THE LAW OF NEWSPAPERS.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until arrearages are paid.

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their newspapers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled the bills and ordered them discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the newspapers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from the office, or removing, and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

JOHN BANNAN'S STEAM PRINTING OFFICE.

Having procured these Presses, we are now prepared to execute JOB and BOOK PRINTING of every description at the Office of the MINERS' JOURNAL, cheaper than it can be done at any other establishment in the county, such as

Books, Pamphlets, Bills of Lading, Large Posters, Railroad Tickets, Hand Bills, Paper Books, Articles of Agreement, Visiting Cards, Bill Heads, Order Books, &c.,

At the very shortest notice. Our stock of JOB TYPE is more extensive than that of any other office in this section of the State, and the large hands employed expressly for Jobbing. Being a practical Printer himself, we will guarantee our work to be as neat as any that can be turned out in the State. PRINTING IN COLORS done at the shortest notice.

BOOK BINDERY.

Books bound in every variety of style. Blank Books of every description manufactured, bound and ruled to order at shortest notice.

MINERS' JOURNAL,

TO COAL OPERATORS: Great improvement in Coal Screens.

THE UNDERSIGNED are now prepared to manufacture, at their shop, in Minersville, all kinds of SCREENS for screening Coal, of the improved manufacture patented to Joseph Leatherwood, 6th February, 1862.

Screens manufactured by the patentee are more durable, maintain their form better, and are furnished as cheap as may to be had in the trade.

Screens may be made of square bars, in such a shape as to prevent the Coal sliding from the time it is thrown before it is thoroughly assorted; thus preparing it better than can be done by any screen now in use.

The manufacturer, respectfully request all Operators wanting Screens, to examine those now put in Screens at their shop, or at work at the Mammoth Vein Colliery of George S. Repplier, near St. Clair, where they have been in use for some time.

By purchasing Screens made under this Patent, Litigation, or any trouble as to patent rights, will be avoided.

All work done with promptness and despatch.

BROAD TOP.

BROAD TOP COAL. The Huntingdon and Broad Top Mountain Railroad and Coal Company

Respectfully call the attention of R. R. Companies, Steamboat Owners and Manufacturers to the value of their COAL as a STEAM GENERATOR AND FOR MANUFACTURING PURPOSES.

THE BROAD TOP COAL FIELD,

Having connection with PHILADELPHIA AND NEW YORK, both by Canal and Railroad, through Pennsylvania and New Jersey, is enabled to offer inducements of shipments to patrons of the SOUTHERN BITUMINOUS COAL FIELDS, and regular supplies can safely be counted upon throughout the year.

Lewis Audenried & Co.

Have made arrangements whereby they are in daily receipt of large quantities of the choicest BROAD TOP, and they are prepared to fill order promptly, at market rates.

{ 206 Walnut street, Philadelphia. 110 Broadway, New York. OFFICES: 14 Kilby street, Boston. 34 Westminster street, Providence. June 1, '61 22-

Office of the Celebrated BROAD TOP White Ash Semi-Bituminous AND East Lehigh Coals, No. 104 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

The undersigned would respectfully call your attention to the Celebrated Broad Top Coal, mined out of his own property, prepared, directly under his own supervision, and combining his operations exclusively to this region, having no other coals for sale, the purchaser can rely upon obtaining a pure article of Broad Top Coal without the risk of having a mixture of Coals from various veins or from other regions substituted, which in appearance may be similar, but is greatly wanting in value. From the advantageous arrangements which have been effected with the principal Railroad and Canal Companies, purchasers can be supplied at the lowest price, upon the most reasonable terms, and at the shortest notice.

For Steam Generating, Marine and Locomotive Engines, Rolling Mills and Puddling Furnaces, Glass Manufacturing, Blacksmithing, Coke-ing, Brick and Lime Burning, this Coal cannot be excelled.

Its exemptness from Sulphur and Impurities highly injurious to the manufacturing of Iron, and especially to Machinery, Boilers and Grate Bars, gives it pre-eminence. Its easy combustion, combined with its beautiful white flame, renders it a desirable fuel for Parlor Grates.

East Lehigh Coal.

NOTICE.—The subscriber having also been appointed Sole Agent for the sale of the Celebrated East Lehigh Coal, mined from the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's land, by Chapman & Mosier, and shipped at Mauch Chunk, flatters himself that he can supply the trade with an article, in quality and preparation unsurpassed by any in the market.

Will be pleased to communicate any further information, and will be most happy to receive your patronage.

Aug. 7, 1858. Respectfully, ROBERT HARE POWEL.

☞ Caution.—Purchasers are respectfully requested to require all persons representing themselves as my agents to produce a written certificate to that effect. May 25, '61 21-tf

Union Movement.

NEW YORK POLITICS.

Address of the Union Members of the Legislature.

A UNION OF ALL PATRIOTS RECOMMENDED.

To the Electors of the State of New York:

The undersigned members of the Legislature, feel it incumbent upon them, in closing the session of 1862, to submit to the electors of this State some considerations as to the present condition of the country, and the political duties which it devolves upon them.

When they assembled here, the great rebellion, whose rising clouds had so long darkened the Southern sky, had already burst in desolating fury upon the land. The bad passions of ambitious and unprincipled men, publicly taught by the teachings and spirit of an institution which has long been our shame and our reproach, and possessed by party hate and lust for power, had finally culminated in open madness, and hurled upon our country all the calamities and dangers we had feared so long and had sought so earnestly by concessions and compromises to avert and avoid. It had become the duty of the generation to meet the most fearful peril our institutions have ever been compelled to encounter. That duty had been rendered doubly difficult by the magnanimous and confiding incredulity of the loyal people of the Northern States, who peculiarly refused to believe their Southern brethren capable of the greatest crime that has ever stained the annals of any nation, and who resolutely shut their eyes to the movements of organized conspiracy, and even to the marshalling of armies, in open prelude to its preparation. It was not until the bombardment of Sumpter announced the actual outbreak of the rebellion that the North could credit the possibility of such an act. Then they awoke from their delusive dream and began to realize the fearful dangers that menaced them on every side. They then saw the Constitution rent and torn asunder, the nation stabbed in a vital part, the whole fabric and foundation of the Government broken and shaken from its centre to its circumference, treason in the army and navy, and in every department of the Government, and foreign nations looking scornfully on, and gloating over the apparent and well-nigh accomplished ruin of the republic.

Never was there a period in the history of the world so well adapted to try the strength of free institutions, or to test the courage and patriotism of free men, and right well did they vindicate the one, and assert, in a manner never to be forgotten, the truthfulness of the other.

Though they found themselves without military training, or organization of any kind—with a new Administration, just elected, and unused to the responsibilities of power—with a bankrupt treasury, and our little army and navy scattered to the four quarters of the world—yet, with a devotion and determination worthy the heroic days of the Republic, and without a parallel in the history of nations, they sprang to arms, and rallied as one man to the support of the Constitution. From mountain top and valley, from the lake, the river and the ocean, from the city, and from the plain, from all the walks and trades and professions of life, without distinction of taste, or birthplace, or sect, or party, they stepped forth upon the same common level, side by side, to battle nobly for freedom, order, and constitutional law.

In the political world, the crisis produced changes almost as great, and quite as honorable to the patriotic loyalty of the American people.—To a very great extent, in all the North and States, more party organizations dissolved and melted away in the presence of this fierce and flaming peril. In this State, as elsewhere, the popular impulse demanded that patriotic men of all parties should lay aside, for the time, their differences of political sentiment, and unite in support of the National Administration, in its efforts to maintain the authority of the Constitution and the integrity of the Union. The great body of the people were ready for such a Union, and nothing but the obstinate resistance of a powerful organization, claiming to represent the Democratic party, and controlling all its organized means of action, stood in the way of its consummation. This organization, acting in the name, but belieing the spirit and temper of the patriotic masses of the Democratic party, went into the State contest of last fall upon the avowed basis of hostility to the National Administration, and to nearly every one of the measures which, under the pressure of imperative necessity, it had been compelled to adopt, for the successful prosecution of the war, and the arrest of measures in progress within the limits of our own State to afford aid and comfort to the rebellion. A strong feeling of dissatisfaction soon made itself manifest among the great body of the Democratic party, whose patriotic sentiments and purposes were thus misrepresented, and who protested indignantly against thus being made the instruments of sacrificing the very honor and safety of the country to the resentments and ambition of political partizans; and, joining others of their fellow-citizens not connected with them in party associations, they met in Convention at Syracuse for the nomination of a State ticket upon the broad platform of loyalty to the Constitution and the Union, and the support of the Administration, which had become responsible for the fate of both. The Republican Convention, which had assembled on the same place, in the same spirit, and for the same patriotic purpose, promptly laid aside for the time all thought of independent action, and joined the Union Convention in its declaration of purposes, and its selection of candidates for State officers. The men thus nominated, in spite of the vigorous efforts of the so called Democrat
