there can be no lasting health. Sconer or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarzaparilla lasa, and deserves much, the reputstion, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, parily be cause the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be, concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarzaparilla, or anything else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarzaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the slek, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarzaparilla, but often us curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarzaparills which flood the market, until the name itself is justify despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarzaparilla, and intend to supply kuch a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obliqy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has victure which included to cure. In order, to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bettile.

COMPOUND Remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of tara Barsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an offective antidote for the diseases Earraparilla is reputed to curn.
It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Birumons complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense eservice to this large class of our afflicted follow citizens.
How completely this compound will do it has been provou by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:

Soril Rheum, Smile Head, Spahitis and Spahitics, Affections, Mercurial Disease, Propsy, Neuralgia or Tie Doulourous, Debitty, Dyrpepia and Indigestion, Erympias, Rase or S. Anthony's Fire, and indigestion, Erympias, of complaints arising from Impurity of the Blood.

This compound will be found a great promoter of bealth, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul hugoors which feater in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Mullitudes can, by the sld of this remedy, spare themselves from the endper son of the fire of the indigestions and want, which the statems will strive to rid itself of correntions.

DAILY WORK. BY CHAS. MACKAY. Who lags from dread of daily work.

And his appointed task would shirk,
Commits a filly and a crime;

A sollers alare—

A palery knave—

A riog upon the whrels of time,
With work to do and shree of hisalth,
The man's unworthy tobe free,
Who will not give,
That he may live.

His daily toll for daily toe.

No! let us work! We only ask Reward proportioned to our task;
We have no quarrel with the great—
No fead with rank—
With mill or bank—
No envy of a lord's estate.
If we can earn sufficient store
To satisfy our daily need,
And can retain, And can retain, For age and pain, A fraction, we are rich indeed.

No dread of toil have we or ours.
We know our worth and weigh our powers;
The more wa work, the more we win;
Success to trade!
Success to rade!
And to the cifn that's coming in!
And joy to him, who, o'er his task,
Remembers boil is nature's plan;
Who, working, thinks,
And never sinks
Ilis independence as a Max! Ille ladependence as a MAX! Who only asks for humble wealth,

Enough for competence and health;
And leisure when his work is done.

WINTER CARE OF ANIMALS. We advert to this subject thus early funda re sons that many spare moments may be at the du. posal of the farmers ere the snows and frosts of winter come upon us, and because the habitations of domestic animals should be fully and comfort. ably prepared for their reception long ere necessity compels them and us to seek a shelter. The first requirement in the winter care of horses is a good stable. The choice of situation -and there is a choice-is an important item .-A high and dry spot, or one that will admit of drainage, is as necessary for this purpose as for the house of the larmer. Stables should be kept dry. Damp stables are productive of as many evils as damp houses-in fact many of the most violent diseases to which the horse is subject are ofter attributable to this one defect. Shelter from cold and blenk winds is another desideratum which should receive attention. Stables should also be easy of access-here, however, the farmer consults his own comfort, and on this point it is unnecessary to dilate. $25 a ton. crowded into rrace so small as to be not only ex-Price of Pertiliser.

with it and taint it. Having provided comfortable quarters, the duty of supplying them with a sufficient quantity of good food, and that at regular intervals, devolves upon the keeper. For many years experiments have been in progress with the purpose of ascertaining the kinds best adapted to the wants of the animal at this period of the year. Persons differ as to the relative value of many articles, and yet all agree that variety is essential. Onts are the only food that will fit a borse for labor or the road -roots are oftentimes much superior. Carrots are perhaps the first in this class-and are noted both for their action upon the internal organization and in an improved external appearance. A loose, mellow hide is observable in all animals where this root forms a portion of their food. In this connection it may be proper to say that every barn should have a hay or straw cutter, and that the instrument should be kept in daily use .-Every method by which the digestion can be improved ought to be resorted to-for the stomack the great furnisher of motive power, and should the steam go down, locomotion is impeded or rought to a full stop.
