SEED TIME AND HARVEST. BY JOHN G. WHITTIER. As o'er his furrowed fields which lie Beneath a coldiy drosping sky. Yet chill with winter's melted snow a The husbandman goes forth to sow. Thus Freedom, on the bifter blast, The ventures of thy seed we cast, And frust to warmer sun and rain, To swell the germ and fill the grain. Who calls thy glorious service hard? s.
Who deems it not its own reward?
Who, for its trials, counts it leas
A cause of praise and thankfulness? It may not be our lot to whild The pickle luther ipened field; Nor ours to hear, oh summer eves. The resper's song among the sheaves. Yet where our duty a task is wrought in unison, with God's great thought, The near and future blend in one, And whatsoe'er is willed in done! And nurs the grateful service whence Comes, day by day, the recompense; The hope, the trust, the purpose stayed, The fountain and the mounday shade. And were this life the utmost span, ... The only end and aim of man, letter the toil of fields like these, Than waking dream and slothful ease. But life, though falling like our grain, Like that revives and springs again; And, early called, how bleat are they Who wait in Huaven their barvest day!

INIE benefits resulting by the use of this improvement are—good drought in all linds of weather; a saving of fact frost. 20 to 25 per cent; a saving of three-fourths of the hort, now weated; a perfect means of ventilation; a perfect protection against fire from ignition with the joint; cheappest is at the erection of chimneys, not requiring half the number of bricks, and saving one half the repare in a tree rection of chimneys, not requiring half the number of bricks, and saving one half the prece in a room taken up by the ordinary chimney.

For Factories, 30 to 40 feet in height only required to give a powerful draft for steam and other purposes.

The final provides of the control bay grass of the United States. Orchard-grass, red-top, blue-grass, and the red and white cluvers furnish the balance chiefly, excepting some of the wild, or indigenous grasses local to peculiar soils and climates. Long experience, we believe, has settled the fact that pretty much all grasses are most nutritions in hay when cut at the point of time that the blossomis passing off, and the seeds fully charge! with pulp. The stalk, loaf, and head are then full of matured sap, and possess the greatest amount of nutriment. Such, indeed, is our own experionce, after many years practice in both cutting, caring and feeding hay; and as timothy is the may want in their nusiness. Yet as all can not wait until the very moment arrives whou grass should be cut, some inust be commenced too early to avoid a part of it being too late. Timothy seed should pover shell in the field, if possible to provent it, although riponed grass will cure in a few hours after outling, and who the state of the cut, some inust be commenced too early to avoid a part of it being too late. Timothy seed should pover shell in the short and Spikes, to which the attention of dealers, railroad companies, engineers, miners, founders and machinery purposes generally. may be taken directly to the barn afterwards, in clear, dry weather. It also depends somewhat on what kind of stock are to eat the hay we cut.— Calves, young cattle, milch cows and sheep, like early cut hay best, and no doubt it is best for them-they eat it clean; while horses, working oxen, and young bullocks, like it equally well if matured so that most of the seed is ripe enough n the course of outting, to grow. In fields of mixed grassos, as where timothy, ed-clover, white clover, red-top, and blue grass'. together, the provailing grasses in them hould govern the time of cuttings. The earliest of all is the blue, or June grass-good when in blow, but worth much less when gone to seed. clovers should be going into their brown heads, while the leaves and stalks are yet fresh and succulent. | Timothy follows the clovers about a week, while the red-top is latest of all, and remaining long in bloom, may be in solson a fortnight or three-weeks after timothy. Early cutting in the morning is only necessary, for scythe mowing; and that only to save time, and labor. Grass cuts easiest when damp with dew or rain. It takes it several hours longer to dry, when cut in the dew than when dry, and for ALNUT STREET, South-west this only, if for no other purpose, the machine is preferable. The great object with the farmer should be, to get his hay housed as soon after cutting as its condition will permit. - American

AN EXTENSIVE FARMER.-Jacob Carroll, of Texas, is the largest farmer in the United States. He owns 250,000 acres of land. His home plantation contains about 8000 acres. Col. Carroll has on his immense ranges of pasture lands about 1000 horses and mules, worth $50,000; 1000 bend of eattle, worth $7000; 600 hogs, worth $2000 ; 300 Spanish marcs, worth $15,000 ; 50 jennies, worth $2000; 15 jacks, worth $9000; and 5 stallions, worth $2500. His annual income from the sale of stock amounts to $10,000, and from the rale of cotton to $20,000. This will remind the reader of Jacob Strawn, of Illinois, not less than the patriarchs of olden times, and of Johin particular, who had 14,000 sheep, 1000 yoke of oxen, 6000 camels, 1000 she-uses, -the number of bo-nesses and cows not being mentioned. Col. Carroll appears as a small farmer when compared with Job, almost as much so as a with the Colonel. We funcy that Job's ozen were Herefords, or Dovons; as the Shorthorns and Ayrabires were not known then, as will be generally admitted. Races run back to the days of antiquity, while breeds are of modern origin. The Herefords and the Devons represent races. while Shorthorns and Ayrebires are tepresentatives of breads, admitting the latter to have attained to that honorable distinction-which is set!

is a distinction between races and breeds that stock-breaders will do well to remember.
