Wit and Humor.

A PENNY FOR YOUR THOUGHT.

"Husband, you are busy thinking,
Past and present ever linking;
Take a penny for the thought!
Strike a bargain. It is bought!
Let me know!"

"'Tis a fancy over-wrought!
Be it so.
I remember long ago,
Cupid's dart
Struck my heart:
Cupid caught me unaware,
On the landing of a stair,
Strung his bow.
And I'm still acutely feeling
(For the wound is never healing)
All the smart
Of the blow.

"And a maiden, fresh and fair,
Sitting yonder in the chair,
Saw him do it;
Held me by her eyes and hair—
By the magic of her air—
Held me there
While he drew it.
Now you know,
Pay for hearing!—Only this:
But a penny!
Take it back, and give—a kiss!
One of many."

RULES OF HEALTH.

(A LA HALL.)

Imprimis, never go to bed with your feet sticking out of the window, particularly when it is raining or freezing.

More than three pigs' feet and half a mince pie eaten at midnight, will not generally cause the consumer to dream of houris, paradises, accomodating bankers, and other good things. At least they are not apt to do so.

Never stand in the rain barrel all night.—It checks perspiration, and spoils rain water for washing purposes.

Never spank your children with a hand-saw, or box their ears with the sharp edge of a hatchet. It is apt to affect their brains.

Never stand in the hall with the door open with nothing but your he miso or she mise on, talking to a friend more than half an hour at a time.

To enlarge the muscles of the arms and legs, climbing up and down the chimney, especially if the house is a four story one, three or four times before breakfast, is a cheap exercise, and gives a voracious appetite.

Earache in children is a common and vexatious complaint. To cure it at once, bore a hole in the tympanium with a gimlet, and pour in oil and things. If the child keeps on crying, bore it all the way through to the other ear.

Corns may be easily cured. The most torturing corn can at once be extirpated, as follows: Take a sharp knife, find the joint of the toe whereon the corn resider, insert the knife in the articulation, pry off the toe and throw it away; it will never return again, unless your dog brings it back to you in his mouth. (Patent applied for.)

The habit of drinking can be cured, by giving the drinker all the liquors he wants to drink, all the time. We know of two in our experience, who were cured in three weeks. One jumped out of a four-story window, and ran a curb-stone into his head; the other didn't get up one morning, and has a universal curb-stone growing out of his head in the grave-yard.

The best way to take pills of Brandreth's description, if you have twenty or twenty-five to take, is, not to make them into a hash and eat them, but load a shot gun with them, put the muzzle against your stomach and pull the trigger with your toe. It saves a great deal of disgust to the gullet, and a bad taste in your mouth.

Never go to sleep standing on your head. The brain might take a notion to run down; and what would you do, on waking, to find all your brains in your head?

Never shave your whiskers with a hatchet. The best method of trimming is to pass a red-hot iron gently over them. The operation smoothes them regularly, giving the end of each hair a smooth, crispy appearance.

A COMPLICATED ACCIDENT.

The United States steam frigate ——, after a long cruise, returned, by order, to the Brooklyn navy-yard, when all on board were immediately "paid off." One of the firemen, Dennis McFinnigan, upon the receipt of his wages went on a "spree," and after making away with a good part of his money, squared his canvas for the abode of his wife.

Placing $200, "all in goold," in her lap, he informed her that that was all he had.

"An' phat did ye do with the rest?" inquired she.

"The rest, wha?" returned Dennis, with well-feigned astonishment at her inquiry.

"Why, the other $200. Wern't you to get $400."

"Uv coorse; an' didn't I; lave me alone for that, but ye see, Peg, there was an axidint on board, an' its meself that had to pay the damigis."

"An' how's that?"

"Well, ye see, Peg, an' its no lie I'm a tellin' ye; as we were a comin' up the bay, the Blower bust a steam pipe, an' the engineer tould me to go to the hayloft an' git a lift-handed screw-wrench to repair it; an' in my hurry to obey his orthers, bad luck to meself, I put me fut in it an'—"

"An' phat?"

"Divil blow me, if it didn't break in two, clane through."

"Phat, Dinnis?"

"The cylander head, bad luck to it, for it scalded the body uv me, so it did. See the eyes uv me, how red they are. Send for a dhrap."

HERE is a letter dated Australia. The writer, after giving a ten-crossed-page description of the scenery, kangaroos, gold mining, non-success, poverty, and despair, winding up with a polite request for a remittance of $200, remarks:

"I am now camping on Yankandandy creek, and upon a large tree near me is posted the

"I have gone all but the 'Mortal Gorge,' and that I can't as yet afford. I am anticipating the arrival of the $200 !"

VERY COOL.—A gentleman on a visit to Washington, one day very cooly opened the Senate Chamber, was about to pass in, when the door-keeper asked, "Are you a privileged member?" "What do you mean by that?" asked the stranger. The reply was, "A governor and ex-member of Congress, or a foreign minister." The stranger replied that he was a minister. "From what court or country?" asked the official. Very gravely point ing up, the stranger replied, "From Heaven, sir." To this the door-keeper waggishly replied, "this government at present holds no intercourse with that foreign power."

A CERTAIN linen draper waited upon a lady for the amount of an article purchased at his shop. She endeavored to remind him that she had paid when she called some time ago. He declared he had no remembrance of the circumstance, in which she produced his receipt. He then asked pardon, and said: "I am sorry I did not recollect."

"Ye which the lady replied:
"I sincerely believe you are sorry you did not recollect."
