Becreens munifactured by this process, are more durable, maintain their form better, and are furnished as cheap as any to be had in the County.

They are made of square iron, in such shape as to prevent the Coal sliding from one size to the other before it is thoroughly assorted, thus preparing it better than can be done by cast iron or wire screens.

J. G. FRICK. (SUCCESSOR TO BROCK & SHOEMAKER,) WIRE COAL SCREENS,

SHALL THE WHITE TRAITOR VOTE "Occasional," the Washington correspondent of the Press, writes pointedly and strongly on this question. As the Copperheads are going to fight their campaign in Pennsylvania this year, on this question, assuming the offensive, it is well that the friends of Freedom and Justice should at once buckle on their armor, and with their wespons of truth, prepare to meet the foe. There are hot shot and shell in the following, for the enemies of justice to the loyal freemen of the country: "How quickly the test of truth disposes of hollow pretensions! During more than fifty years no American party ever attempted to make justification of human slavery its platform. Down to the period when ambitious men discovered that obedlence to the Southmen discovered that obedlence to the Southern leaders was a sure passport to political atrength, there was either an acquiesence in the evils of slavery, or an open and manly denunciation of them. With this record, it was reasonable to expect that, when the rebellion, hatched and hurried on by the proslavery leaders, flegan its career, a decent regard for the teachings of the early fathers of Democracy would impel the Democratic chiefs to plant themselves in opposition to the great conspiracy. But controlled by the great conspiracy. But controlled by they soon displayed an earnest sympathy with the enemies of the Republic; and from the lime they allowed Breckinridge to speak for them in the Senate, in 1861, have never moderated, much less abandoned their course. This wicked example had so completely captured them that no man in the Democratic ranks, captain or private, was permitted to enjoy the expression of his independent opinions against treason and traitors. All citizens of this character (you have hundreds of them in Pennsylvania) were instantly classed with the Abolitionists, and banish ed from the charmed circle of the party— Even in the fiercest trials of the conflict, this infatuated passion for slavery was not disguised. The position of the Democratic leaders on the universal suffrage question, therefore, in exact accordance with these pre-cedents. Like the old slavery tyrants, they therefore, in exact accordance with these precedents. Like the old slavery tyrants, they never had, and have not now, the slightest sympathy for the white or black loyalists of the South. Not a suggestion came from them to improve the condition or to alleviate the distress of either suffering side. Who has ever read in a "Democratic" paper one word of credit in a colored man who fought for the flag? Who ever heard a Democratic political suggest that the negro should be admitted to any of the rights resulting from his inswer themselves. However deplorable is the degradation of the colored masses in the South, however pitiable the ignorance of the proof white trash"—slike the result of the indifference and exclusiveness of the prosing the proof white trash"—slike the result of the indifference and exclusiveness of the prosing have placed in the highest interests of our race as plorable and pitiable that since these colored masses became free, since these white thousands have had to depend on themselves, nothing has been done for them, either of the indifference masters or by the Democratic.

their former masters or by the Democratic politicians of the free States. Look around, and confirm these assertions from your own local experience. Can you, therefore, won-der when such a burst of almost fiendish exishes one thought above that of love of country, it is harred of the traitors and their sympathizers. For a fresh proof, read the following extract from an address just issued by "The Soldiers' and Sailors' Union League," in this city, an organization composed of ome of the most intelligent young men I have ever met: have ever met:

"We must fight to keep before the people that treason is a crime;" that all men enguged in the rebel cause were traitors to their country, and forfeited their rights and privileges as citizens; that what they did in its support was damnable, diabolical wickedness, and should find no apologist; and that, while we grant them the boon of life, they shall not be restored to positions of honor and trust by any influence, we possess and this trust by any influence we possess, and this shall apply to all aiders and abettors of treason wherever they exist as ulcers upon the body politic. We must keep before the people, not boastfully nor arrogantly, but with dignified persistence, that we are the people that saved this country, and but for whom this fair fabric would have been crushed, and anarchy reigned supreme."

When these champions of liberty see and realize, as they must, and as most of them already do, that the politicians who are operating the state of the second seco posing the slightest concession of civil right, to the colored man, are equally earnest in demanding that the traitors, here so justly denounced, shall be reclothed with all their rights and admitted into high places of powers hey will laugh to scorn the new conspiracy of the Copperheads and the returned rebels As the campaign steadily progresses, auxili-ary events and arguments will come from the South. The Southern States will profit by the experiment in the District of Columbia. They will find, from the determined spirit of Congress, that they cannot re enter the national councils without such "irresistable guarantees" as will forever prevent another rebellion, and out of sheer necessity will con-fer suffrage upon the liberated millions, or provide for it by gradually colightening them. Bear in mind, flually, that, however this new issue may stagger weak minds, far greater troubles have been solved within the four years past and gone. The whole war for liberty was but the solution of a stupendous problem—one that had baffled and appalled the most acute and experienced philosophers Emancipation was not followed, as prophe sied, by riot and servile insurrection.

negro, said to be cowardly and lazy, not only fought, but worked; and we realized, in the midst of thousands of instances of white inmidst of thousands of instances of white in-gratitude and barbarity, that the former slaves have been constantly and thoroughly loyal. That, in the course of time, they must, under any Government or party, have been im-proved, and, by proper legislation, is one of those philosophical truths that no intelligent man will deny. It has fallen to our age and generation to meet the final issue—and the bill establishing "universal suffrage" in the District of Columbia is the example. The Copperheads demand votes and honors for the traitors. The Union party asks equal rights for those who have always been loyal.

We shall submit no argument on that point. The fact that we are the subjects of Govern-ment, and subject to taxation, subject to volunteer in the service of the country, sub-ject to being drafted, subject to bear the bur-dens of the State, makes it not improper that we should ask to share in the privileges of

The President replied in effect, we regret extremely, that in consequence of its length, we cannot give the response in full—that while he was a friend of the colored man, he did not want to adopt a policy that he be-lieved, would end in a contest of the races, which if persisted in will result in the exter mination of one or the other. After speaking of his belief that enmity existed between the freedman and the white of the South who was a non-slaveholder before the war, the President said: Now, we are talking about where we are to begin. We have got at the hate that existed between the two races. The query comes up whether these two races, situated as they were before, without preparation, without time for passion and excitement to be appeased, and without time for the slight-est improvement, whether the one should be turned loose upon the other, and be thrown together at the ballot-box, with this enmity and hate existing between them. The query comes up, right there, whether we don't commence a war of races. I think I under-

1. The first point to which we feel especially bound to take exception is your attempt to found a policy opposed to our enfranchisement, upon the alleged ground of an existing hostility on the part of the former slaves toward the poor white people of the South. We admit the existence of this nostility, and bold that it is entirely reciprocal. But you local experience. Can you, therefore, wonder when such a burist of almost fiendish extuation has proceeded from these classes, because they think they have secured a winning card at last in the passage of Judge Kelley's bill, establishing universal suffrage in the District of Columbia? They ignore many things in nursing this gardent hope. They, forget that in proportion as the questions and duties of the hour increase in grandeur, the people are proportionately ducated to investigate and to dispose of them. Three years ago the Union party, would have been beatten in every Northern State on the mergus and they need the beginning of the war they whole Union movement would have been beatten in every. Northern State on the mergus and in land with our military preparations. But a mighty change has come over the minds of men, and they meet the boldest perils more than half way. The recent legislation for the District of Columbia, will find the people more than half ready to meet it. The very eagerness of the Copperheads to seize upon in the Burist of Columbia, will find the people more than half ready to meet it. THE SECRETARY OF WAR.—The rumors that Mr. Stanton was about to retire from the War Department appear to have subsided.—
It is now said that, after a review of the situation of political affairs, he deems it a duty he owes to the nation he has done so much to save, to continue at his post. The Chicago Republican, edited by Mr. Dans, late assistant of Mr. Stanton, says:

Most scholars in backward schools not only lack the rudiments of book knowledge, but are very incompetent judges of the teacher's abilities, and the teacher's errors, receiving them for trith. If they have confidence in the honesty and ability of their teacher, they will greerally consider him a model in every respect, no matter how unqualified he may be in reality. The consequence is, that if he be unqualified in most, or many cases, the injury to the pupils will be very great; for as the old sdage says, "Ignorance is a blank sheet on which we may easily write; but Error is a scribbled one, which must first be erased, before we can inscribe truth on its pages."

Cau inscribe truth on its pages." It mean that it is just as necessary for a teacher whose pupils are all tyros, to have as exten-sive a knowledge of most of the branches, or that it is quite as necessary for auch a teacher to understand as many branches of science, as it is for one whose pupils are very far advanced; but we think that teachers of backward schools ought to as well under-stand what is required to be taught in those schools, as teachers should be, who teach FORWARD Schools.

Incorrect pronunciation is perhaps as objectionable as any other failure in the teacher of a backward school.

Peace between races is not to be secured by degrading one race and exalting another, by giving power to one race and withholding it from another, but by maintaining a state of equal justice between all classes. First pure, then peaceable.

3. On the colonization theory you were pleased to broach, very much could be said. It is impossible to suppose, in view of the usefulness of the black man in time of peace as a liborer in the South, and in time of war as a soldier at the North, and the growing respect for his rights among the people, and his increasing adaptation to a high state of civilization in this bis native land, there can ever come a time when he can be removed the property and peace.
