the minister taking some of the links home to his family. He objected, on account of his not having his portmanteau along. The objection was soon over-ruled, and the old lady after wrapping them in a rag, carefully placed a bundle in each pocket of the preacher's capacious coat. Thus equipped he started for the funeral.

While attending the solemn ceremonies at the grave some hungry dogs scented the sausages and were not long in tracking them to the good man's overceat. Of course this was a great annoyance, and he was several times under the necessity of kicking the whelps away. The obsequies of the grave complete, the minister and congregation repaired to the church were the tuneral discourse was to be preached. After the sermon was finished, the minister halted to make some remarks to the congregation, when a brother, who wished to have an appointment given out, ascended the pulpit, and gave the minister's coat a hitch to gain his attention. Scrofula depresses the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims far more subject to disease and its fatal results than are healthy constitutions. Hence i tends to shorten, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human life. The vast importance of these considerations has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it is composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best of Sarsaparilla in alterative power. By its aid you may protect yourself from the suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood, purge out the causes of disease, and vigorous health will follow. Would call the attention of Railroad Managers, and those interested in Railroad Froad Property, to their system of Locor motive Enginea, in which they are adaptive to the particular business for which they may be required; by the use of one, two, three or four pair of driving wheels; and the use of the whole, or so much of the weight as may be desirable for adhesion; and in accommodating them to the grades, curves, strength of superstruction, and rail and work to be done. By these means the maximum useful effect of the power is secured with the least expense for attendance, cost of fuel, and repairs to Road and Engine.
With these objects in view, and as the result of twenty three years practical experience in the business by oursenior partner, we manufacture five different kinds of Engines, and several classes of sizes of each kind.
Particular attention paid to the strength of the machine in the plan and workmanship of all the details.
Our long experience and opportunities of obtaining information, enables us to offer these engines with the assurance that in efficiency, economy and durability, they will compare favorably with those of any other kind in, use. We also furnish to order, wheels, axles, bowling or low moor tire (to fit centres without boring,) composition castings for bearings of every description of Copper, Sheet Iron and Boller Works; and every article appertaining to the repair or renewal of Locomotive Engines.

Still Another Important Use for WELLS' PETROLEUM WRITING FLUID. JET BLACK AT FIRST. This Ink, unlike all others, contains no acids, and therefore will not corrode steel pens: one pen will last longer than a dozen in any other ink. It flows treely, leaves no sediment in the bottle, and is not injured in the least by freezing. It cannot be washed from paper either by hot or cold water, and no exposure to heat will change the color. These qualities make it invaluable for books and papers contained in safes in case of fire. It is undoubtedly, the best writing fluid ever invented.

The process of manufacturing this invaluable article is known only by the inventors, and we therefore caution all against imitations. Ask for Wellis' Petrolenm Writing Fluid, and see that the full name of LOUIS WELLS & CO., is on the lable. By so doing you will be sure of getting a bottle of Perfect ink.

N. B. The Petrolenm used is perfectly deodorized, and therefore the ink has no disagreeable odor.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

So general has the use of this remedy become, and so popular is it everywhere, that it is unnecessary to recount its virtues. Its works speak for it, and find utterance in the abundant and voluntary testimony of the many who, from long suffering and settled disease, have by its use been restored to pristine vigor and health.

We can present a mass of evidence in proof of our assertions, that IOTES AND SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HONTH. Banns.—Clean out thoroughly during rainy veather. Begin at the top and sweep down all spider webs, chaff and mouse litter from the beams and girders. Turn over losse boards on the ground floors, and brush out wire-worms, sowbugs, centipedes, and all other insects that exist there and in cracks Where there are large cracks in the upper sides of beams, till them with coal tar, and then scatter clean sand over them, so that it will settle into the tar. This preserves the timber and also repels insects. BARLEY.—Cut before it is dead ripe, and cure with care, as the grain will be heavier and brighter, and command a greater price in market: and the straw will furnish a great amount of fodder. When hay caps are not used on the barley shocks, to protect them from rain, the long straight bunches of straw should be placed carefully all over the tops of the shocks to turn the water as much as possible, and save the grain.

BEARS. - Field beans may be planted as late as the middle of this month, where early potatoes have been dug, or where Indian com has failed. BUCKWEEAT. -Sow as soon as the middle of the month in this latitude. Where there is danger of early frost, put in the seed soon. er. Do not sow more than one bushel per scre. Twenty-four quarts of good seed is sufficient. Buckwheat may be sown after barley, in many localities, and ripen before frost. Sow the seed very evenly, and roll the ground where there are any small stones or clods, in order to have a smooth surface on which to harvest the grain. BUTTER. -See that milk pails and pans are thoroughly scalded; that those who milk have clean hands; that the milk is kept in a cool and airy place; that the cream is skim. med off at the right time; that churning is done often; that clean salt is used, and that the butter is well worked and neatly packed in inodorous vessels.

CABBAGES. - Where the ground is rich, nice heads may be raised before winter from plants set any time in July, if they are kept well hoed. CORM.—Keep the horse-hoes and cultivators in motion among the growing corn. Use a short whiffle-tree when the stalks are so large as to break off easily. Straighten up all hills that are not disposed to grow erect. Hot weather is the best time to work among growing corn. Better pull than to cut large weeds; Indian corn does not need root pruning. Calvus. - See that they have a good supply of clean fresh water, during the hot weather. Let them have access also to and water. It often stunts them so that CLOVER.-Where clover has got the start of stock in pastures, it is better to mow it off and let a new crop grow, than to let it go to seed, as animals do not relish it when it is old and tough. Dramme.-Look out for, and give early orders for good tiles. Round or pipe tiles are best, if well made and burned. Never use soft ones. A well burnt tile ought to ring like a bell when struck, and a soft one will not unfrequently be crushed by the weight of earth settling over it. EXPERIENCE OF AN OLD POULTBREE. -From a letter of Mr. Edward Holmes, of Greenland. Rockingham county, New Hampshire, we extract the following information: "The Brahma Pootta fowls are large and gross if well fed; they grow quick and lay soon. For marketing purposes they are as good as any, excepting the white Dorkins. These have no superior, but are not so heavy as the Brahmas. For laying and market the white Dorkins are the very best fowls I ever kept; profit. I have kept them fourteen years, and sold the last this fall. I have ordered a pair from England, but shall have none to sell until a year from next fall. The pair I imnort will cost twelve dollars. I have also two black Spanish hens which I imported last year from Liverpool. I unfortunately lost the rooster. I will have to import another one, which will cost me six dol-

The white-faced black Spanish fowls are the most beautiful birds; I have kept them for nine years. The hen will lay from 120 to 240 eggs annually, at an average; I have very seldom seen them desire to set. I have mixed them with Creepers and Bantams, both of which I keep. They make the very best of mothers; they will hatch any kind of eggs, and raise nine out of every ten chickens. They are almost sure to hatch all their

With respect to setting, my experience is that Brahma Pootras are too heavy; they kill their chickens by trampling and squeezing them. I never raised more than one half of those that were hatched. If will be found by experience that one cannot breed in the same family more than three or four years without changing roosout of the same family. If the poultry begins CURRANT WINE. One quart of current juice, two quarts of water, three pounds of crushed sugar, and to each gallon of the mixture add one gill of pure brandy. Place a cask upon its side with the bung up, and fill it entirely. It will require replenishing, as it wastes by fermentation, and the cask should always be kept full. BREAD.-One pint mashed potatoes, one teaspoonful salt, and one of sugar. (The potatoes should be much wetter than for the able.) Add one teacupful of you home or baker's, but not a bit of flour. Keep this very warm till light. Use this to mix the bread, and mix so that it will just not stick. Let it rise very light, then mould into tins; keep very warm till light again, and bake in a moderately warm oven. I have made good bread in this way from flour not fit to eat without the potatoes.

RASPBERRY VINEGAR.—Take three or four quarts of raspberries, put them into a stone crock and cover them with vinegar. Let them stand twenty-four hours. Then strain this juice through a jelly-bag and pour it on to fresh berries, letting this stand another day. Repeat this process until you have the A Finkle & Lyon Sewing Machine for sale at the Bookstore of the subscriber.
