"soul-darkness" and "heart-despondency" that youthful lovers breathe forth their yearnings in utterances like this. "Despair"—the very signature speaks unutterable woewries that—"a young lady has behaved very ill to me. I have kept company with her for two or three years; every one considered us engaged and besides she has often told me she loved me.

And vet has we were walking out together in she loved me.
And yet, as we were walking out together the other evening, she told me she thought our love was all nonsense, and that we had better give up all thoughts about it. Now, she has given me a great deal of encouragement in times past, and I think a great deal of her, and it seems to me it would kill me if I had to give her up." In the only light in which "Despair" could look at it, his situation was truly deplorable, but the unprejudieed giver of advice at once explains, that the young lady only meant to hint that the groung lady only meant to hint that the despairing lover had been altogether too slow, and that if he could go with her two or three years without making a marriage proposal after she had confessed that she loyed him, it was no wonder that she began to think that his love was all nonsense.

A "gushing" young man, whose ardent affections will undoubtedly hurry him into speedy matrimony, says: "There is a young lady whom I love with my whole soul, with a love amounting almost to idolatry. The only drawback is, she is so cold, and does not display that affection when we are alone, which I think would be characteristic of her the saturation of the falls.

August $7, 64.

A valuable FARM and pleasant country residence, withate in East Hanover Town, and the soft meaning about $5 Acres, About 7 acres with a love main the social one-half a mile West of Mt. Nebo, containing about $5 Acres, About 7 acres with a love was all nonsense.

A "gushing" young man, whose ardent affections will undoubtedly hurry him into speedy matrimony, says: "There is a young lady whom I love with my whole soul, with a naddition of other lately set out, on the premise. A Well, with Pump, is, at the house; also run-him alove amounting almost to idolatry. The only drawback is, she is so cold, and does not display that affection when we are alone, which I think would be characteristic of her the sate of the sate of the country residence, within the country res which I think would be characteristic of her

She asserts that she loves me as she never will love again, and says that her coldness is something which she, cannot help.—Do you not think that a little effort with practice would dispel these cool actions?" How different the disposition of this young man from that of "Lena," whose lover, she says, is engaged to five other young ladies besides herself, but is the soul of honor in everything else. She is willing to take her chance among the six expectant brides, and will be greatly triumphant if she can secure the prize. "Lena" would not be pleased with another of the writers, whose letter is chance among the six expectant brides, and will be greatly triumphant if she can secure the prize. "Lens" would not be pleased with another of the writers, whose letter is before us, who thinks that he was laughed at the other evening on making his first appearance in society, at a large and fashionable party. He says: "I knew very little of the customs and habits of such an aristocratic gathering. I have been laughed at a great deal since, but for what I cannot imagine; so I will tell you, as far as I remember. exso, I will tell you, as far as I remember, exactly what transpired during the evening, in the hope that your as a summer and the two-thirds in one and two yearly payments, with the hope that you can tell me 'where the

I entered the parlor, and was taken up and ingoduced to the lady of the house. Instead of just speakig one or two words and leaving, I remained a short time near her, when she I remained a short time near ner, when she quickly introduced me to a young lady by her side. Her introduction was made very quick, as if she wished to get rid of me. Well, I invited the young lady to dance the first dance with me, which she did. We then promenaded until the next dance, which I also invited large with me, which she did after her to dance with me, which she did, after which we commenced to promenade as before. I at last began to feel as if I were keeping her too long, as a great many in the room smiled everytime they saw us pass; yet keeping her too long, as a great many in the room smiled eyerytime they saw us pass; yet I was at loss to know what to do; when suddenly the lady of the house brought another young lady up; and introducing me; took number one away. By this time, I assure you, I felt so embarassed I could hardly thand, and after saying a few words to the young lady I feft her with her friends and ame assure a saying a few words to the young lady I feft her with her friends and ame home.

A great many young men on it's going into society don't know what to do with their hands but this mand and after saying a few words to great many young men on it's going into society don't know what to do with their hands but this mands and didn't know how to great many young great han either desired, but unable to drop her in a graceful manifer, he was compelled to remain until some kind person relieved the young lady and put him in additional embarrassment by placing another under his charge. Whether people were really laughing at him, as he says, may be very much doubted. 'I know they were talking of me, "says Snub in the play, "for they laughed consumedly." And many a young man when in company has shuddering consciousness that he was the object of the mirth, when even the fact of his previous of the community, and will only learn wisdom by the increase of years and an experience of their own weakness. Could it be any but a conceited puppy who would parade such a story as the following, and ask for advice upon it?

"Ohio says that as he was "going home with a girl from singting school not long since, she remarked, in reply to sin observation of his shet he thought that is was a resulendant. with a girl from singting school not long since, she remarked, in reply to an observation of his that he thought that is was a resplendant night, that she thought he was a resplendant.

misht, that she thought he was a resplendant goose. This remark, says Ohio, touched me very nearly, and I asked her for an explanation, which she peremptorly refused to vouchsafe, saying that she thought what she said so plain that it required no explanation; and explain she would not, did not, and to this day has not. Now, sir, what do you say to such conduct on her part? Would I not be warranted, under the circumstances, in discontinuing my visits to the young lady until such a time as she shall see fit to explain the remark as to my being a resplendant the remark as to my being a resplendant Advice upon etiquette and the minor mor-als is always pleasant to read, and though seldom followed; and as it should be rather for exceptional cases than to meet the common exigencies which all soon learn to encounter, we select a few of the most extraordinary. specimens of this species of counsel which we have noticed. Two ladies asked a gentleman the time; he, being busy, told them to take out his watch themselves, and look, and they inquired if it would not be improper in them to do so. "Certainly it would," is the reply. Some young lady must have felt much relieved at being told by our moralist that "a girl is under no obligation to answer letters addressed to her by strange men, whether they be in or out of the army. The young men who remain at home will be pleased with the assurance that the soldier boys cannot set up an indisputable claim to the attentions of all the young ladies in the "Seventeen is informed that she ought not to make advances, either in writing or otherwise, to any man whatever, even though it is leap-year. But the practice of advertising for lovers is now so prevalent that it is doubtful if she will heed the advice. The limitations upon the privilege of kissing are very ably discussed by several correspondents.

Nobody seems to uphold or defend the very promiscuous kissing which many practice, while one editor expressed the opinion that the left, should allow a rentleman to kiss "no lady should allow a gentleman to kiss her until after marriage." A rule so string-ent as that would find no favor with either sex, and after discussing the right of a young man to kiss a young lady whose affections he has engaged one correspondent puts the case in a practical way that few could answer his inquiries with truth and consistently advocate ever spend any time in the society of her who became your wife, before the day of marriage? If so, did you then hold the opinion that you now advocate? Did you ever take a sleighride on a pleasant night in a cutter only large enough for two, and have to pay close attention to keep the robes around some one?—Did you ever stroll through pleasant groves by moonlight, and find the restriction he opposes.

Glad News for the Unfortunate! | A" THE LONG SOUGHT FOR DICOVERED AT LAST.

ONE It is well known to the medical profession that IRON is the vital Principle or Life Element of the blood. This is derived chiefly from the food we est; but if the food is not properly disested, or if, from any cause whatever, the necessary quantity of iron is not taken into the circulation, or becomes reduced, the whole system suffers. The bad blood will irritate the heart, will clog up the lungs, will stupefy the brain, will obstruct the liver, and will send its disease producing elements to all parts of the system, and every one will suffer in whatever organ may be predisposed to disease.

CHEROKEE REMEDY CHEROKEE INJECTION Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves. CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, eares all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneya, Stone in the Bladder, Stream, Gravat, Glest, Gonorrhoza, and is especially respinied and in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in the Bladder, Uring Manager, Branched in the cold manager and predicting have females) where all the old nauseous medicines have billed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the does being from one to two teaspoonfuls three times per day.

It is directic and alterative in its action; purifying and eleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all its orticinal parity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKES INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the CHEROKES REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gonorrhoza, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing, and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack Injections.

By the use of the Cherokee Remedy and Cherokee Injection—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are specifly restored to full vigor and strength.

DR. WISHART'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL

IS THE VITAL PRINCIPLE OF THE PINE TREE,

middle lobe of the right lung, the lower lobe very much hepatized and complete adheston of the pleura. The left lung is sound, and the upper lobe of the right lung is in a tolerably healthy condition. The great reason why physicians do not cure crossumption is, they try to do too much: they give medicines to stop the cough, to stop chill, to stop night sweats, heetic fever, and, by so doing, they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies. After I make a careful examination of the patient with the Respirometer, and find lung enough left-to cure. I direct the patient how to use the three remedies. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of consumption, liver complaint, dyspepsia, catarrh, canker, ulcerated throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy. In New England this canker, chronic catarrh, ulcerated throat, clongation of uvula is more prevalent than in any other section of the country. This is frequently caused by a foul stomach. You may burn it out with caustic time and again, and all they will get is temporary relief. Correct the stomach and liver, and they will heal up themselves.

Good mutrition is the remedy. If you have any disease in any part of the body, it will remain there, and decay more and more, until you can get the stomach in the condition to digest food, and make new blood to take the place. of diseased matter. This is the only way to heal cavities in the lungs and ulcerated bronchial tubes. Correct the stomach and ilcer, and nature will do the healing. Many persons have an idea that certain medicines are great purifiers of the blood. When blood is once diseased it cannot be purified; it is diseased the same as the diseased matter in the system; but get the apparatus in order, the liver and stomach, but get the apparatus in order, the liver and stomach. HAVE YOU A COUGH? HAVE YOU SORE THEOAT? Have still and heavy, three inches will be a rou any of the premonitory

Those who should be warned by these symptoms genreally think lightly of them until it is too late. From this fact, perhaps more than any other, arises the sad prevalence and fatality of disease which sweeps to the grave at least one-sixth of Death's views.

What are its Symptoms?

It usually begins with a short, dry cough, which soon becomes habitual, but for some time nothing is raised except a property wheres. The breathing is somewhat bifuctur, and upon slight exercise much armans. A sense of trourness and oppression at the chest is often felt. As the disease advances the patisnt becomes thin in flesh, is afflicted with loss of appetite, great languor, indolence, and dejection of spirits; and may continue in this state for a considerable length of ime, that it is very readily affected by slight exposure or fatigne. If these occur, the cough becomes more troublesome, and is attended with expectoration, which is most copious and free early in the morning. It is sometimes streaked with blood. At this stage night-sweats usually set, my also occur. Pain in some part of the chest is felt, and often a difficulty of lying upon one or the other side, without severe fits of coughing or a sense of fullness or suffication, is experienced. The pulse becomes full, hard, and frequent, the heetie flush tinges the checks, and the dire malady is fast hastening to its close;

checks, and the dire malady is fast hastening to its close.

You now ask, "Is THERE A CURE?"

Consumption has been and can be cured by the use of my Tar. Commat, even in apparently hopeless cases.—

This assertion I make with the ability to present the most complete evidence of the truth. Space will not admit of my giving the contents of the many thousands of testimonials to its value, which I have been and am receiving from men and women of unquestionable worth and rejutation. I have had a number of these certificates printed in circular form, which I will send you free on application. Whether you now determine to try the medicine or not, send for the circular. After years of study and experiment, I offer this medicine, believing it to be the best remedy for all relaxonative homeomorala, bisassess. If you cannot be benefitted by the use of the Tar Connat. ease. Because I believe this to be the best, I ask you to try it.

Many, not only of the people, but physicians of every school and practice, are daily asking me, "What is the principle or cause of your success in the treatment of Pulmonary Consensurings." My answer is this:

The Invigoration of the digistive organs—the stranscribent of the debilitated system—the realistation and engineers of the blood, must expel from the system the corruption which Scrofuls breeds. While this is effected by the powerful alterative (changing from disease to health) properties of the Tar Cordial, its healing and renovating principle is also acting upon the irritated surfaces of the lungs and throat, penetrating to each diseased park, relieving pain, subduing inflammation, and restoring a healthful tendency. Let this two-fold power, the healing and the effectiving continue to act in conjunction with Nature's constant recuperative tendency, and the patient is awed, if he has not too long delayed a resort to the means of cure.
