THE LAW OF NEWSPAPERS.

Persons who order the discontinuance of their newspapers must settle all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send them until payment is made.

If subscribers refuse or neglect to take their newspapers from the offices to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publisher, and the newspapers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from the office, or removing, and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
