THE EXCURSION TO ST. JOSEPH.

BY JOSEPH JENKINS.

The Chicago Tribune once published an account of an excursion on Lake Michigan. It says:

Mr. Editor—Jemima Jane is in the musickle line, and has set intez the singing seats for some time back. Of course she belongs to the Eolic Serryfines, and so do I, the latter mainly for the mutual convenience of seein Jemima Jane home, as I don't sing, not a note, only hums in the koral parts and looks gruff when it comes to heavy bass. I love music, howsomever, and say, with the poet, "he that hath no music in his soul, is fit for treason, stratagem and spoils," or is likely to spoil everything he tetches. My father's oldest brother was a drummer in the army, and music has ritn in the family ever sinse. But this wasn't what I was about to rite.

Jemima Jane bein in the musickle way, and one of the Eolic Serryfines tew, sez to me, sez she, "Joshua, do you like peaches?" sez she; I sez back, "Jemima, your cheeks beat peach bloom all to thunder, they do, I swow." "Then," sez she, kinder tardin, "Joshua Jepsum, don't talk nonsense, or I'll be mad," (just as though Mr. Editur, a gal ever got mad at being called an angel, or a peach-blow, or suthin complimentary.) Sez Jemima Jane then to me, sez she, "Dont' you like peaches?" Sez I, "Why, in course I du, and if I du, and if you du, Jemima, I'll fill my pockets for you next time I cum." This I sed, well noin peeches was "three for a quarter," seeh peeches, you know, as a feller wouldn't feel sneekin in fetching his sweetheart, for I don't care who nose it, since last New Years Jemima and I have been "affy ansay," as she sez.

Then she goes on to say as how the Eolic Serryfines have hired a steamer or tew, and was goin straight opt across the lake to Saint Jo, to "see the foalks and get sum peeches." I fits rite up, sez I: "Jemima Jenkins, I'm gowen for that vige; thar aint no end of peeches in that regin I've heern, and as sure as shootin we'll go." Unlucky words; never was fate bespoke at so short a notis, and with mors catastrous results. I shudder when I contemplate the past few hours of mi existence. I'd an idee, and so had my Jemima Jane, and so had the Eolic Serryfines, and so we told the public that peeches at St. Jo "was lying round knee deep onto the ground, cling-stones, rear-ripe, mellow-castoons, Saint Gorges, etsettery. We'd hearn they had roads built of nothing but peech-stones, and groves of peech trees, miles long, half-way across Michigan. Bowed up by such fallacious infantiles we natocrally forgot, we and the publick, to take into the accolnt the——Lake!

We got reddy, Jemima and I, for what Jemima called a "speero" of the highest pattern. I rose up before the dorn of Monday, and blacked my boots elegant and greesed my har and used mor'n a bottle of Jocki Club onto my gluvs and shut bussum, (I'd better nocked my brains out with any other kind ov a club, and so ended wo! I have to rite appended of human misery,) I put on a new lite suite of summer cussamere duv-colnered, and bang up cost a heap—did nit to please Jemima. We met at the place of rendezvoo. Jemima's bruther had a large picknick baskit filled with goodies. She was fixed up ter kill, in a lite lavunder silk with a bunnet of wite draw silk and lite kid slippers; moreover gluvs of the saim. I luv to be minuship for whither a lass (and her bo tew—that's me) ware we tendin—for we forgot the——Lake.

We went on board the steamer Come-it (how offen sence have I wisht it was at that ill-fated hour they'd "come it,") There was Jemima and me and her bruther John, also the picknick baskit, also cozzin Salina Jane and her bo, and most ov the Eolic Serryfines that could nt git onto the uther bote. We was all drest as fur a bridle seen, in light and gawjus dress, mostly the ladies, but also sum ov the gentlemun, fur as a send I had on my duv-cullered sute (I shall never ware it agin, but the subjeck is tew paneful.) We went up the gangwuge with much gayvte and sooperlative happiness. They Come-it down with joyous human beasts. We talked of peaches and promised they should be our only diet, oust we arrive at St. Jo.—we furgot the——Lake.

Steam was got up. We looked down onto the invidjus crowds on the dock with sentiments of pity, and bade them ajew. "Pore fellows," sez Jemima, sez she to me, "aint it a pity they aint got no music in their souls, nor aint going for peeches." I weekly responded, "Yes, Jemima," and pressed her gently to my duv-cullered coat lappel, and weekly rejoiced in the' hour. Unhappy retches! I refer to the individoals on board. There was that brüin outside that would be hard to bear, but we didn't know it. We furgot the——Lake.

We drooped gently down the streem. Jemima sot by my side, ditto the picknick basket, and I was happy. In a transport, Jemima clasped her hand upon her bussum, rolled up her ize and sez to me, "Joshua," sez she, "aint this sublime!" Then I said it was, likewise much. I've seen the dear girl do that moshun, above referred to, sinst, but it was for another reeson. The Come-it is a small steemer, not larger than sum ferry botes I've see. But "she wolked the water like a thing or life," as Byron sez, till she cum to the end ov the north peer. When she began to cross the laik Jemima was sot by me and the picknick baskit. Sez I, "Jemima, I shall take a snack," sez she "Joshua, I don't care if I dew tew." We opened the basket. Jemima and I "breakfusted on shipboard." We ait cold tung, cold slaw, cold sandwhich, ditto ham, ditto pickles, ditto cold betes. The betes was purpel, likewise was the cold kabbidge. These minuship will be so interest and giv a coler to the narrytive further on. This was our breakfust.

Just as I was putting a sasser back into the picknick basket, we was a few miles from shoar sailing dew East the steamer Elgin just in our wake, as the mait called it, (though our wake was to come, and did come a leetle after,) Jemima said, lookine back, "O see them gulls!" I sor the deks of the Elgin covered with Eolick Serryfines and the publick generally, and sez I, "Gulls in a horn, I don't see no gulls onto the Elgin.," Them words of Jemmima's was profettick. She allooded to the birds on the water, but there was a deeper meenin, which has since been explained. It was a prevantyment. I shall never forget them words, "See them gulls," for them was we and the Eolick Serryfines.

I left Jemima a few moments and smoked a cigar on the hurrican deck. I talked with the mait, and asked him, without no nonsense, had he brandy on borde, for I began to feel a little under the wether, a sensasyhun in my stummick; I thought it might be the cold slaw—retched man, it was the Lake.

I took a little brandy at the bar, and then went back to Jemima, but I didn't begin to feel quite well. The swete maid was asleep. I was alarmed. I said to a gentleman near by at hand, sez I—a little alarmingly, for I could not concele my emoshun—sez I, "Have you seen a sweet angle in lavunder silk throw herself overborde?" Then, sez he, with a snigger, "I seen her you deskribe, throw something overboard, and then go into the staitroom. She isn't well, I guess." My sensashuns began to be more than peculiar. Sez I to myself, sorto vocy, sez I, "here's a case for the crowner; let an inkest be sot on to a duv-colored young man, likewise his lavunder-colored sweetheart, directly, fur we're jizened. It must have been in the sandwich or the cold slaw."

I felt wus.

There was a swelling sensation under my westcut, and a sense of goneness nigh by the pit of my stomach. Sez I, slowd and in agony, "Jemima, let me di by thy side." Then sez Jemima, onseen, in a feint voice, cut sum all to go through a little winder, with a little caliker curtain, sez she, "Oh, Joshua, I shall di." Sez I, with much emoshun increasing in my bosom, "So shall I, and

"Ever my luv with thee,
One tombstun us cover."

I rushed into the staeroom and saw Jemima bowed in one corner. Sez I, solemn, "Jemima, I have done; for our last hour together let us pass it on our nees." I supposed she was at her devoshun. I knelt beside her; my horrified gaiz met a pail—and ye mingled our emoshuns, likewise breakfast, together inter that pail. Sez I, faintly, "Jemima, what was it? was it in the mustard?"

Sez she, grasping, "No, Joshua, it is see sick."

Retched fool I was, not to see it before. My eyes was opened. The Come it was dancing like an eg-shel. I went onto the decks; they were cuvvered with the dying. They sed they was "dyin." I supposed I was. Our Salina Jane was at the forrid gunnel—she was in the last agonys; ditto most of the crowd.

My pen shrinks from depicting the scenes that followed. For hours we were kept prostrate on the pinnakel of anguish. Seeh groones, each extremities I never saw before. They lay all about the decks. Silk gouns, seven to ten shillings a yard, was no account. Jemima ate purpel cabbidge and bete for "breakfust on ship-bored," as we called it. My duv-culierd soot will carry it to its grave the stains of the same cullers. I do not particularedyes. Her hed was on my shoulder. It was not an hour to think of clothes.

But, Mr. Editur, all the abuv sinks inter insignifikans wen I recall the feerful scines of the hour of return. The intervie at St. Jo. was passed in eetin peeches, walking in the sand and dredding the comin bak. Some were carried shivering with agony up the gangways onto the botes, and thair the scenes began afresh again onct more.

For serving hours we buffeted the waivs. Some tried to die. I never realized before the tenacity of life under advers succumstances. If there was any peeches et in St. Jo., none of 'em cum to this part. The fishes twirt hear and St. Jo., have what fishermen call "ground bate" ad libbynsk.

Jemima was taken home in my arms in a bak, her lavunder and my duv-cullered sute's are's right to be hold, moreover her bonnet. We still lur music and peaches, but seeke and peaches is not we both shuns. The Eolic Serryfine are much of our mind. Howwise the general publick.

Ytres, JOSHUA JENKINS.

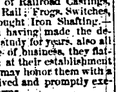
M. W. BALDWIN & Co., Engineers,



Broad and Hamilton streets, Philadelphia, Pa., would call the attention of Railroad Managers and those interested in Railroad Property, to their system of Locomotive Engines, in which they are adapted to the particular business for which they are designed, by the use of one, two, three or four pair of driving wheels; and the use of the whole, or so much of the weight as may be desirable for adhesion; and by accommodating them to the grades, curves and strength of superstruction, and rail, and work to be done. By these means the maximum useful effect of the power is secured with the least expense for attendance, cost of fuel, and repairs to Road and Engine. With these objects in view, and as the result of twenty-three years practical experience in the business by our senior partner, we manufacture five different kinds of Engines, and several classes of sizes of each kind. Particular attention paid to the strength of the working parts, and workmanship of all the details. Our long experience and opportunities of obtaining information, enables us to offer these engines with the assurance that in efficiency, economy and durability, they will compare favorably with those of any other kind in use. We also furnish to order, wheels, axles, bowling or low moor tire (to fit centres without boring), composition castings for bearings of every description of Copper, Steel, Iron and Bolter Works; and every article appertaining to the repair or renewal of Locomotive Engines. TO COAL OPERATORS.

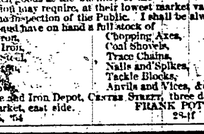
GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COAL SCREENS.

The undersigned are now prepared to manufacture at their shops, in Minersville, all kinds of SCREENS for screening Coal, of the improved manufacture, patented to Jonas Laubenstein, 4th February, 1862.



Screens manufactured by this process, are more durable, maintain their form better, and are furnished as cheap as any to be had in the County.

They are made of square iron, in such shape as to prevent the Coal sliding from one size to the other before it is thoroughly assorted, thus preparing it better than can be done by cast iron or wire screens.

The manufacturers urgently request all Operators wanting Screens, to examine those new patent Screens at their shop, or at work at the Mammoth Vein Colliery of George S. Repplier, near St. Clair, where they have been in use for some time.

By purchasing screens made under this Patent, litigation, or any trouble as to patent rights will be avoided. All work done with promptness and dispatch.

Obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the tar, by which its highest medicinal properties are retained.

It is the medicine that cures when all others have failed.

A GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION.

I am constantly receiving such certificates as the following. READ IT!

DR. WISHART—Dear Sir: I had a very dreadful cough and sore throat for one year, and my whole system was fast giving way, and I was prostrated on my bed with but little hope of recovering. My friends had tried the power of all medicines, and in a short time I must have gone to my grave, but thank God, my daughter-in-law took me to your store, No. 10 N. Second street, and related my case to you, purchased one bottle of your Pine Tree Tar Cordial; and I commenced to use it, and in one week I was much better, and after using three bottles I am perfectly well, a won der to all my friends, for they all pronounced me past cure. Publish my case if you think proper.

TAR CORDIAL,

AN INFALLIBLE CURE FOR BRONCHITIS.

Mr. Ward says:

DR. WISHART—Sir: I had Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, and Palpitation of the Heart, for three years. I had been treated by several of the most eminent physicians in Philadelphia, but they could not stop the rapid course of my disease, and I had despaired of ever being restored to health. I was truly on the verge of the grave. Your Pine Tree Tar Cordial was highly recommended to me by a friend. I tried it, and am thankful to say that, after using four large bottles, I was restored to perfect health. You can give reference to my house, No. 963 N. Second street, or at my office of Receiver of Taxes, from 9 A. M., to 2, P. M., corner of Chestnut and Sixth streets.
JOHN WARD.

BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS,
READ THE FOLLOWING:

MR. WISHART—Sir: I return you my grateful thanks for the discovery you have made in making a medicine that will cure Inflammation of the Lungs and Liver Complaint. When I commenced to use your Pine Tree Tar Cordial I was, to all appearances, near my grave. I had been for a length of time spitting blood, and would at times vomit it. My physicians (for I employed two) pronounced me past cure; but my sister had used your Pine Tree Tar Cordial, which did her such good that she prevailed on me, as a last resort, to try it; and thank God, I commenced to use it. I have taken twelve bottles, and am perfectly cured, and am ready and willing that any person may call on me, as a last resort, to try it and they should call on me, and I will tell them what your cordial has done for me.—All my friends and neighbors were utterly astonished at my speedy return to health, for they had been my constant companions for a period of 15 years, they have paid upwards of ONE MILLION, TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS for doctor bills, but I will say, in conclusion, that I shall be always found at the above place. Publish my case, for I want every person that is suffering as I was, to know of your invaluable medicine.
Respectfully,
CORNELIUS SEARS,
