NEW VOLUME FOR 1867. ____ ATTRACTIVE & VALUABLE PREMIUMS.

On January 5th, 1867, the MINERS JOURNAL will enter upon its Porty-third Volume, and Thirtyseventh since it came into the hands of the present The MINERS JOURNAL is the recognized organ of the Coal Trade of the United States. It is now the LARGEST PAPER PUBLISHED IS PENSYLVANIA, and but three or four in the country exceed it in size. Its circulation never was so large as at this time, and its subscription list has doubled within the last five years, and is daily receiving a cessions. With, we think, but a single exception, and that paper has but about a hundred more.

it has the largest circulation of any paper published in Pennsylvania, out of Philadelphia and Pittsburg. It is the only paper in this section of the State that is taxed on its advertising receipts, under the law applicable to papers having over two thousand-circulation. is circulation new reaches nearly FOUR THOUSAND. The Government tax last year on our advertising was $150 SS. We allude to these facts to show that our extended circulation, including, as it does, many thous ands of readers, is appreciated by advertisers, and that they make liberal use of our columns. Our course in the past needs no comment on our part. It is well known. Wherever the right most needed a soldier, we have endeavored to wage the good fight. Human Progress, Freedom and Enlightenment have been the impelling motives in our course, not petty partizan aims. We stood firmly by Freedom during the darkest period of the Si weholders' Rebel-

THIS NEW WORK ON OUR MINERAL RESOURCES

Its public reception, both at home and abroad, has been extremely encouracing. The first Thorsan has already been disposed of, and the second is going very fast. According to prisent indications we shall soon exhaust the first edition. We will say to our friends at home, that they will have to supply themselves early if they wish a copy of the present edition. We shall not publish a second edition for some two years, since the cost and labor of collecting statistics to the date of publication will be very great.

Some few of our friends have objected to the price of the Book as being excessive; but we can assure them that such is not the case—it is unquestionably the cheapeat Work of the kind ever "Be just and fear not: Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's. Thy God's and truth's." PROTECTION TO OUR INDUSTRY. One of the most important matters that will engage the attention of Congress will be adequate Protection to the industry of this country. We had hoped that this was so thoroughly understood and appreciated by every officer connected with the Treasury Department that any recommendation cmanating from that Department and intended for the action of Congress would have this principle prominently in view. We had hoped so when we remembered that Mr. David A. Wells, the Commissioner of Revenue, when on a late visit to Pittsburgh, had declared in a public speech that, if he knew himself, every sentiment of his heart, every impulse of his nature, and all the convictious of his mind were in favor of Protection to

COUN

American Industry. To Mr. Wells we would not on any consideration, do the slightest injustice. But after the very decided remarks made by him in Pittsburgh, his position as reported by the New York Evening Post, the prominent Free Trade organ of the country, is, to say the least, anomalous. The Post of Tuesday,

The Commissioner of Revenue, Mr. Wells, is now engaged by command of the Secretary of the Treasury, in preparing a comprehensive scheme for the moin for alternal and external taxes, and a simplification of the internal and external taxes, and a simplification of the internal revenue system. This will be submitted to Congress, which will, be called upon by the country to adopt such legislation as will give us a tariff not for from from the reported to the first revenue that we need: and to secure that the industry of the country must be placed upon a sound footing, the fetters must be taken from our commerce; in short, the people must have the opportunity, freely and without Government interference, to do that which they can do best, which the circumstances of the country, climate, soil, education, and behits and customs. they est do best, which the circumstates of the con-try, climate, soil, education, and hebits, and customs, enable them to do most profitably to themselves, and to exchange the products of their industry to the great-est advantage, and with whoever will give them the greatest value in return.

This is certainly, not consistent with Mr. Wells's emphatic declaration at Pittsburgh. The Post declares authoritatively, that he is preparing a tariff scheme not for protection, but simply for revenue. - If this is so, Mr. Wells not only abandons the great principle to which he asserted he was wedded, Johnsonian like, but he with the Secretary of the Treasury, assumes a responsibility that it was never contemplated those officers should the boundaries of their duty, but all schemes as they term them, devolve alone upon Congress, and it is to be hoped that Congress in this matter will not relinquish a tithe of its prerogative. The people through their representatives, will enact what they want, without interference from officials who apparently with Johnsonian facility, talk tariff to tariff men, and free trade to freetraders. It will be a sad day for our material interests when those interests are dependent for existence and prosperity upon mere time servers. We have not had full confidence in Mr. Wells since the period when upon his recommendation the Secretary of the Treasury appointed a prominent. Free Trade writer of New York, to fill the For those who desire to procure a Paper or Magazine position of statistician at Washington, so friend of Protection, whose self-respect compelled him to resign when he was required to go out and make speeches in favor of the policy of Andrew Johnson. > of Free Trade: Again, Mr. Wells, at the meeting of the Social Science Convention, at New Haven, on the 10th of October last, delivered a speech which contained the following extraordinary passages:

which contained the following extraordinary passages:

In his view the labor of the country was not at all in need of sympathy. The advance in the prices paid for it had actually arrested the development of the country. To prove this he maintained the fact that one-third of the books published in the country were now manufactured abroad, and he had just been told that there was now laying at one of the Boston wharves, a vessel loaded with imported starch which could actually be sold at one quarter to a half a cent per pound less than that made here. This, in the country of corn and potatoes, was certainly a very significant and indeed an important fact. In the New England factories women's wages now a veraged over one dollar per day. They could get good board for $2.50 per week, and any one could calculate their savings from these data. As a consequence of this state of affairs there was a strike in some of the factories last summer, and the women actually went off to the sea-side to enjoy themselves pending the result of the strike. Mr. Wells then alluded to the nationality of the operatives now engaged in these factories. Formerly American girls filled all the places. Now they had not only got above this work—they considered themselves too good for domestic o-cupations as well. 'Very many of them had goot to manufacturing paper collars: others worked sewing machines, and others still were employed as clerks in many stores. Irish women had taken the places they had vacated in factories and at home, and agents of the mills were not only sweeping Cana'a for help, but were actually going from one establishment in New England to another buying off the operatives. There was such a demand for labor throughout the country, and chiefly in New England, that it was safe to assert no person was warranted in applying for charity anywhere in this broad land unless they were actually disabled. Mr. Wells also stated that the further extension of the irone was variented to another buying off the operatives. There was not a th

Space will not enable us to fully analyze the above, and expose the sophistry that pervades it He speaks of importing books and selling them cheaper than they can be published here. But he does not give the reason, which is simply, because the internal taxe are too high while the import duties are too low. He says nothing about the high cost of living-workmen in the book-offices of the cities are receiving barely enough to keep them and their families decently, while their wages would be considered high in England. Does Mr. Wells propose at the present high prices of living, to reduce the wages of labor to that received in Europe where it costs a workman much less to live? Mr. Wells

Regarding the work as a whole, it is certainly the most complete manual for the practical colliery manager that has yet been published.

It may safely be said that we have no single work in this country so thoroughly calculated to airord the surface of the safely so that the surface in connection with his business as is the book of Meers. Daddow & Bannan. to meet the wants of those similarly engaged in the United States. The work must have epitaled 2 large amount of labor, and there is ample evidence that the labor has not been applied without being made to yie due the largest results of which it was capable."

Workman much less to live? Mr. Wells seems to object to American women elevating themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and going into stores, working sewing machines, etc. It is the great privilege the men and women of American women elevating themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and going into stores, working sewing machines, etc. It is the great privilege the men and women of American women elevating themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and going into stores, working sewing machines, etc. It is the great privilege the men and women of American women elevating themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and going into stores, working sewing machines, etc. It is the great privilege the men and women of American women elevating themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and going into stores, working sewing machines, etc. It is the great privilege the men and women of American women elevating themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and going into stores, working sewing machines, etc. It is the great privilege the men and women of American women elevating themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and going into stores, working sewing machines, etc. It is the great privilege the men and women of American working themselves by leaving factories and house-hold employments and goi ter. To the Honorable the House of Representatives of the United States the Grand Inquest of the Nation: To the Honorabe the House of Representatives of the United States the Grand Inquest of the Nation:

Your memorialists, inhabitants of the United States, respectfully represent to your knonrable body that Andrew Johason. Vice President of the United States, upon whom has "devolved the power and duties of President," by the assarsination of Abraham Lincoln, in their belief in derogation of his high office and the dignity thereof, and in violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States, has been guilty of "high-crimes and misdemeanors," dangerous to the liberties of the people, in usurpation of rights and abuse of the powers so devolved upon him.

In these particulars among many others, the evidence of the facts of which are open and notorious;

I. Laving aside the dignity of his chice, in divers public declarations, "peches and haranques; for the purpose of inciting the hared, ridicule and contempt of the people for the Congress of the United States, he has declared the legal and constitutional Congress of the United States to be an "unconstitutional Congress of the United States, he has declared the incomplete to be a Congress;" a "rump of a Congress," "a body of disunionists," "a tyrannical, domineering, unconstitutional Congress of its legally constituted committee, "a central directory," and some of its loyal and patriotic members traitors and disunionists and descriping punishment by hanging.

That, in violation of his high office and the dignity thereof, and in neglect of-list duties, absenting himself from the capital, he busied himself for many days in making inflammatory harmones and declarations against the power of the Congress, and against the laws passed by it, thereby endeavoring to inclie the people of the United States to disobey such laws and to rest their execution.

III. That he has unconstitutionally, illegally and indiscriminately made use of the power vested in the Executive of "pardwing offences against the United States," for corrupt and wicked purposes, and has released from the renalties of their crimes many notorious criminals guilty of tresson, murder, robbery, couns

IV. That in derogation of the constitutional power of Congress 'to make 'roles concerning captures on land and water,' he has usurped the legislative power of Congress by returning to and putting in possession of rebels and traitors to the Government large amounts of property amounting invalue to many millions of dollars, the title to which by capture in war and otherwise had become vest of in the United States, and ought to have gone into the treasury thereof.

V. That 'libout warrant of law kind against constitutional right, he has appointed certain persons as Previsional Governors over portions of a part of the territory of the United States distrainzed by civil war and rebellion, in which he himself admitted 'fall civil government was overthrown," and ordered and permitted the salaries and emoluments of these illegal appointees to be paid from the treasury of the United States. VI That he has caused to be appointed and impardoned, who were then known to him, to be unable to take the oath prescribed by law that they had not been guilty of rebellion and treason against the United States without warrant of law.

VII. He has usurped the legislative powers constitutionally devolved on Congress in prescribing, by Executive order, the terms and conditions upon which former citizens of the United States, who, by levying war and other crimes against the United States without warrant of law.

IX. While declaring the legal and constitutional ex-istence and right of the State of Louisiann as a State in-the Union, he has interfered in its domestic concrus, and ordered the armed forces of the United States to and ordered the amed concess the Caned States to protect it from insurrection without the application of the Executive or of the Legislature thereof.

X. Conspiring with certain evil disposed persons lately rebels in arms against, the United States, the chief of whom one John T. Monroe, he had pardoned so that he might hold office in Louislans, Andrew Johnson has aided and abetted them in the murder of Johnson has aided and abetted them in the murder of loyal and well-disposed citizens of the United States in the city of New Orleans and to cover up and hide from the people of the United States his complicity in this great crime, he has garbled and cansed to be published the despatches of the general commanding there, describing and setting forth the facts and circumstances of the massacre of such citizens, and afterwards had falsely, wickedly, and corruptly in public harangues charged this violence and murder which he had incited, upon the Congress of the United States.

XI. That corruptly and wickedly, for the purpose of interfering with the freedom of election, he has abused the lower of appointment and removal from office, by making the sole qualification for holding office the opposition of the incumbent or appointee to the constitutional laws, acts and powers of the Congress of the United States.

XII. He has usurped from the Senate of the United States the constitutional right of advising and consent. XII. He has usurped from the Senate of the United States the constitutional right of advising and consenting to the appointment of "officers of the United States not provided for in the Constitution," by nominating to that body many persons for office, and after the Senate had refused to advise and consent to their appointment he has, put them in office and clothed them with official powers and duties, and caused them to be paid their salaries without right and without law, and has above his correction and wired intentions and them with others powers and tather, and cause them to be paid their salaries without right and without law, and has shown his corrupt and wicked intentions and designs in so doing by appointing to office and actually putting in office many such men, who had been more than once rejected by the Senate when nominated by, him for the same official positions.

XIII. Being sworn to take care that "the laws shall be faithfully executed," in violation of his oath of office, he has willfully and wickedly neglected and rejused to execute laws duly and legally enacted by Congress which were distasteful to him.

Your incompalates further represent that Andrew Johnson is reported by common fame, which has been held sufficient ground for inquiry for impeachment, to be guilty of other high crimes and misedmeanors, showing personal unituess for the "powers and duties of the office of President of the United States," in selling pardons of crimicals and in appearing in public and is the performance of the duties of his office in a state of drunkenness by the voluntary use of intoxicating liquors.

Your memorialists therefore respectfully pray tha Your memorialists therefore respectfully pray that these everal acts, doings, omissions of dairy. naurgations of power and all other of his malfeasances in office may be inquired into by the Grand Inquest of the Nation and that a bill of impeachment for the same (if they shall be proven) may be presented to the Senate of the United States sliting as a HIGH. COURT OF IMPEACHMENT, and that upon such impeachment he may be removed from office, and upon conviction thereof, be disqualited from holding and enjoying "anyoffice of honor, trust or profit under the United States," and be left "vabject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law."

And as in duty bound your memorialists will ever pray. We observe that as Andrew Johnson has become rather 'umble since the late elections, there is a disposition evinced by some to compromise with him. We regret to observe this, as there is no reliance to be placed in him. Why, he is even now removing. crippled Union soldiers from office and placing Copperheads in their places. He has ted Copperhead, Wm. O. Kline, who is worth half a million of dollars, while poor Union men who have fought and bled to save office, because they will not batter away their principles. The man who deceives his political friends, abandons his party, he was elected, is utterly unworthy of be-done this in Philadelphia within a week, where he has also appointed to office a nothe Nation, are summarily ejected from and descris the principles upon which lief or confidence. He cannot be trusted. Andrew Johnson has been guilty of crimes grave enough to warrant his impeachment. Future security of the country, peace and quiet, require his removal. The moral effect of it would be incalculably good, while we would show to the world that notwithstanding the fact that we placed him in the position he disgraces, we have the power and the courage to remove him. We believe it to be one of the first duties of Congress to prepare for his impeachment.

SHALL WE COMPROMISE PRINCIPLES Have we not had enough experience in the business of compromise with its bitter and humiliating results, without again wishing to barter right and justice for expediency? Is there any necessity for such action, even if it were desirable? What necessity is there that the United States Government should give a universal amnesty to the late rebels, in exchange for the admission of the negroes, in . the several States lately in secession, to immediate and universal suffrage? Do the platform, the aspirations, or the necessities of the Republican party require it? Shall the Government now descend to petty means in order to compass the ends of right and justice, which are within its reach by more becoming means?

ern States reject it, it may be necessary for Congress to adopt means whereby it can become a part of the Constitution without them; but, in any event, it is too late in the day for us to allow the late rebels to dictate the terms of their restoration. Impartial suffrage is either right or it is not. If it is right, there is no occasion for our bribing the South to adopt it, and, if it is wrong, we ought not to inge it upon them in any manner. We cannot see what suffrage has to do with amnesty, or annesty with suffrage. It seems to us they are entirely distinct, and should remain so. Anxions as we are that full justice should be done the negro, we do not believe in doing it at the expense of great principles. As we have already intimated, it is questionable whether the negro would receive his rights, even if a general amnesty was granted to the rebels. It is more than probable that he would not, or if he did, it would be with such restrictions as would render them useless for his protection. Besides, the loyal people of this country have no taste for being ruled by themer who enceavered to destroy the Government, and that they would be compelled to submit to this humiliation if the amnesty-suffrage plan was adopted is certain beyond don't. They are willing that these men should go unwhipt of justice to a certain extent, but they do not want to be insulted by their presence in the councils of the nation. We have had enough of compromise. Let us not renew the follies which have cost us so much already.

We trust that our friends will make an exertion, and enable us to commence our new volume in January with a largely increased list of subscribers. Each one can easily get an additional subscriber for us and the work will be acomplished. THE GREAT QUESTION. As long as Andrew Johnson continues to fill the Presidential chair, encouraging the people of the rebellious States to preserve a hostile attitude to the Government, the finances and business of the country will be seriously damaged, while Reconstruction will be delayed. In this view of the case independent of the great crimes of which he is guilty. the important business is to impeach and remove him from office. In less than six months after that occurrence, the amicable relations of all the States would be restored, and business would receive a new impetus. We publish in this issue of the Journal a great speech made by Gen. Butler on this subject. We hope that his powerful argument for the removal of the President will penetrate the halls of Congress and induce action in the matter. Remove Andrew Johnson, and Congress will remove the author of

A Painful but Unfounded Rumor.—On Sunday last a rumor reached this Borough that the party of emigrants to Colorado, in which is the family of Mr. Wm. Zern of this Borough, had been attacked on the Plains by Indians, and that some had been murdered and others captured. It created for several days a feeling of uneasiness in this community, but we have every rosson to believe that the rumor is unfounded, as a letter was received this week from Mr. Zern, stating that he and his family were well, and that nothing unusual had happened to them. sual had happened to them.

The ball of the Juniors at Union Hall on Monday evening, was a pleasant affair. A noticeable and commendable feature was the absence of intoxication and consequent disorders, which prevail to too great an extent at balls. If young men could only appreciate fully how diagusting to ladies is a partner in the dance u on whose breath are the fumes of liquor and whose conduct while under the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the influence of liquor, is open to animal or the or whose sepecially pleased on Monday night to witness and limost entire absence of this offensive feature, and congratulate the Juniors on the fact. We believe that entire reform in this matter could be effected, if mangarers of balls would establish the rule and strictly enforce it, that no intoxicated man should remain in the room. We are led to these remarks solely by the very agreeable character of the ball of Monday evening, due in a great measure to the fact stated, and showing that liquor is not only not an accessory to the pleasures of a ball, but tast it mars the harmony, courtesy and good feeling that should prevail on such occasions. Trusting that the Juniors ball may prove a good lexample in this matter to all other balls held this season, we leave the subject to the good sense and manliness of our young men for we trust, their favorable consideration.
