Buffle at the same time.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent for Schuylkill County, of the Florence Sewing Machine Company, Manufacturers of the celebrated heversible Feed Sewing Machines.

The following advantages over any and all Sewing Machines, are claimed for the "Florence".

It makes four different stitches, the lock, knot, double-lock and double-knot, on one and the same mable-lock and double-knot, on one and the same ma-chine. Each stitch being alike on both sides of the ibric.

1t has the reversible feed motion, which enables the operator, by simply turning a thumb screw, to have the work run either to the right or left, to stay any part of the same, or fasten the ends of the seams, without turn-Changing the length of the stitch, and from one kind of stitch to another, can readily be done while the ma-hine is in motion.

Every stitch is perfect in itself, making the seam se-It is almost noiseless, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

Its motions are all positive: there are no springs to get out of order, and its simplicity enables the most inexperienced to operate it.

It will not oil the dress of the operator, as all the machinery is on the top of the table.

It is the most rapid sewer in the world; making five strickes to each revolution.

Its strict is the wonder of all, because of its combined obsticity stream and panty. It stites is the wonder of all, because of its combined elasticity, streigth and beauty.

It does the heaviest or finest work with equal facility, without change of tension or machinery.

Every Machine has one of Jenck's patent hemmers attached, (the right to use which we control,) enabling the operator to turn any width of hem desired.

The public is respectfully invited to examine these Machines at the store of the undersigned, Centre street, Portwills where full particulars will be diver-Pottsville, where full particulars will be given.

Still Another Important Use for WELLS' PETROLEUM WRITING FLUID. JET BLACK AT FIRST. This Ink, unlike all others, contains no acids, and therefore will not corrode steel pens; one pen will last longer than a dozen in any other ink. It flows freely, leaves no ecdiment in the bottle, and is not injured in the least by freezing. It cannot be washed from paper either by hot or cold water, and no exposure to heat will change the color. These qualities make it invaluable for books and papers contained in safes in case of fire. It is undoubtedly, the best writing fluid ever invented. received.

The process of manufacturing this invaluable article is known only by the inventors, and we therefore caution all against imitations. Ask for Wells' Petroleum Writing Fluid, and see that the full name of LOUIS WELLS & CO., is on the lable. By so, doing you will be sure of getting a bottle of Perfect Ink.

N. B.—The Petroleum used is perfectly deodorized, and therefore the ink has no disagreeable odor.

Manufactured solely by the inventors.

Would call the attention of Railroad

Managers, and those interested in Rail Would call the attention of Railroad Managers, and those interested in Rail-road Property, to their system of Locomotive Engines, in which they are adapted to the particular business for which they may be required; by the use of one, two, three or four pair of driving wheels; and the use of the whole, or so much of the weight as may be desirable for adhesion; and in accommodating, them to the grades, curves, strength of superstruction, and rail and work to be done. By these means the maximum useful effect of the power is secured with the least expense for attendance, cost of fuel, and repairs to Road and Engine. With these objects in view, and as the result of twenty-three years practical experience in the business by our endourement of the manufacture five different kinds of Engines, and several classes of sizes of each kind.—Particular attention paid to the strength of the machine in the plan and workmanship of all the details. Our long experience and opportunities of obtaining information, enables us to offer these engines with the assurance that in efficiency, economy and durability, they will compare favorably with those of any other kind in use. We also furnish to order, wheels, axles, bowling or low moor tire (to fit centres without boring,) composition castings for bearings of every description of Copper, Sheet Iron and Boller Worka: and every article appertaining to the repair or renewal of Locomotive Engines.

The Farmer.

SEGGESTIONS ABOUT SUMMER FALLOWS.

A few years ago, most farmers in our wheat growing regions, thought that in order to raise a good crop of winter wheat, the ground was plowed usually about the first of June and then harrowed and plowed alternately until September. In some instances, it was plowed six, but usually three times; and must be well summer fallowed: The ground

hose who did so, fancied that they received amply remuneration in an increased among of grain for every additional plowing. Bo, when the ground was broken up late in June or the former part of July, and plowed only twice, as a small number of cultivators were accustomed to do, the work was pronounced as "only half done;" and the difference beween the crops where the soil was plowed five or six times and only twice, would often ustify such a remark. Thus it will be per. eived, that the soil yielded only one crop in two years, or as it was then termed "two crops in three years," as oats, or Indian com followed by wheat, and then a summer is ow, or grass, In some instances, three crops of winter wheat were raised in succession. Only a limited quantity of manure of a very inferior quality was made, summer fallowing eemed to be essential to the wheat crop. There was not that demand for pork beefand mutton that now exists. Consequently, only a small portion of the coarse grain of the farm furnished any fertilizing matter by making manure while fattening stock. The great bulk of the manure was of a strawy character, and only increased the already too large growth of straw. There was but little grainproducing material in it. The good effects of summer fallowing began to fail. The straw was often large enough to yield forty or fifty bushels of excellent wheat per acre; while there would sometimes be not more than tea or twelve. Every year the heads were grow ing lighter and shorter, and the kernels small. er and smaller. Consequently those who were accustomed to rely upon the wheatfer their revenue, were in a grievous dilemma.-This was clean farming, but low culture; while scientific, progressive agriculture requires high cultivation and fertilization in close connection with clean farming. This is the certain tendency of snmmer fallowing. It is good for wheat, temporarily; but baj for the farm, and worse still for the farmer. permanently. Summer fallowing in the way alluded to, will produce a greater yield of wheat, for a year or two, than any other system of management; but at the same time, the productiveness of the soil will be impured in a greater degree than by some other sysem of management, which will always keep the soil good, and at the same time, produce emunerating crops from year to year.

HOW TO CULTIVATE HOLD CROPS. The aim should always be to dig or tear ip as much grass and weeds as possible, and pulverize and stir all the soil between the rows at least two or three inches deep. In orler to do this effectually, the teeth of the cultivator should be adjusted to run between the rows in the narrowest places, without disturbing the growing plants. The handles of the cultivator should extend back of it sufficiently far to enable the man holding it to see distinctly whether the last tooth, as it passes the hills, does not cover or cut them up. Thus he may run the implement to . closely to every hill along one row, that very tittle labor will be required with hand how. When he returns between the same rows, the cultivator should be run so close as prac-

It is essential in using any kind of a cultivator, that the horse be well guided. If he go in the right place, it will be easy to hold , the cultivator so as to perform the work well, but otherwise the work will be done in such a manner, as to require much hand hoeing. Where the ground is not strong or lumpy, if a man be a good driver, he may run the rear teeth of a cultivator so closely to the rows of Indian corn, sorghum, broom corn. beans, etc., that mellow earth will be turned just up to the plants, completely covering all small weeds and grass. When cultivated in this manner, unless there are many large weeks. to cut up, two hands will do the hoeing well, as fast as one can run the cultivator. When the implement goes jumping and skipping along, while the horse is two or more feet from the proper place, it will require four or five faithful laborers to hoe as fast as one man can cultivate. In order to do this work well, the teeth should always be kept sharp and bright, so that the earth will slip from them freely. When the surface of the teeth s covered with much rust, they should be polished on the grindstone, and oiled to pre-

SALT FOR THE THROAT.—In these days. when diseases of the throat are fatal, we feel it a duty to say a word in behalf of a simple, and what has been with us a most effectual preventative, if not a positive cure of sore throat. For many years past, indeed we say during the whole of a life of over forty years, we have been subject to a sore throat, and and more particular to a dry hacking cough, which was not only distressing to ourselves, but to our friends and those with whom we were brought in business contact. Last full we were induced to try what virtue there was in common salt. We commenced by using it three times a day, morning, noon and night. We dissolved a large tablespoonful of common salt in about half of a tumbler full of cold water. With this we gargled the throat most thoroughly, just before meal time. winter, we were not only free from the usual coughs and colds, to which, as far as our memory extends, we have always been subject; but the dry, backing cough has entirely disappeared. We attribute it entirely to the salt gargle, and do most cordially recommend it to those of our renders who are subject to disease of the throat. Many persons who have never tried the salt gargle, have the impression that it is unpleasant. Such is not the case. On the contrary, it is pleasant, and after a few days. use, no one who loves a nice clean mouth,
