majority of them are kept exceedingly clean this cattle plague, as the discuse for want of a better name is now generally known, is not confined to the city. The London Times of a late date said that the malady had already extended to sixteen; or nearly one half of all-the counties in England. The origin of the disease is much disputed. Medical men generally believe it to be imported, and although they admit that it may be impossible to show by what importation it was introduced, they claim that it is as much a foreign disorder as the Asiatic Cholera or yellow fever, and that t belongs to Russia, Austria and to the Danube, whence large importations are made to England, to which it is believed the carlier cases can generally be traced. Others insist that the disorder arose in England, and hope that it will pass away of itself. The early part of the season was dry and hot, and the cattle lived on dry herbage; this was-succeeded by abundant rains and a luxuriant growth of grass, on which the cattle fed profusely, and this sudden change of season and of food it is insisted is the cause of the discase. Some even assert that the foreign cattle are more healthy than the native British, and are always purchased by those who are particular in selection, -as for instance by the bullocks, and by government. It is concluded from these facts that the disease originated among the closely-housed and-stall fed

But whatever the origin of the disorder the problem of stopping its progress has not yet been solved, in spite of all that scientific wisdom has suggested. Veterinary skill seeins to be nearly powerless, and the talk-is rather of staying the disease by destruction than by cure. Medical gentlemen who have made careful nquities whether any persons who have at-ended upon the diseased animals have been in any way affected, say that no single instance of the kind has come to their knowledge. But in relation to the effect which the milk and fiesh of diseased animals may have upon the health of those who consume, either through ignorance or otherwise; there are some facts stated which are most alarming -- Kittens fed upon the milk of a cow slightly diseased showed evidence of the disease in two days. The post mortem appearances of one that died "were those of typhus-general inflammation of intestines, stomach, brain, &c., the blood a bilious pus; red globules decomposed as though it had been subjected to strong fumes of hydrogen." It is stated in an article in one of the London papers, signed by a physician, that "a suspicious affection is daily manifesting itself amongst infants, particularly those between the ages of two and eight months. The symptoms are an neumonia, constipation or diarrhoea and petechiæ; indeed, all the exact characteristics arising from the generic poison devastating

U. S. NEWOOMER, Proprietor. This 'House'' having been closed for the past four years, has been re-opened in such style as will in every particular meet the wants of the public. The latest and most desirable improvements have been introduced in every department. Large and specious Halls, bean-tiful Parlors, Stiting Room, Private Busine's Room, and all the convenience's and requirements for first class trade. Chambers with mointerrupied ventilation, each handsomely, furnished with gold walnut : superior haf' mattrasses and Tacker's hir-role springs: Baths, Bars, Billinds, &c. Each have their respective de-partments furnished in good taste.' Large and conve-nient stabiling is connected with the house under the ownership of Messrs I. D. Brown and Jack Levette', whose names are sufficient to guarantee that no neg-let will be allowed in that department. In fact, nothing has been spared to make "The American" the House of Schuylkill Connty. The lesse having an experience of some filteen years in public business, during which time having been Proprietor of "The Union," Arch Street, Philadelphia, also 'Ephrata Mt.
