The General Wayne and Columbus were both up for Detroif, and steam up ready for a start. Captain, clerks, mates and enginears were on the wharf electioneering and telling all sorts of lies about their own and the rival boat. Brundage headed off Capt. Pratt of the Wayne, who had in tow a squad of twenty-nine passengers, whose leader, bargainer and oracle, was a strong-minded woman of forty-five, who didn't quite like the "nasty, high pressin" steamboats, "what's allers blowing up besides scaldin' folks." "But my dear woman," said Brundage, "if you just step this way a minute, I'll convince you that the Columbus can't blow up. It's impossible." Brundage got the company to the gangway, and then brought out of the kitchen a bucket of water not much warmer than milk just from the cow. "There madam!" cried the exultant and truthful officer. "We never heat our water hotter than that. So, you see, we can't blow up; and if we should, don't you see the water ain't hot enough to hurt any body! We carry low steam we do!" The argument prevailed, and the Columbus got that lot of passengers. Upon another occasion, Brundage was at the canal packet landing, as the boat came in from Rochester, on Saturday evening, exercising all his eloquence to induce a company of very piously inclined travellers to take the Columbus, which was to leave Sunday morning. They objected to going on a Sunday boat, but still didn't like the expense of laying over in Buffalo till Monday morning. Brundage's explanation satisfied and decided

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "we don't do any Sunday work on the Columbus, only to get her out of Buffalo. You see we get up steam enough on Saturday night to last us all the way to Detroit, and then just as soon as we get past the lighthouse, we lash the wheel and let her jog along herself. She's been through so often, she knows the way just as well as any of us."

They went with him. HANS ENLISTS FOR A SOLDIER .- "Brick," of the La Crosse Democrat, is an inhuman joker, and lately witnessed a scene in Milwaukee, that we transfer to our columns. The reader must picture a stout, big-bellied, short-haired recruiting officer, with a blue cap, broad, stiff frontispiece, a short sword, a blue uniform, a size too small, and a raw customer from "faderland," with wooden shoes and long-tailed gray coat. The officer was after recruits for a German regiment, and thus went for his susceptible countryman: "Ho! dere, Hans! be dat you?"

"Yaw." "Come mit me to be a sojer man?"

"Nein!" "Yaw! Come! It be so nice." "Nein! I gets shoots!"

This article has for many years enjoyed a high reputation as a manure of great efficiency and of unequalled permanence, and we scarcely deem it important in our semi-annual advertisement to say more than merely call the attention of buyers to it. But we will also state to Farmers and Dealers in Fertilizers that it has been our constant aim to render our Raw-Roise Phosphare more and more worthy of the full conditions of our constant aim to render our Raw-Rone Phosphate more and more worthy of the full confidence of farmers, by the use of every facility at command, and the aid of scientific skill, in essentially improving its qualities, and we have never allowed this purpose to be interfered with by the great and steady advance in the cost of all matters pertaining to our business
throughout the past two years.
The Raw Bone Phosphate may be had of any regular dealer in Fertilizers (to whom we advise farmers to apply), or of the manufacturers and proprietors.

AN INTERESTING HISTORY DR. SCHENCE'S OWN CASE, While laboring under Consu And how his Pulmonic Syrup, Scawco Tonic and Mandrake Pills act on the System, in curing that

GREAT SUCCESS ATTENDING IT!

The above is a correct likeness of Dr. Schenck, taken many years ago, after he liad recovered from Consumption, by a course of his "Schenck's Pulmonio Strutt." The likeness, although it does not represent him anything like as bad as he was at the worst, yet it is in strong controst with the hale and vigorous looks of the Portrait below, which is the true likeness of him at the present time. The contrast between these two portraits is so great that many would not believe them to be the same person. Yet there are hundreds of persons in and around Philadelphia who will recognize both portraits to be true representations. When the first was taken he weighed 101 pounds; at the present time his weight is 220 pounds.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Thirty years ago I was in the last stages of Pulmonary Consumption, and given up to die. I resided in Philadelphia, and Dr. Joseph Parish, then of this city, ordered me to Moorestown, N. J., a distance of nine miles, which took me two days to get there. On my arrival I was put to bed, and there laid for many weeks. This was my native place, where all my family lived and had died of Consumption. Dr. Thornton, who attended my father in his last illness, was caffed, and gave me one week to fix up my inflairs. He had seen all my family go that way, and thought I was to go, too. Then I heard of the remedies I now offer to the public, which cured me. It seemed to me that I could feel them peaterming my whole system. neard of the remedies I now offer to the public, which cured me. It seemed to me that I could feel them peel etrating my whole system.

They soon ripened the matter on my lungs, and I would spit off more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pain, night weats—all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and I have been growing in flesh ever since. For many years I have enjoyed uninterrupted good health, keeping the liver and stomach healthy with the Scaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, as I am of a bilious temperament. My weight is two hundred and twenty pounds. On my recovery people would send for me, far and near, to see if their cases were like mine. For this purpose I pay professional visite in the large cities. The consumptive wish to see the one that makes these medicines, and who was cared of consumption by them. To make new lungs is impossible; but cavities in the lungs, and chronic ulcerations of the bronchist tubes can be healed. Such cases are dying hourly under the ordinary treatment of physicians, and just such are cured by the proper use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills niddle lobe of the right lung, the lower lobe very much hepatized and complete adhesion of the pleura. The left lung is sound, and the upper lobe of the right lung is in a tolerably healthy condition. The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much: they give medicines to stop the cough, to stop chill, to stop night sweats, heetic fever, and, by so doing, they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies. After I make a careful examination of the patient with the Respirometer, and find lungs cough left to cure. I direct the patient how to use the three remedies. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of consumption, liver complaint, dykepsia, catarrh, canker, electated threat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy. In New England this canker, chronic catarrh, ulcerated threat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy. In New England this canker, chronic catarrh, ulcerated threat, telongation of uvula, is more prevalent than in any other section of the country. This is frequently caused by a foul stomach. You may burn it out with caustic time and again, and all they will get is temporary relief. Correct the stomach and liver, and they will heal up themselves.

I am now a healthy man, with a large cavity in the trake rtis

Good nutrition is the remedy. If you have any disease in an spart of the body, it will remain there, and decay more and more, until you can get the stomach in the condition to digest food, and make new blood to take the place of diseased matter. This is the only way to heal cavities in the lungs and nlecrated bronchial tubes. Correct the stomach and liver, and nature will do the healing. Many persons have an idea that certain medicines are great pariflers of the blood. When-blood is once diseased it cannot be purified; it is diseased.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is one of the best preparations of iron in use, it is a powerful tonic in itself, and when the Seaweed Tonic dissolves the muce in the stomach, and f

This is sufficient, in many cases, to satisfy what the This is sufficient, in many cases, to satisfy what the mediclues are. Frequently one bottle makes a great change in the system. Any person that enjoys ordinary health, by using the Scaweed and Mandrake Pills occasionally, must get the digestive organs in such a healthy condition that they become theshy. I can produce a number of my old consumptive patients now enjoying good health, weighing nearly 200 pounds. I will conclude by relating three cures I have made in New York, and which are all different, and wish any one who feels any interest in the matter to visit them. First is Mrs. Farlow, residing then at 100 Houston street. Her husband called upon me at my rooms, 32 Bond street, and wished me to call and see her. He said I could do no good; that he had all the best medical attendance, and all said she was too far gone with Consumption to be cured; but she had heard of some great cares I had made, and he desired to gratify her wishes. I called, and found her lying confined to her bed in the last stage of bronchial consumption, and without doubt must have died soon. I examined her lungs, found both bronchial these very much affected, but no cavitles had formed the cough was very severe; the spit-box was hall full of bronchial consumption, and without doubt must have died soon. I examined her lungs, found both bronchial tubes very much affected, but no cavities had formed; her cough was yery severe; the spit-box, was half full of thick puss. Pulse 140, legs awollen very much; and worse than all, chronic diarrhea. Her bowels had been moved eleven times that day. I told her that she had lungs enough to be cured, but that this diarrhea had been of long standing, and her stomach was in such an allerated condition that I was afraid nothing could be done. She insisted I should try and do what I could for her, observing that she could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long, in the condition she was in, and I could not last long in the condition she was in any worse. I gave her first a dose of my Mandrake. Pills, and told for her, observing that the diarrhea was carried off, her appetite had returned, and she could sit up in bed and eat her dinner. She is now well, and gave me a long certificate, certified to by the Rev. Dr. Dowiling.

Mrs Bartholomew, Si West Forty-fifth street, came to my rooms with a tumor on her liver. She was low spirited, skin sailow, tongue coated, bowels costive, no appetite, and fast sinking into the grave. The said tumor, and the first she care to my rooms with a tumor on her liver. COMFORT OF ANIMALS.

The animal's comfort and the owners profit are two very different things. Most men do not seem to consider that in the "cier. nal fitness of things" it has been ordered that there should be a very close relation between some very different matters, and that the ani. mal's comfort and the owner's profit are very closely connected. The engraving which we present, exhibits a scene of most comfortable repose. The slock kine having filled them: selves in the meadow during the cooler pan of the day, are now in the enjoyment of the delightful shade and cool stream. There stand and chew the cud of contentment, and are worried neither by the heat nor by fear It is evident that the functions of deglution assimilation and secretion must go on with much more profitable results than if the con stood fighting flies in the hot, dry noontide estless and discontented. Think of the amount of power wasted in stamping and pawing dust in the hot sun, in swinging the onderous heads of a score of cattle from one side to another to beat off the flies, and in the many nervous steps and motions a herd of cows will make. Every one of these motions detracts from the amount of milk, or from the weight of the flesh of the animals. The worrying and the heat prevent the harmoni. ous exercise of the vital functions and there is really a considerable loss resulting daily to the farmer, be he feeder or dairyman. With neat cattle and other ruminants this is obviously true, for they must spend much time daily in chewing the cud. With horses, animals which do not ruminate; it is scarcely less the fact, for wherever there is good payturage, they spend a good part of the day at rest quietly digesting their food. A fruitful cause of the great decrease of milk in hot weather may be looked for in the discomfort of the cows. The abundance of grazing and of water early in the season secures an abundar flow of milk, and the drying of the pasture is accompanied by a decrease. The grass which grows in hot weather is more nutrition hipping \ ASTNI than the succulent growth of spring and early nthr summer, and it requires a less amount to us PACK isfy the animals. But even when the food supply continues, the state of the weather makes a great difference in the quantity OFFI bly decrease the amount, which will increase again when the weather changes. Much of this decrease is due to the discomfort atten ing heat and dust and the attacks of issects, for with cows in soiling-stables thereis CHA but little variation noticed. These cows are more comfortable, have plenty of food and drink, shade and company, and soon seems forget that they are deprived of liberty. Faltening animals which graze undisturbed in confined limits and have little to distract their attention, and no ability or temptation to take such exercise, do much better than those large herds which have considerable range, more or less fighting and bullying, and other causes which excite them, or at least distu he even tenor of their thoughts. It has been to attract its attention in any way, the quickóffi er and better it will fatten. Very much the same thing is true of all animals, though horses need light and exercise much more than neat stock, sheep or swine. As concerns animals at pasture whether feeding fo the shambles, yielding milk, or young grow ing stock, the principle is equally applies le.—American Agriculturist.
