the time, also, to prepare for improvements in your grounds at large. Have you a front yard? Trim up those lilace, prune out the dead branches of those rose-bushes, and tie up the remainder to neat stakes. Persuade husband or brother to hoe out the weeds from the walks, and to dig up all thistles and foul-stuffs from the grass-plat. A little pure grass-seed and white lover scattered over the ground will do no harm, especially if a light dressing of old compost is added, and the whole is raked off smooth and : nent. Of course, you want some flowers in your front yard. But we would not advise you to set / out herbaceous perennials there, or to sow annuals. The latter are a long while coming into bloom, and the former, as soon as they have owered, begin to die down and le Set these kind of flowers, in a garden by themselves, a little aside from your front lawn. But repare a border by the side of your walks, in the front of the house, for such plants as bloom all the season and whose foliage is always, fresh. Or, in place of a formal border, cut out circular beds (or those of any fanciful shape,) in the grass near the walks, and fill them with the plants last mentioned. Ot these, the best are verbenss, petunius, scarles geraniums, beliotropes, lantanas, pyrethrum, &c. Any or all of these can be got at ow rates, of the florists in your neighborhood. Their perpetual bloom will repay well all their cost. You can exercise much skill and taste inarranging colors. Blue contrasts finely with white; orange with purple; white with pink, scarlet, &c., &c. But why should we attempt to teach ladies anything about the arrangement of keep the grass of the lawn shaven smooth all Summer, in order to get the full beauty of this style of gardening .- American Agriculturist. for the culture of vegetables, that which affords the most shelter should have a careful consideration. The best situation and aspect in one having a Southwest slope, backed on the North and East points by a shelter of trees aufficiently distant to break the force of winds without interfer ring with the crops. This is perhaps of more importance than the natural adaptability of the soil. The operations of culture will constantly tend to alter and improve the soil. A tree foam will be found most suitable, and if resting on a somewhat clayey subsoil, it will produce heavier crops, and require less manure than where the sub-soil is of a gravely or sandy character. Draining will be indispensable as a permanent foundation ; for the gradual improvement and amelioration of such soils. A clayey soil also requires more care MORBID SENSIBILITY of the in its cultivation, but this will be more than counterbalanced by its capacity of production .-Light, anndy soils are in general earlier; much, however, will depend on the situation. A clayey lonm, well drained and sheltered, will be at least, as early as a sandy loam on an exposure; and the great superiority of the former, for general purposes, is such as to render it the most desirable. A principal feature in the management of clayey suile, is to turn them over roughly, exposing as much surface as possible, to the action of frosts .--This is a very important matter, and has the offeet of rendering clayey soils capable of being cropped as early as those where sand predomi-ABOUT PEAS.—I think farmers would do well think from what experience I have had they are very profitable to raise. I have grown sixty bushels per acre and down to thirty; have raised them with a bug in every pen, and every pea the curs of Dyspepy, than any magnetine that a severable new prepared in any age or any clime, for the same purpose.

Having submitted it, with an explanation of its components to a number of Physicians of Philadelphis, among whom were the lite Drs. Joseph Hartshorne and D.C. Jiorton, it has received their entire approval, and many of the Medical Faculty are now not only prescribing it for their statists, but are using it themselves, personally, and in their families. As a tonic, it is unequalled, and its properties are of so invigorating a narrow the meet tender infants.

The "Exizar" is very gradual, but gertain in its action upon the organs of digestion, the ingressed secretions of the liver, pancreas and mucous membrane of the Stomach, and requires that only one dose be taken in twenty-four hours; for confirmed Dysprepty can only be cured by gradually restoring the organs of digestion to a healthy state. The great success met with in curing the most aggravated case of Depopy accompanied sometimes with a bigh grade of hypochoodrisals, has established the most unbounded confidence in the curative properties of this "Eluxin;" in corroboration of which risd the following testimed tale:
