

Every citizen of Schuylkill County, independent of party predilection, who is interested in the preservation of law and order in our midst, will be tempted to exclaim "why?" when he learns that on Monday last the Commissioners of this County refused to resign the jury-wheel to the new Jury Commissioners, Messis Cleaver and Kaercher, when requested to do so by the latter named gentlemen in their official capacity and in licharge of their sworn duty under the law. It is indeed, passing strange that there can be found men in this County to oppose measures that Republicans and Democrats and even the Court itself, have declared necessary, and which will entail no additional expense upon the tax-payers of the County. Take the Jury law. In the past the Court exonerated itself from blame in the matter of the escape of criminals from merited punishment at the hands of the law, by laying the blame on the wretched character of the juries drawn. Reform that and justice would be moted out. Very well. A good jury law. was pussed at the last session of the Legislating for the purpose of effecting the needed reform. Two gentlemen, one a Republicar the other a Democrat, unexceptionable and acceptable, were appointed Jury Commissioners last week by Governor GEARY. On Monday last they attempted to enter upon the discharge of their important duties, the good result of which would have soon been apparent in the elevated character of our juries, when they were stopped from acting and the matter now remains to be decided by the Supreme Court before which the case will be carried.

It is proposed also by the opponents of reform, law and order in this County, to test before the Supreme Court the constitutionality of the same Act establishing this with chanon and Dauphin, a new Judicial District for the risk of criminal causes. Notapplication was made by Democrats to the application was made by Democrats to the last Legislature for an additional Law Judge for the County, the duties being too onerous for one; the fact that the Attorney General of the State has stated most positively, that the Act is constitutional, and the very important fact that the mere passage of the Act catablishing a new Court has had a good effect in checking crime, yet we find men claiming we presume, to be good citizens, arrayed against this needed measure. It is wonderful and exceedingly discreditable -We can hardly believe that Judge Ryon has taken the initiative in this matter, yet when | and no man's life would have been worth a we look at the proceedings as reported in our local columns, they wear the appearance of concert of action between the Court and its immediate surroundings. Disappointed will yet canvass the Rebel States to uphold aspirants for the additional Law Judgeship which was asked for, may be the ones who are directly interested in overthrowing this legislation, and may be the ones who are acting so zealously. If so the interest in the matter of the elevation of any one of them to the bench, is confined to them, for the Bar and the people very generally, are well satisfied that the new appointee, Hon. DAVID B. Green, is not only a fair man but a much more able lawyer than any of them, and therefore, just the man for the position.

The citizens of this County who look upon this measure of a new Court and responsible juries, as a matter far above the mere interests of party or office-holders, would like to know ming the responsibility of attempting to defeat and property here and to the future prosperity of Schuylkill County. These men are not actmeasure is necessary to their preservation.— And the miners and workingmen of the County, nineteen-twentieths of whom are lawabiding, worthy, industrious citizens, know that a few desperately bad men have interfered with their labor and threatened even their lives in many instances. These honest workingmen know that the legislation just procured is necessary. Why, even before the provisions of the Act have gone into full operation, its moral effect is seen in the cessation of highway murders and robberies and the stampede of the desperadoes who infested the County for months before its passage. THE POLICE FORCE. The appointments for this force, number ing fifteen, have been made by Gov. GEARY. These are all that will be made at present, and we presume that the number will not be increased, unless exigencies in the County should require it: We are glad to know that every man appointed on the force is a soldier who served his country in the field gallantly and faithfully, and that they are all intelligent, reliable, temperate men. The last qualification was justly considered by the Governor a most indispensable requisite to render the force effective. Now, let citizens zealously aid this force, and Schuylkill County will soon become too hot for the despera does whose crimes should long since have sent them to the gallows.

THE SOUTHERN VOTE. With the blacks admitted to vote it has be come an interesting question in regard to the probable affiliation of the voting population of the South. The Southern "Conservatives" admit that if all the blacks register and vote. they will deposit 550,000 ballots out of 1,260, 000 in all. They concede that one-fifth of the whites, and no more, will vote the Radical ticket, and claim that one-fifth of the blacks will vote with the Conservatives. From these generalizations they deduce these results: Conservative whites .....

680 000 Conservative vote. ..140 000 Radical blacks ..440 000

.580,000 Radical vote. On this basis Virginia, Arkansas and Georgis are claimed for the Conservatives; hopes are cherished that South Carolina will go the same way, owing to the influence of whites over their former slaves; while the remaining States are conceded to the Radicals. This presents the case quite as favorably for the Conservatives as it is likely to turn out. It s quite possible that they may not realize these expectations.

Ir is announced that the Democratic pary is to be thoroughly re-organized, and that n the new political platform the negro must give way to internal improvements in canals, ailroads and levees. Courting the blacks has been found an unprofitable game, and it is no wonder that the work has thus early been abandoned.

A SLIGHT DIFFERENCE.—In lieu of the advertisements which formerly appeared in the Southern papers, for the sale of negroes, we now see calls for meetings of black and white men, to deliberate on the surest means for promoting the best interest of the "two races to whom the rule of the South is now confided." The Mobile Advertiser publishes a call for a public evening meeting without distinction of color, the object of which is to withstanding the fact that Judge Ryon has establish and promote harmony and accord. declared in effect, that he is glad to be re- between the two races who are brought face lieved from the duties of President Judge of to face in the new political relations. NEW YORK. At the election for delegates to the Constitutional Convention of the State of New York which took place on the 23d ult., the Republicans had a majority of about 20,000 on the general ticket. The Atlantic Monthly —Boston Ticknor & Fields. In the May number chapters twelve to fourteen of "The Guardan Angol," hold the leading place. These are followed by an exceedingly interesting article written by Mr. Parton, sketching the history of that wonderful invention, the sewing-machine. It contains, as a matter of course, numerous facts very racity told about the early history of Mr. Elias Howe and the struggles through which he finally achieved success. "The Genlus of Dickens" is discussed by Mr. E. P. Whipple in one of his fluished essays. He thinks that Dickens is not to be ranked with the greatest masters of characterization. C. D. Shanly discusses "Germany in New York" in an entertaining article sketching the interior of the lager-beer saloons, the German theatres, &c., &c., and describing the Turn Vereins, the Schutzen Feste and other justifutions peculiar to this nationality. "Katharine Morne" apparently comes to a conclusion. J. O. Culver tells quite skilfally a rather sensational story, "The Plaintiff Nonsuited;" C. C. Hazowell writes of some "Unappreciated Characters," such as aluggards, the Old Man of the Sea and Xanthippe; Mr. Higginson describes "Oldport in Winter;" Mr. Frothingham gives some reasons for the custom of "Burial with the Head toward the East," and W. Wiowood Reade writes of "The Heroes of Central Africa." He gives full credit to Livingstone, Baker and Burton for their achievements, but for reasons which the fact itself explains, fails to mention Du Chaillu. The poetry in this number of the Atlantic does not call for special notice.

"The DIAMOND DICKENS"—DAVID COPPERFIELD.

"The Diamond Dickens"—David Copperfield.
—Forty-five thousand copies of the three current issues of Ticknor & Fields' (Boston) "Diamond Dickens"—The Posthumous Papers of the Pickwick Club," "Our Mutual Friend," and the "Personal Experience of David Copperfield the Younger"—had been sold, up to the day when the latter appeared. That the enterprise is a success is no less certain than it is gratifying to all who admire its standard character, convenient size, clear type and general comeliness. And it is almost equally satisfactory to know that the illustrious anthor shares in the profits of the publishers, accruing from its sale—that, although stolen fruit is considered "sweetest," his labor does not go unremunerated. Socially, Americans may not owe as much to Dickens as do his countrymen for his attempts to elevate their humanity, yet, in a go unremunerated. Socially, Americans may not owe as much to Diokens as do his countrymen for his attempts to elevate their humanity, yet, in a literary point of view, we must acknowledge that no one, at home or abroad, delights us more than he has done for thirty years past. "Pickwick," the initial of his humorous works, and still the most amusing; "Our Alutual Friend," his latest, and by many deemed equal to his best, and "David Copperfield," undoubtedly the superior of all the rest, are now before the public in this dainty form and dress, and their rapid sale well attests the popularity they have achieved.

Mr. Eytinge is one of our yourgest American artists, and his illustrations of the "Diamond Dickens" are meeting with warm praise in all quarters where criticism is considered valuable. His pencil simply reproduces in form the penned outline of the novelist's creation, and that in a manner which does credit to this issue.

Every lover of Dickens should get this edition. The illustrated volumes are $1.50 each, and the plain, $1.25. They can be obtained at the publishers' prices at the bookstore of Bannan & Ramsey, this Borough.

Runaway.—On Monday last about 1 o'clock, two double teams attached to carriages that had attended a funeral, became frightened by the whistle of a locomotive at Mount Carbou, and ran up at full speed into this Borough. Neither of the drivers or any person was in the carriages. One of the teams belonging to Mr. Byerley, livery stable keeper, turned into Norweglan from Centre street, and ran to the stable, around several narrow corners, without injury to the carriage. The other owned by Mr. Kohler, also a livery team, turned up Market street and coming in contact with a wagon west of Centre street, broke the tongue of the carriage. The team was then stopped without any further damage to the carriage. The novel spectacle of two double teams dashing with break-neck speed, one close upon the other, through Centre street, caused considerable excitement. We are gratified to state that no one was injured during their progress through the Borough.

On Tuesday evening last Dr. Parker delivered the concluding lecture of the course with which he has favored our citizens. His subject was, The Beautiful. He said that beauty pervaded creation. Even anamalcules too minute to be seen without the aid of the microscope, were resplendently beautiful. Trees, flowers, animals, man, were objects of great beauty. But intellectual and spiritual transcends physical beauty—the highest type of which is virtue. Dr. Parke. gave some touching incidents to illustrate his thought. Our Saviour was the most perfect and beautiful object that ever existed on the earth, possessing as He did, all the virtues in the highest degree comprehensible to finite minds. We can in a brief notice of this lecture give no idea of the able manner the subject was treated by Dr. Parker. The entire course afforded the most unalloyed satisfaction and pleasure.

Outrages on the Highway.—Desperadoes still have the temerity to perpetrate outrages in the coal region. But Mr. Heisler and his police will soon get into effective working condition, and the County will become too hot for the scoundrels.

On Sunday afternoon last a German named Henry Demm, was attacked near the railroad depot at Girardvill; by four Irishmen named Edward Sweeney, John Gallagher, Michael Conaught and Patrick Ryon, and ast it is alleged, robbed him of a silver watch and chain, valued at $40. Mr. Demm recognized the men, came to Pottsville on Wednesday last, and obtained warrants for their arrest. Pottsville on Wednesday last, and obtained war-rants for their arrest.

On the same afternoon three Irish desperadoes went from Mahanoy Township to Cattawissa Valley. On the road beyond Ringtown they fired two shots at a man named Hunchberger. He ran into the woods and escaped. It is supposed that the men wanted to rob him. that the men wanted to rob him.

We might state that several weeks ago Mr. Joshua Rumbel residing in that locality was out one day collecting money in the Shenandoah Valley. This fact it seems, was known to some ruffians, and in the evening four of them went to his house for the purpose of robbing him. Mr. Rumbel however, saw them coming and suspecting their object, secured the doors, run up stairs, and fired upon the men as they approached the house. They field without persisting in the attack.

We understand that the people in Cattawissa Valley are well prepared for the visits of robbers and to give themwarm receptions. We are glad that this is the case. "A Goak."—The Pittsburg Gazette of Tuesday ast, under the heading, "A 'Local' Cruelly Sold,"

"The division of a territory into wards is not for municipal but for County and State purposes; for the administration of Justice, and for the preservation of the peace by the election of justices of the peace and constables, and for the election of County, State and National officers, and the assessing and collection of State and County taxes. The fact that the term ward was used in the act of 1852 to designate a locality, cannot be held as conferring a right, privilege or immunity upon the wards of the Borough of Pottaville which they did not as wards possess under the acts of assembly by which they were created. If the southeast ward has by the act by which it is created, all and every the rights, privileges and immunities of the several wards of the Borough of Pottaville, granted to them by the acts by which they were created, nothing more can be claimed for it by any reasonable construction of the law.

"That the only construction that can be given to it (the act of April 11, 1866,) which will give effect to every word of the law and be in harmony with the other acts on the same subject and repeal no act by implication, is, that the southeast ward may elect two justices of the peace, a constable, election officers and assessors, and that the electors of the Borough of Pottaville reading in the south-east ward have not been granted a right to be represented by three members in the town council independent of the south ward. That the electors in the south-east ward stand in the same relation to the town council as they did before the Legislature again last winter, the Judiciary Committee decided that it was within the jurisdiction of the Court, and we persume that it will shortly be brought up before that tribunal, and be settled by establishing the Ward with the privilege of electing members of Council and School Board.

We have robbed the outcrops of every basin, and almost every coal-bad above water level, and to a coasiderable depth below: the natural barriers of the water have been removed and the surface drainage turned into our deep slopes and pits, to be pumped back again at great; and constant cost and labor, and little or no provision has been made to keep the old water-leve's in repair as drains.

This, however, we shall yet be compelled to do, since it will be more consomical to keep the water from gaing down into the mines, even it cast from drainage pipes must be used, than to pump it from our deep mines.

It is too late now to several the role and reach of the alleged unconstitutionality of the Act is based, is, that there are two distinct and irrelevant measures in it contrary to the amended Constitution of Pennsylvania which prohibits an "omnibus" bill, or a bill which contains matters not pertinent to the heading, from becoming a law. We cannot see that this provision of the Constitution applies to this Criminal Court Act, for in establishing a court a provision for juries is certainly, necessary and pertinent to the main object embodied in the bill, and is not a distinct and irrelevant measure. Juries are certainly, part of the necessary machinery of a court. We see no force in the objection raised of unconstitutionality.

gaing down into the mines, even it cast from drainage pipes must be used, than to pump it from our deep mines.

It is too late now to regret the ruin and waste of the past, or the seive-like condition of our great coel-basins and the hills on our out-cropping strain. The mania for mines above water level, cannot be wondered at when competition is so great, and capital so limited but we have now no new regions to onen, and but few min a above water level, where small means and less experience may compete with the heavy operation on our deep mines.

But the fact that one half the coal still remains buried in our mines, is most cases beyond recovery, and that the small amounts realized as rents or royalty will not pay for the constant expense entailed in the future of the small amounts realized as rents or royalty will not pay for the constant expense entailed in the future of coal is and that water-level mining, as generally practiced, is supprofitable and a source of great annoyance and expense in the end.

Anthractic coal is as much a necessity to day as wheat or corn and is more valuable than gold. There is no necessity for arging it, upon the market, or of increasing the number of our mines until the coal consumers demand, the fuel. It is poor policy to skim the cream off our coal lands without remuneration; or push the working of our mines when the markets are glutted with coal: but reforms and improvements are most available and proper, when business is dull and unprintable. Now is the time that must and will come, when coal will be in active demand. Those who have any experience in business, and particularly in the coal rade, will be conviced of this from the history of the past; and should realize from their experience.

We must follow the older and more successful miners of England and Wales, and accot the radical reforms in mining our coal, which were forced on them, and will be on us, if we do not voluntarily accept them. It is mere clap-trap to cry that we have no capital, or a weak and pitiable want The Case of the Shooting of Young Kremer of Orwigsburg.—In our last we gave the particulars of the fatal shooting of a son of Mr. Charles Kremer of Orwigsburg. Our statement of the sffair, though brief, was substantially correct. Since them Mr. Daniel Alspach, who fired the shot which killed young: Kremer, has called upon us and narrated the unfortunate affair.

It seems that at the time the boys were fishing in the dam, he resolved to test a new rifle which he had but recently purchased of Mr. Schalk, the gunsmith, of this Borough. He stood at a spot between his residence and saw-mill, and sent one of his boys out with a target to a distance of seventy or eighty paces, in the direction of the dam, on the opposite bank of which it appears, young Kremer and his companions were fishing, unobserved by Mr. Alspach, He fired a shot at the target, when he saw the boys jump up and run away. He reloaded and fired two more shots—all of the shot passing through the target—when he returned to the saw mill, cleaned the rifle and put it away, without being aware that anything unusual had happened, that one of the boys had been shot. Shortly after, a daughter of Mr. Alspach had occasion to go to Orwigsburg, about a mile distant, and when she had proceeded but a short distance on the road she saw the boys, and young Kremer sitting down, he being unable to walk any longer. She went back hurriedly and told her father. Mr. Alspach immediately proceeded to the spot; took the wounded lad to his father's house in Orwigsburg, and procured a physician. The ball could not be found and young Kremer died on the 24th ult., three days after receiving the wound. The distance from where Mr. Alspach stood when he fired the rifle, to the spot where the boy received the shot, is about one hundred and ninety yards. The ball passed through the target and must have glanced from the water of the dam and entered the body of the boy.

On Monday last Mr. Alspach came to Pottaville, and with Lin Bartholomew, Esq., as his counsel, haid a statement of t The Case of the Shooting of Young Kremer condition. The money thus lavishly and unwisely squandered have been of much more injury and discredit to the mining regions than good to individuals or communities.

The men with big salaries, who undertook to teach our practical miners how to mine coal: thought that they had mastered the situation when they found out that "everething black was not coal," but when they learned a little more, they discovered that the mone they learned the treather had been beyond; the control of monopoly and competition; but unfortunately, its injudicious application has only added to our evils, and it is now difficult to convince capitalists that coal indis or coal mines can be made profuble. But the fact that the "smart men," with large salaries; made so ignominious a fillure, is no more in evidence against the coal trade, than would be the failure of a coal-dieger to understand the money-making tricks of Wall street.

We shall be forced to concentrate our efforts, in order to open deep and permanent mines, instead of scattering our resources and our strength in small and temporary enterprises. Our mines must be so planned and conducted that they shall be the more profitable as they become deep and extensive. This may seem impractical and contrary to the accorted laws of physical development. But when we reverse our system of mining we will find it more profitable to work old collieries, until they are exhausted of all their coal, than to operate new collieries.

Now, we commence "rooting out the first coal we find, as soon as possible after the mine is "won" We do no' care to wait until the mine can be properly laid out and ventilated, but work the coal near our mainways. (gangways.) headings and air courses, is often greater than the coet of mining the coal, and generally in all our old mines, the cost of keeping the mine in repair, the "dead work" and the conveyance of the coal from the mines to the surface are the great items of expense in operating the mine.

But by the English and Welsh plans, those great difficulties c Temperance.—At a regular stated meeting of Mountain City. In 1851 the Independent Order of Good Templars, a temperarce organization, now so popular and so wide-spread, had an obscure origin in one of the small towns in Western New York. For a few years after it was instituted little was heard pillars and timbers as buy work outstands to chambers.

Our mines of iron ore cannot be worked as we now mine our coal. Fortunately it is impossible to operate the Black band on our present system, with any chance of success, and such beds as carry ore, are still less available on our present plan. We must adopt the Welsh or English modes if we attempt to mine the coal and the ore from the same breast, and this we hope may force a change of system. Radical: reform is now the order of the day, and conservatives must yield to the pressure of the occasion—the necessities of the hour.

At the Legislative session of 1860, a bungling Act was obtained by Mr. John M. Crosland, creating the South East Ward, but with no right to elect members of the Council and School Board.

Last Spring members of both bodies were elected in this Ward, and when they applied to Council and School Board, were denied admission. The matter was referred to the Borough Solicitor, who after a reference to the original charter of the Borough and the several amplements and the several acts dividing the Borough into Wards, announced at the conclusion that the dividing of a ward into several wards, does not give to each particular party the right to be represented in the ward into several wards, does not give to each particular party the right to be represented in the Town Council by three members; the right to elect members of the Town Council, not being one of the incidents of a ward. The following are extracts from his opinion:

"Under the original charter of the Borough the division of the Borough into wards while it gave to each ward all the rights, privileges, and immunities of a ward, did not increase the number of the members of the Town Council which was then limited to nine councilmen, three being annually elected by the electors of the Borough. The act of 1832 increased the number of councilmen to twelve and gave the right of the election of thee of the twelve councilmen to the election of the election of three of the twelve councilmen to the electoresiding in the territory which composed each the four wards then in existence, but did not as reased, the number of counciment should be increased.

There is nothing in the law from which any inference can be drawn, that it was the intention of the Legislature to make the size of the Town Council depend upon the number of the wards into which the Borough might aftowards be divided. It limits the number of the councilmen to twelve, provides for the election of that number, and for the maintaining of that number by annual elections.

Dr. Brown is recognized in this State as a thorough theoretical and practical farmer.

To L. Holt. Agent. Sparks at longth of the superiority as a fertilizer of Hail's Super-Phosphate of Lime. Dr. Brown is recognized in this State as a thorough theoretical and practical farmer.

To L. Holt., Agent. Alanyracourse of Hall's Super-Phosphate of Lime I porchased of you last Spring proves very satisfactory. Indeed, from having purchased articles under the name of Phosphates several times before and they having proven almost entirely incert, or at least having: produced results in no sense proportionate to their cost, I had come to regard all articles sold under the name of Phosphate as a cutch penny, calculated only to filch the pocksts of the hard samings of the simple minded agriculturist and fill those of the speculating manufacturer and dealer.—But through the Influence of a friend, accompanied with the knowledge that your Super-Phosphate contained Pearvian Guano Man Georea Boxes, both of them the very—best of fertilizers. I was induced to purchase a ton of yours. I used it upon my oats, potatoes and corn. I sowed two pieces of ground with oats, laying side by side, the first having been heavily manured the year previous for turnips upon which I put nothing. The last had been sown with corn for fodder the two previous years, with only a light dressing of Plaster the last year, and out it soweting here was but little difference in either the straw or oats. The potatoes and corn. I sowed the Super-Phosphates, and at the time of harvesting here was but little difference in either the straw or oats. The potatoes are the straw for an article

P. S.—Please send the three tons I purchased, immediately, as I wish to sow it with my oats the beginning of the coming week!
