

THE POPE'S ENCYCLICAL. The Roman Pontiff has succeeded in creating quite an excitement in the Catholic world, and in placing the Catholics of this country in a very awkward position. His Encyclical is also attracting general attention among those not members of that church, for as its States. This point conceded, he assured direct bearing is that Romanism is incompatible with Republican institutions, if this ence they would be treated with the utmost doctrine should be accepted by American liberality; but without that recognition the Catholics, we will have an eminently hostile element within the nation. It remains to be seen what reception this fulmination against human progress of the expiring Papal power, will experience at the hands of the Catholic press and people of America. We hope that they will repudiate doctrines fraught with Wednesday morning last. The fire broke infinite mischief to them and our institutions. If they do not, another "irrepressible conflict" exists between Free and Slave labor. The following review of the Pope's letter, is from The Independent of February 2: Picking a Bone with the Pope. Picking a Bone with the Pepe.

Already for a fortnight has the Pope's Encyclical been before the American people; and, as an encyclical presupposes a great circle, we presume it has by this time completed the circuit of the globe—leaving a streak of darkness round the earth. Of all the public papers of the present age, this manifesto is the most assounding and rititul—exhibiting the successor of St. Peter in the act, of suspending the rights of mankind, and dictating the stoppage of the world. By the common order of life and death men's bodies die and their souls yet live; but here is a patriarch whose body is alive in the nineteenth century, yet whose spirit is dead and sepalchered in the twelith.

teenth century, yet when the transfer in the twelfth.

The Encyclical, though European in origin, is American in application, inasmuch as, in addressing Catholics throughout the world, it addresses a considerable class of the American people. What, therefore, does it say themselves againt the new constitution as against a plague. The Roman Pontiff, if obeyed, will make American Cutholics traitors to their country—enemies plotting the overthrow of the laws. And this Encyclical is, therefore, a covert declaration of war against the American Republic.

Is this pressing our point too far? Not at all. Let.

Is this pressing our point too far? Not at all. Let.
Is quote other words from the letter. Its apostolic writer denounces the heresy that "Protestantism is another form of the same true religion in which it is possible to be equally pleasing to God as in the Catholic Church." Now we have no quarrel with the Pope for denying this doctrine; we expect every other Romanist to deny it. Our quarrel with the Pope, and with the followers of the Encyclical, is for denying that every man is rere to embrace and profess the religion he shall believe to be true." Now the Pope's argument is not, "The Catholic religion is the true one: In the Catholic religion is the true one, therefore let men be persuaded to adopt it." (which he could not be blamed for maintaining;) but he says, is "As the Catholic religion is the true one, therefore let men be persuaded to adopt it." This commands American Catholics to say to American Protestants. "You have too right to your Protestantism and we will force you to bend under the yoke of Rome." This, we repeat, is a pontifical declaration of war against the American people.

no right to your Protestantism. and we will fore you no right to your Protestantism. and we will fore you no right to your Protestantism. and we will fore your point of the constitution of war against the American people.

Catholics know that, in a Protestant country like ours, they are indebted for their own self-preservation to this very doctrine of religions joi-ration which the Pope names insanity? Or are off Catholic fellow-dilizens, while now in the minority, simply a captive the for the time being insanity and the protestant country instructions of the Pope, and to degrow the foundations of American religions, and therefore of civil, liberty? Is the Jope a garrulous old inan who has let out the secrets of the Nations before the ripe, time? If so, let the American people to entire years of the protestant in authority and interference. Is not this an exact description of our Common School System, and the find and the children of the people. Treed from all ecelestical authority and interference. Is not this answer the description of our Common School System, it is the foundations of our American people with the foundations of our American people with the foundations of our American people be on their grand-forwarded are arrow from his bow. He relist the Catholies of this count of the people with the public exprised to the country of the foundations of the Pope and the foundations of the Pope and the foundation is necessary to the people with the public proposed which they had the public provided they had been described to the foundation in the country of the people with the public exprised to the public and the public express of the public servers to the public express of the Cambination of the people with the public express of the public servers o

Church and state! May God keep them apart while the world stands! For, never yet have they come for the world stands! For, never yet have they come for the world stands! For, never yet have they come for the Church." How then with presidents: governors and senators? Are the Catholics of this country, having been thus instructed by their spiritual head, to demand of Abraham Lincoln, on his re-inauguration that he shall take an oath of allegiance to the Papal Sec? And if the state has no right to be independent of the church, if the rulers of the state are thus summoned by the Pope to kiss his toe, how soon are Amprican Catholics to insist on the execution of this behest? Are they already waiting for the bindling of an opportunity? Are they setting their trap in secret, to spring it in due time? The Pope's finger writes upon the forshead of every American Catholic the Inscription. "Alien and enemy to the United States."

The comprehensive lesson from the Encyclical is, that Romanism is incompatible with Republican institutions. Like slavery, it is a hostile element lodged within the nation, gnawing and burning it like a caustic. What is the remedy? If we are asked. "May not a man, under our American institutions, cherish the Catholic faith if he pleases?" we reply. "Certainly." But we ask in return, "Shall we permit the Index Expurgatorius? Shall we consent to the Inquisition? Shall we enfor the abolition of public schools? Shall we softer the abolition of public schools? Shall we consent of the inquisition of their error. They owe both supreme spiritual, and superme temporal, allegiance to the Papai Sec. A Bomanism under a Republican inquisided spiritual allegiance to the Chited States. But the Encyclical warms them of their error. They owe both supreme spiritual, and supreme temporal, allegiance to the Papai see, a Howait of the Catholic classes i as we supposed it would, in an utter failure of all attempt at negotiation. The President and Secretary Seward met Stephens, Hunter and Campbell, the rebel commission ers, at Fortress Monroe. The conference lasted four hours, and was friendly and good tempered throughout. The conversation was carried on mainly by the President and Mr. Hunter. The commissioners at the outset and throughout the conference, declared their entire lack of authority to make, receive or consider any proposition whatever, looking toward a close of the war, except on a basis of a recognition of the independence of the Confederate States as a preliminary condition. President Lincoln, on the other hand, informed them, at every point, that such recognition was utterly and totally out of the question; that the United States could stop the war and arrest even temporarily the movement of its armies, only on the condition precedent, that the authority of the National Government should be recognized and obeyed over the whole territory of the United them that upon every other matter of differwar must and would go on.
