THE 7-30S AND THE END OF THE WAR. The greatest war of modern history has ended in triumph. The country has demonstrated the vastness of its power. We knew it was great; now all the world knows it. Our neigh-bors across the water, who said our very greatgreat; now all the world knows it. Our heigh-bors across the water, who said our very great-ness was our weakness—that we should never hold together—that we must fall to pieces, and very small pieces at that—now take off their hats and beg to assure us of their "imost distinguish-ed consideration." Verily i. a young nation that can raise two millions of fighting men and two thousand millions of money, just for the ask-ing, is worthy of being "considered." They told us that we could not carry on the war six months without begging for loans in European markets. We did carry on such a war as they never dream-ed of, for your years, and never asked for a dol-lar; and they now wish to buy our bonds at an advance at fifty per cent, over last year's prices. Government, stocks are quoted as brisk and in demand, and well they may be, for the time 'will soon come when no more will be offered. The national expenses will soon be down to a peace fronting, and, instead of a Treasarr budget of nine hundred millions of soldiers who have so long made it a business to destroy life and property with a business to destroy life and property with the to mise the in peace than in war. The millions of soldiers who have so long made it a business to destroy life and property with turn to pursuits of industry, and the now exage d fields will whiten with new harvests. Under the first theory we could meet the difficulty of anffrige at once, by the power of the General Govern-ment, to define who should be enrilled to suffrage, since it would be impossible to contravene laws which had perished. Could we be satisfied of the correctness of this theory, the whole question could be disposed of in the various state organizations. Under the second theory we would be checked by the laws of the State, the affairs of which the General Gov-erment is supposed to be adminisfering as far as it can without infringement of the organic and statutory laws supposed to have survived the overthrow or usur-The semi-monthly statement of the Borough news of the State, the attains of which the General Gov-erment is supposed to be administering as far as it can without infringement of the organic and statutory have supposed to have survived the overthrow or neur-pation of the State Governments, and to be waiting, to be revived by loyal functionaries. In this view of the case, we must trist to the Convention when called to apply the remedy in the organic law, or to the people, after reorganization: to give to the colored man the right of suffrage so fairly woh and so justly deserved. — This to be limited, however, to the soldier and to those who could read and write. These are the great questions looming over the wide-spread decolation that surrounds them, and such seems to me enbstantially the way to dispose of them. As to suffrage for the colored freë man, he once had it in the South. If was taken from him, not because he was unworthy of it, but because his exercise of it rendered the slave saround him discontented, and en-dangered the slave fabric by its thure infidence. Dut now that sintery is destroyed, need men be afraid of the freedment? What do the people want? The jor-petuation of liberty by wholes me laws. What more icalous and watchin sentimels could it have than those who themeelves had come up from bointage, or learned of its borrors, with perhaps many exaggerations, from the traditions of hier fathers? What is the duty of the aution? What the interest of the Southern white man in this connection ? The elevation of the black. What stronger incentive could rou give him for commendable, effort han the protec-tion of equal laws, and the right to southing white man is popular to hold these views. It may be so, With me that there a soldier in all the land, remembering his es cape from dungeons and starvation in the South an the dasky companion of his stormy perils, who could deny the aid of his name and infinence to that compa-nion in his julgrimage, from chains and bondage to a home, freedom and happiness t adopted. REASONS WHY

Additional Particulars.

Those who have read the Herald will remember that Davis issued a proclamation at Danville, on his arrivial there. That proclamation was written by Benjania, on a rough. dusty table in the gloomy composing room of a country printing office. The table on which it was perided is now used by Mr. Hanaam to write his correspondence on to your paper. Mis. Davis preceded her husband until he crossed the North Carolina line, when she rejoined him. Just before Davis reached Greenshore be was almost surrounded by a detachment of Stoneman's cavalry, who might easily have caught him had they known who he was. After leaving Danville, Davis intended going thus become in the County of the most terrible character. Men are waylaid and killed bacause they are successful in obtaining contracts over higher bidders, and the gibbet has no fears to the murderers, for they never, caught or uncaught, reach it. —This is the condition of affairs that we beg law-adiding, respectable citizens of all parties — Democrats and Republicans — to unite in reforming. The peace and good order of the County; the preservation of life ar inquest on Thesday last morter examination of the body we der of the County; the preservation of life ar inquest on Thesday last morter examination of the body mere party triumph, and we hope that our people will so look at it and act. The movement cannot be commenced too soon; in fact every good citizen should at once resolve to mroll his name in the Reform Party of Schuylkill County. Partizans will of course, oppose the movement, and the Copperhend sheets of the County follow suit, but that should only prove the meressity of the work the greater and urge the people on: Fall in! fall, in! for, peace and order, and a decent rule in Schuylkill County.	a loaded grun For winney: The Winney: The Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 in loaded grun For winney: F B Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In los sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 In his sciences, and minister John R Banuan. 100;BS Langdon. 100 Received from St. Clair. 100 Acknuwledged before. 100 Acknuwledged before. 100 We lope books will be opened in all the disperived of and beartles, deprived of and beartles, deprived of and beartles, deprived of and beartles, where subscriptions.
