FORTIETH VOLUME
OF
THE MINERS' JOURNAL,
PUBLISHED AT POTTSVILLE, PA.

The 40th Volume of the MINERS' JOURNAL commences to-day with new type, and a larger circulation than it ever attained before.

The JOURNAL, in addition to the general news of the day, publishes more complete reports of the Coal Trade of the United States, than any other publication issued in the country, and it goes wherever Coal goes in this country, and also in Europe. Its Annual Statistics of the Coal Trade, which appears in January of each year, is worth alone the price of subscription. The Coal Trade is also in a very prosperous condition and is attracting great attention throughout the country, and every large consumer and dealer abroad ought to take the JOURNAL for the correct information it contains with regard to the state of the trade. Its subscription price is small compared with the amount of money that may be saved by purchases of Coal, by availing themselves of correct information.

While the circulation of the JOURNAL is large out of the County among those interested in the trade, it still circulates three times the number of copies in the County as any other paper issues, and is therefore a fine advertising medium for business men generally, Coal Operators and Land Owners, Iron Manufacturers, Machinists, Oil Merchants, Notices to Contractors, &c., &c., embracing the business men of all parties, and contains a very large portion of the capitalists of the country on its subscription list.

Terms for the JOURNAL, $2 25 per annum in advance, or $2 50 if, not paid in advance. All subscriptions must be paid in advance unless the parties are known to the publisher. Subscriptions can be sent by mail. The JOURNAL can be furnished from the beginning of the year 1864.

Mr. ISAAC KNOWS, President of the Bank of Northern Liberties, Philadelphia, died on Wednesday, aged 72 years.

The Legislature of New York has passed resolutions complimentary to Major-General Grant.

The Mine Hill and Schuylkill Haven Railroad Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent., (equal to two dollars per share,) clear of all taxes.

The Schuylkill Navigation Company officially announces its dividend, in cash, of four per cent. payable, clear of all taxes, February 1, 1864.

A wager is pending in this Borough, that Stroube and Ancona will not vote differently during the entire session of Congress. That seems to us like betting on a certainty.

HARRY DAVIS has been exhibiting his Panoramas of the Rebellion in Washington with much success. The papers praise it highly. Harry must not forget Pottsville in his rounds.

"AMERICAN BANK NOTE REPORTER" is the name of a new monthly, published by S. E. Cohen, 23 South Third street, Philadelphia. A valuable feature of this publication is, that it is the only one in the country with quotations of bank notes in four cities.

DIVIDENDS.—The Beaver Meadow Railroad Company announces a semi-annual dividend of five per cent., payable on and after the 11th inst., at the office of the company. The Little Schuylkill Railroad announces a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent. payable, free of all taxes on the 18th inst.

THEY MET, AND RESOLVED.—Yes, the Democratic members of Congress met on Saturday night in the Capitol, and resolved that everybody ought to be paid for everything in gold, or its equivalent, and that the President's Proclamation of Amnesty "is unwise, inexpedient, revolutionary, and unconstitutional, and is therefore disapproved." The world however, still moves.

THE Copperheads in the State Senate have refused a vote of thanks to Gen. Grant and the brave Army of the South-West, offered by Senator Lowrie. The vote stood sixteen to sixteen. And this under the miserable pretext that the Speaker was not occupying his seat according to the customs of the past. Pah! these fellows are almost beneath contempt.

STROUSE OR NEGRO SUPREMACY.—People in the North are supposed generally, to be in favor of the negro going into the ranks, thus sparing the white population as much as possible. That policy however, don't meet Ancona's (of Berks) views. And the way Ancona thinks, and the way Ancona votes, why those are the ways adopted by Strouse, M. C. from this District. Positively, Strouse is a first class echo. On Monday last in the House Mr. Broomall moved a resolution to further the enlistment of colored soldiers, by offering full pay and bounties to slaves yet under Rebel control, and Strouse voted against it, following in the footsteps of the immortal Ancona. We trust the Berks County M. C's. health is good. If he should get sick and be absent when some important matter must be acted on, how in the world will Strouse vote? We anticipate the position with feelings of terror for the sanity of our heavy Member.

SENATOR DAVIS, OF KENTUCKY.—We believe in the sentiment of the departed Douglas, that in this contest there can be no neutrals. A man must be either for the Government of his fathers, or against it. On this principle Senator Wilson of Massachusetts, moved the expulsion of Senator Davis of Kentucky. On Wednesday Mr. Wilson's resolution was taken up, and he supported it in a strong, argumentative speech. Mr. Davis replied in a wandering speech, full of rebellious talk and personal invective, which if intended as an apology for the series of treasonable resolutions he had proposed, failed lamentably. Mr. Davis is a statesman who places the interests of a few slaveholders above the welfare of the country; who wants the leaders of the Rebellion reinstated in all the power they possessed before the Rebellion. Mr. Davis, the people will consent to nothing of the kind.

TEN-FORTY LOANS.—The New York Evening Post of Monday says, (we know not on what authority) "that when the whole of the five-twenty loan is taken up Mr. Chase will commence the issue of ten-forties of which 900 millions were authorized March 3, 1863. The rate of interest which will be offered is not yet decided. But the law provides that it shall not exceed 6 per cent. and shall be payable in gold." The difference between the ten-forty loans and the other Federal loans is, that in the law authorizing the ten-forty loan it is expressly stated the interest shall be paid in coin. All other Government loans, the universal custom has been followed, of paying both interest and principal in coin. It is not so expressed on the face of the several Acts authorizing the loans.

THE Supervisory Committee for the Enlistment of Colored troops, having their headquarters at 1210 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, have opened a free school for the instruction of persons who desire to apply for commissions in colored regiments. This school is under the charge of Colonel John H. Taggart, formerly of the 12th Pennsylvania Reserves, who is an officer of rare fitness and ability. Pamphlets containing particulars, can be obtained at this office.

IT is stated that a proposition, duly authorized from Richmond, has been made to the Union Government to sell to that Goyernment all the cotton (about 15,000 bales) within a certain district outside of the Union lines, taking greenbacks in pay.

GEN. GANTT, of Arkansas, is in Harrisburg. He says that the Union men of the South do not want a so-called conservative man for President. Conservatives down there are considered little better than rebels.

AN accident happened on Tuesday, on the Northern Central Railroad, near Baltimore, by which two persons were killed and six wounded.

MAJOR J. BUCA CAMERON, Paymaster in the Army, died on the 13th instant.

Ex-Gov. THOMAS H. HICKS has been chosen United States Senator from Maryland.

GEN. MEADE visited Philadelphia this week.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE MINERS' JOURNAL.

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

JANUARY 14, 1864.

MR. EDITOR:—The ship of State is still becalmed, and her sails hang loose. Occasionally some of those composing the crew make an effort to get up a breeze, but all of them end in an impracticable species of wind, and we are really at a loss to conjecture how matters will end. The Senate has now been in session ten days, and yet the deadlock appears to be more effective than ever. There was a short session on Tuesday, but a very extended one yesterday. In the course of the morning Mr. Lowry offered a resolution that the interest on the State debt falling due on the 1st of February, should be paid in the legal tender notes of the Government. Of course as the Democrats still hold out against a recognition of organization, Mr. Lowry could not carry a motion to proceed to a second reading and consideration of his resolution, and he was therefore permitted to speak by the courtesy of Senators, and was followed by Senators Champneys, Wilson and McCandless on the Republican side. The arguments in favor of the passage of the resolution were soon lost sight of, and the organization of the Senate seemed to be the principal topic. It was alleged that by the payment of the State indebtedness in coin last winter, the treasury suffered to the amount of one million and fifty thousand dollars, and that it would suffer a similar loss on the 1st proximo if provision was not made against it. Mr. Lowry remarked that inasmuch as laborers, mechanics, soldiers, officers, and all government employes were paid in Government money, he did not see the justice of paying the English bondholders in gold and silver—more especially as some of the money was doubtless used to build iron-clad vessels for the navy of the so-called Southern Confederacy. The Republican party is by no means a unit on this question, because they dislike having the fine polish of State pride rubbed off by repudiation—but, doesn't not appear to you, Mr. Editor, that the old adage "self preservation is the first law of nature" never applied more favorably than it does in this case? At a time like this when the people are willing to bleed at every pore to maintain the Government, is it not asking them a little too much to stand an additional million and fifty thousand dollars for the benefit of John Bull, who has given aid and comfort to the enemy to prolong this war? Gentlemen who look upon such a resolution as repudiation, and declare it a forfeiture of the plighted faith of the State, must please bear in mind that the repeated violations of the neutrality law by the English are gross breaches of faith as well as the international laws of nations, and may be put in plea as an offset.

After the close of my letter last week I stated that the Governor had not yet signed any bank bill but that of the Farmers' Bank of Schuylkill County, which received executive approval during the latter part of October, or early in November. Immediately after the close of the mail a message from the Governor was received announcing that he had signed all the bills for the re-charter of banks passed last winter, except that of the Montgomery County Bank, which was accompanied by a veto message.

The re-chartering of these banks gives us for the next five or six years three separate and distinct banking systems—the old State system—the Free Banking Law—and the act of Congress for establishing National Banks. Time only can tell how things will work. If they make money plenty, and keep their credit up, your correspondent can see little if any be established in every village and hamlet in the State.

In the House very little business of a practical nature has been transacted. The Committees have been appointed, but the lack in the Senate clogs the wheels. The reports of the different departments have been received, and ordered to be printed. That of the Adjutant General will make over one thousand pages, and will be a very interesting document, as it will contain the names of all the officers commissioned by the Governor, the date of commission, promotion, death or resignation, &c.

The Republican members held a caucus this morning in reference to the nomination and election of a State Treasurer, but adjourned without transacting any business, to meet again this afternoon. There are but two prominent candidates before the caucus—Henry D. Moore, Esq., the late efficient Treasurer, and William P. Ham, late receiver of taxes in Philadelphia.

At the time I close this letter, fifteen minutes after 11 o'clock, the Democratic Senators are absent—supposed to be holding a caucus. The business of the morning promises to be merely a repetition of the proceedings we have already had.

Yours,
RIBAUD GAUCHE.

TO COAL OPERATORS and Others.

After desperate attempts upon the part of a number of infringers, to evade our rights to HARRIS JENKINS' Patents for Triangular Woven Wire, we have succeeded in establishing every point in our favor.

Judge Grier of the United States Circuit Court, has decided that we own the patents, and that it is a valid one. A Jury of the same Court has pronounced the invention an original one, after withstanding the most laborious and ingenious efforts to overthrow the Patent, and a new trial was refused, the Judge expressing himself satisfied with the verdict.

We learn that these are still certain unprincipled parties continuing to infringe upon said Patents, some of them pretending, in various unimportant ways, to vary their mode of bending from that pointed out in the Patent. In every instance that we have examined, their statements are grossly fraudulent. We shall hold up the strictest accountability every party violating the law hereinbefore alluded to. And we hereby caution all not to assert our rights, but Mr. Jenkins, the inventor, who is paid by no alone, shall not be deprived by such conduct of the income so justly his due. We now respectfully notify the Coal Operators and others, that if they buy any Crimped Screen Work of any unlicensed Manufacturer, we shall hold them in damages and proceed to enjoin them from using the work thus purchased.

We also give notice that DENIS & DUPUY and DENIS & BRANNAN are not our Licensees.

Mr. J. W. BOOCE is our sole Licensee. His shops are located at Scranton, Tamaqua, Pottsville, &c., where he will be able to fill promptly and at short notice, entrusted to him.

THE WAR FOR THE UNION!

A Message from the President.—The Message of President Lincoln, Liberal Gift to the Union Cause.

The President of the United States on Tuesday, January 5th, signed the army bounty bill, and sent to Congress a message of the highest importance at the present crisis of the affairs of the country. The message is a very lengthy one, and we only have room for a few extracts from it. The President in this message says that he has signed the bill, although he does not approve of all its provisions, because he considers the measure necessary to the speedy restoration of the Union. He urges an immediate reorganization of the Army of the Potomac, and says that he intends to concentrate a large force there. He thinks that the rebellion is the weakest in the region of Richmond, and that the Army of the Potomac is much stronger than it ever was before. He urges an increase of the Navy, and says that he intends to concentrate a large force on the Mississippi river, to open it to free navigation from its source to the Gulf of Mexico. He says that he has no objection to the exchange of prisoners, and that he has appointed Commissioners for that purpose. He says that he has no objection to the payment of the expenses of the Commissioners appointed by the States to receive the soldiers of the Union army, who have been released from Southern prisons
