THE LAW OF NEWSPAPERS.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until arrearages are paid.

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their newspapers from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled the bills and ordered them discontinued.

If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publisher, and the newspapers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from the office, or removing, and leaving them unpaid for, is prima facia evidence of intentional fraud.

MORRIS & JONES & CO.,

IRON AND STEEL WAREHOUSE,

Market and Seventh Streets, Philadelphia,

Would call the attention of Railroad Managers, and those interested in Railroad Property, to their System of Locomotive Engines, in which they are adapted to the heavy business for which they may be required: by the use of one, two, three or four pair of driving wheels; and the use of the whole, or so much of the weight as may be desirable for adhesion; and in accommodating them to the grades, and strength of superstructure, and rail and work to be done. By these means the maximum useful effect of the power is secured with the least expense for attendance, cost of fuel, and repairs to Road and Engine. With these objects in view, and as the result of twenty-three years practical experience in the business by our senior partner, we manufacture five different kinds of Engines, and several classes of sizes of each kind. Far lesser attention paid to the strength of the machinery in the plan and working up of the details. Our long experience and opportunities of obtaining information enables us to offer these engines with the assurance that in efficiency, economy and durability, they will compare favorably with those of any other kind in use. We also furnish to Axles, wheels, axles, bowling or low moor tire (to fit centres without boring,) composition castings for bearings; every description of Copper, Sheet Iron and Boiler Work; and every article appertaining to the repair or service of Locomotive Engines. THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER.

WORDS BY FRANCIS S. KEY.

O say, can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd, were so gallantly streaming;
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there—
O say, does that Star-spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the Free and the home of the Brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream—
'Tis the Star-spangled Banner. O! long may it wave
O'er the land of the Free and the home of the Brave!

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion,
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has washed out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight or the gloom of the grave!
And the Star-spangled Banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the Free and the home of the Brave!

O! thus be it ever when Freemen shall stand
Between the loved home and the war's desolation;
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven rescued land
Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto—In God is our trust!
And the Star-spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the Free and the home of the Brave!

THE SONG.

The following was sung at the great mass meeting in Union Square on Sunday.

God's blessing be upon
Our own, our Native Land!
The Land our Fathers won
By the strong heart and hand,
The free, the rich, the wide,
When they fell'd the forest's pride,
And the tyrant he defied.
The free, the rich, the wide;
GOD FOR OUR NATIVE LAND!

Up with the starry sign,
The red stripes and the white!
Where'er its glories shine,
In error's face we fight.
We owe its high command:
For the Flag our Fathers gave,
Or our children's heads shall wave,
And children's children's grave;
GOD FOR OUR NATIVE LAND!

Who doth that flag defy,
We challenge as our foe;
Who will not for it die,
Our foe he must go!
Be it then understand,
Who that dear flag disclaim,
Which won their Fathers fame,
We brand with endless shame;
GOD FOR OUR NATIVE LAND!

Our Native Land, to thee,
In one united vow,
To keep thee strong and free,
And glorious as now;
We pledge each heart and hand,
By the blood our Fathers shed,
By the ashes of our dead,
By the sacred soil we tread,
GOD FOR OUR NATIVE LAND!

My Mother's Bible.

"This book is all that's left me now,
Tears will blot each leaf I view;
With faltering lip and throbbing brow
I press it to my heart.
For many generations past
Here is our family tree—
My mother's hand this Bible clasped,
She, dying, gave it me.

"Ah! well do I remember those
Whose names these records bear,
Who round the hearth-stone used to close,
After the evening prayer,
And speak of what these pages said,
In tones my heart would thrill—
Though they are with the silent dead,
Here are they living still.

"My father read this holy book
To brothers, sisters dear;
How calm was my poor mother's look,
Who leaned God's Word to hear.
Here angel hands have been,
What vivid memories come—
Again that little group is met
Within the halls of home.

"Thou truest friend man ever knew,
Thy constancy I've tried;
When all were false I found thee true—
My counsellor and guide.
The mines of earth no treasures give
That could this volume buy—
In teaching me the way to live,
It taught me how to die."

ADVERSARIA MISCELLANIA;

OR

NOTES FROM MY DIARY.

BY WILLIAM W. DANGER.

Shenstone in speaking of hospitality, has these lines:

"Whoe'er has traveled life's dull round,
Where'er his stages may have been,
May sigh to think he still has found,
The warmest welcome at an inn."

We think the following more adapted:

Whoe'er has traveled much about,
Must very often sigh to think,
That every inn will turn him out,
Unless he's plenty of the "chink."

UNIVERSAL DOMINATION.—This principle has never been extinct; it has never slept in France for some centuries past, except perhaps for a few years during the pacific administration of Cardinal Fleury. At the breaking out of the French Revolution, indeed, this object was pursued with greater ardor than it ever had been theretofore; and her regicide chiefs then entertained the same designs of ambition in the subjugation of Europe, which Bonaparte afterwards carried into execution.

The scheme of humbling the nothern powers, and of partitioning Germany—effected by Napoleon—was planned and laid out so early as the year 1793, when Publicola Chaussard, then commissioner of the executive power, said: "It is the interest of France to raise herself to the rank of a first rate power
