From the Philadelphia Eveniny Bulletin. THE BULLFROG OIL COMPAST. MR. EDITOR: -Are you interested in the stock of the Builfrog Oil Company? If you are, I have nothing more to say-of course I cannot expect you to print anything reflecting in the slightest way on that excellent and prosperous enterprise. But if you are not the unfortunate owner of shares, and can look at matters in a disinterested and purely editorial light, perhaps you would like to have the report of their, annual meeting. I know you want information on all points for your hundred thousand readers, and I take it for granted some of that enlightened body are stockholders in the "Bullfrog." The meeting was duly advertised-a proper custom and lucrative for the newspapers -and I expected to see a very large assembly. In fact, I wondered that Concert Hall had not been engaged instead of holding it in a little back office. There were however but few present; I think I counted eleven. Probably business engagements of a weighty character kept them away. I cannot suppose that indifference, or doubt as to the impose that indifference, or doubt as to the immensity of the interests at stake, had anything to do with it. By his side there was the middle aged man of business, who had a few hundreds over one day and did not know exactly how to invest in merchandise, but heard somebody say that Bullfrog was good, and therefore dipped in. Then there was the retired capitalist, who had secured his competence and was looking around for investments.

Bullfrog had a first-rate list of officers, highly respectable. The capital small and stock a strength of the capital small and stock.

I noticed one thing, however. There were none of the long-headed, knowing ones there, whose names had become synonymous with luck in oil investments. Not one. looked ominous. But perhaps they had such full confidence in the management that they knew it was unnecessary for them to be there. Everything would go on right with-

The appearance of the meeting was solemn look in my judgment. I thought that a had sign; appearances have great weight with me. If I see a company in tine spirits and apparently on good terms with themselves and everybody else, I am apt to think they have some teason for it; but if I see them gloomy and serious. I very much fear that their digestion is out of order, or they have some bad news. However, the meeting was organized by

I may mention here incidentally that the Bullfrog has passed all its dividends, and that the stock sells at present at rather less than half its first cost. The report commenced with a mild admission that the year on the whole, had not been prosperous. Everything had been done to develope the property that could be expected. The labors of the Directors had ceased here as far as developing was concerned, but they would cheerfully lease the right to bore to any parties willing to undertake it as their own expense. The stockholders might recommend it to their friends, or do it on their own account. It was all good boring territory, and probably would pay them in

An annoying accident had occurred which had curtailed the receipts of the company from the sale of oil. In anticipation of large production they had creeted a tank capable of holding several hundred barrels. This had been filled with the product of the wells composed mostly of salt water, but with some oil floating in it, estimated in the production of about one barrel in twenty, and the directors had looked to the sale of this for the funds to carry on the works. Unfortunately the engineer, who was one of the heat in the region, and a highly capable and reliable man, had allowed the cock of the tank to remain open one night, and all the contents had run out. No blame was attached to him as he was probably asleep. The report closed with a deprecatory hint against holding the

Would call the attention of Railroad Managers, and those interested in Railroad Managers, and those interested in Railroad Property, to their system of Locomotive Engines, in which they are adapted to the particular business for which they may be required; by the use of one, two, three or four pair of driving wheels; and the use of the whole or so much of the weight as may be desirable for adhesion; and in accommodating them to the grades curves, strength of superstruction, and rail and work to be done. By these means the maximum useful effect of the power is secured with the least expense for attendance, cost of Inel, and repairs to Road and Engine. With these objects in view, and as the result of eventy-three years practical experience in the business by oursenfor partner, we manufacture five different kinds of Engines, and several classes of sizes of each kind.—Particular attention paid to the strength of the machine in the plan and workmanship of all the details. Our long experience and opportunities of obtaining information, combles us to offer these engines with the assurance that in efficiency, comony and durability, they will compare favorably with those of any other kind in use. We also furnish to order, wheels, axles bowling of low moor tire to file entres without boring, composition castings for bearings of every description of Copper, Sheet from and Boiler Work; and every article appertaining to the repair or renewal of Locomo tive Engines.

JET BLACK AT FIRST. This Ink, unlike all others, contains no acids, and therefore will not corrode steel pens; one pen will last longer than a dozen in any other ink. It flows treely, leaves no sediment in the bottle, and is not injured in the least by freezing. It cannot be washed from paper, either by botter cold water, and no exposure to heat will change the color. These qualities make it invaluable for books and papers contained in safes in case of fire. It is undoubtedly, the best writing fluid ever invented.

The process of manufacturing this invaluable article is known only by the inventors, and we therefore cau-tion all against infitations. Ask for Wells Petroleim Writing Fluid, and see that the full name of LOUIS WELLS & CO. is on the lable. By so doing you will be sure of getting a bottle of Perfect Ink. N. From the American Agricultur NOTES AND SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOTTE.

Hoove.-Watch all animals that feed of red clover, and prevent the dangerous disessa which comes from over-feeding. RYE. - Spring rye, two bushels per acre may be sowed during this month, to be for horse-feed before early frosts. PEAS:-Sow a part of an acre the last of the month for seed. If sowed soon enough to mature before early frost, they will be free from bugs. OATS .- Now off Canada thistles, and an other weeds that appear above the oats. This so checks their growth that they jojure the crop but little. POULTRY. -To gratify the secretiveness of hens, make nests where they can not be seen by other fowls, when they are laying or sitting. If nests be too deep, eggs will rest on each other, which should never occur-Roors.—Examine roofs of out-buildings when it rains. Leasy places will usually be found where a shingle has been split over a joint of the nex course below. In such a case another shingle may be driven beneath the split one.

POULTHY, - Feed well; let them out of the before sunset daily; supply them with a box of sharp gravel, where there is none in the soil. Whole grain should be soaked at least twenty hours for them; and if ground, it will go much farther. ROTATION OF CROPS.—Raise crops that are best adapted to the soil, ra her than attempt to adapt the soil to the crops. Every farmer should adopt some kind of a rotation if he has not already done so, fundamental principles of scientific agriculture. MILLET.-Where the soil is moderately. fertile, sow millet at any time previous to the 25th of the month in our latitude. From 8 to 12 quarts per acre is sufficient unless the seed be large. Millet grows rapidly in mellow soil and bears drouth well. IMPLEMENTS. - During rainy and leisure lays examine mowers and reapers to see if they are in good running order. Take them apart : remove gum and dirt from the journals and boxes; oil afresh, and serew up all nut and tighten loose rivets. The efficiency of tools and implements depends almost altogether on their condition. RUTA BAGAS. - Do not fail to raise a few square rods of them for stock winter. Pulverise the soil thoroughly, manure it well, and sow the seed in drills two feet ap ir , as soon as the ground is, dry enough to work after a good showe t'en a crust f earth MANURE.—Prepare compost for winter grain and top dressing for grass land. Collect barnyard manure into covered quarters, or SOFFICES protect as much as practicable from alternat rain and sunshine. Barn-yard manure should be forked over to the facilitate rotting; and where it is so doen as to fire fring water where it is so deep as to fire-frang, water or liquid from some part of the yard, pumped upon it. Oxes.—Feed workers a few quarts every Green day, whether they labor or not, as it will give them strength, make them endure the heat better and increased their market value more than the worth of the meal. Never-Mrs. Frost purposes to keep on hand a variety o VEGETABLES. FLOWERS, FISH, &c. She feels grateful to her friends for their former patronage, and hopes that it may be continued, by giving her an early call. [April 9, 64, —15. with which they cannot strike a hard blow. When said only occasional, they consume too much for their health. Protect from cold storms for Sohn some weeks after shearing. Apply a little pine tar to their noses to repel the fly. Senarate bucks from ewes, or fetter their fore less about five or six inches apart, that they may be impotent to harm. Designate the age and character of each sheep by significant marks on the rumps or shoulders. A figure (1, 2or Steam between N. York and Liver- 3, etc.) on the shoulder may signify a cwe

Keep them in moderate - CU ly close quarters, as when running about is large enclosures, they will expend a grest 4. deceded of material, without adding proportion ately to their growth. There is nothing better than milk, out and barley meal and wheat flour unbolted, to make pigs grow. It is somtimes more economical to feed wheat flour than out meal to pigs. Where pigs an chiefly valuable as manure makers, see that to work over.

Recipes. CALVES' HEAD Sour .- Boil the head dut meat from the bones and cut it in small the me it with a teaspoonful of cloves, two pounded nutinets, a little black pepper, and as much red pepper as will lay on a five-cent piece. Add a piece of butter the size of a egg, and one pint of browned flour, rubbe up in cold water. Boil all together for big an hour, then add two chopped eggs: Ag whole head, liver and lights make about three gallons of soup. The liver should only be half an hour. A skinned head, with the bones of a leg of yeal will make about a much. This soup, if well made, cannot be surpassed; but any soup poorly made.

which there is so much-is the least palatabe of all dishes. COOL WATER. -At this season of the year cool draught of water is a luxury which may enjoy with a little care. By the tollow may be kept almost as cold as ice. Let the jar, pitcher, or vessel used for water, be surrounded with one or more folds of coarse col ion, to be constantly wet; the evaporation the water will carry off the heat from the it side, and reduce it to a low temperature-In India and other tropical countries where ice cannot be procured, this expedient? common. Let every mechanic and labore have at the lace of his work two pitches thus provided, and with lids or covers, 192 to contain fresh water for the evaporation and he can always have a supply of cold * Informs the Ladles of Schuykill County that he has established the Manufacture of HOOP SKRITS and CORSETS; embracing all the latest New York and Paris styles also a style altogother new, which is worthy the attention of Ladles, all of which will be sold at the lowest prices.
