With these objects in view, and as the result of twenty-three years practical experience in the basiness by our senior partner, we manufacture five different kinds of Engines, and several classes of sizes of each kind.—Particular attention paid to the strength of the machine in the plan and workmanship of all the details. Our long experience and opportunities of obtaining information, enables us to offer these engines with the assurance, that in efficiency, economy and durability, they will compare favorably with those of any other kind in use. We also furnish to order, wheels, axles, bowling or low moor tire to fit centres without boring, composition castings for bearings of every description of Copper, Sheet Iron and Boiler Works; and every article appertaining to the repair or renewal of Locomotive Engines.

SURFACE MANURING.-I believe in it. herish the belief that surface manuring is the way to manure. Every farmer aims to enrich his farm. Let me tell him in a few plain words how to do it, and then, after reading this plan, let him think over his past experience in farming and see if it does not corroborate what is said here. Apply manure chiefly to your tillage lands while in grass. By so doing you produce a strong, stiff sward, filled with grass roots. If these roots are of clover, so much the better. If you succeed in growing a good crop of grass on a poor soil you have done two things-made your land much better and gained a good crop. As soon, or before the soil begins to show signs of failure, plow or manure again. If you plow you have the wealth of grass roots decaying for the food of growing crops. Re-seed before the land ge's exhausted, and do it bountifully. If you cimp and starve elsewhere, don't do it when seeding to grass. Aim to have a sward as early as possible. To accomplish this you should seed liberally. When the sward is formed you have another crop of manure to plow under. In seeding land it is better not to be confined to one kind of grass. In this manner lands may be managed for centurie; without material deterioration. As a farther argument in favor of surface manuring I mention that it is nature's way The soil is on top of the earth, and irrigation deposits its fertilizing elements on the surface. Manure applied to the surface is acted upon by the light, heat and rains-its elements are much more slowly developed u in the earth than on the surface. Every tar mer should investigate this subject for him self and form his own conclusions. - WESTERS

SAVING MANURE. - Wm. S. Cloke, Mattewan, N. J., recommends making barnyard ditching with a cemented bottom. He write: "I also make a cemented basin not far from . the house, which is two-thirds filled with rich mold, old sods, or wood pile scrapings. Upon this pile all the slops of the house are thrown. It is so situated as not to be an eye sore, and it does not emit an unpleasant odor. Sometimes in summer, I scatter lime over the pile. I once took a quantity of dry hen manure, pounded it fine, and mixed it with sa equal quantity of loamy earth, and it made a guano equal to that from the Chincha Isands. I used part of it for corn-a handful to a hill-and the stalks grew three or four eet higher than those alongside, treated with stable manure. Old woolen rags, chopped ine and plowed in, I have found exceeding. y valuable. I obtained thirty one tons of rutabagas from land manured with woolen SALTING BUTTER. -It is becoming a very revalent complaint among butter dealers that farmers are not careful enough as to the kind and quality of salt they use in preparing butter for market. Some put in too much, others hardly enough, while too many are careless as to the quality of the article used. Ordinary barrel salt is reported to contain so much lime as to cause a soapy texture to the butter, while lacking the preservative power essential to good flavor and protracted keeping. An exchange states that the Ashton salt, imported in sacks of four bushels, combines all the essentials necessary to the preservation of butter-the salt costing one. ..$9,685,718 fourth more than that commonly in use. It 2.188,429 pays well to be particular in everything relating to butter manufacture—a good article, cleanly made and properly put up, being certain to remunerate the maker for all trouble and expense, by the enhanced price it is cer.

tain to bring in the market. BUCKWHEAT VS. SUPER PHOSPHATE. -S. H. sowed five and a half bushels of buckwheat without a dressing of phosphate of lime, and harvested sixty five bushels. His neighbor, J. W., on the same worn out field side by side, sowed one and a half bushels, first rolling it in super phosphate of lime, as the farmers roll their seed wheat in plaster, and harvested sixty bushels of good buckwheat. This is the first time we have heard of phosphate being used in that way, as it is generally drilled in with the seed.

If any of our farmers wish to try either way, we refer them to our advertising columns, to "Hall's" super-phosphate of lime. T. L. HOLT, Agt.

LAND MEASURE.—Every farmer should have a rod measure—light, stiff pole—just 64 feet long, for measuring land. By a little practice he can learn to step a rod at five paces, which will answer very well for ordinary farm work. Ascertaining the number of rods in width and length of a lot you wish to measure, and multiply one into the other, and divide by 160, and you have the number of acres, as 160 square rods make a square acre. If you wish to lay off one acre, measure thirteen rods upon each side. This lacks only a rod of full measure.

C. W. HOWARD and Judge Shafter, of California, have the largest dairy farm in the world. Their farm is on the sea coast, twenty five miles north of San Francisco, and overs 71,000 acres mostly choice dairy land, and bounded on three sides by salt water .--The fogs from the Pacific keep the feed good for fully eight months in the year.

An English farmer recently remarked that "he fed his land before it was hungry, rested t before it was weary, and weeded it before t was foul." Seldom, if ever. was so much agricultural wisdom condensed into a single entence.

MINNESOTA has received the patent for the Agricultural College land grant 160,000

To REMOVE FRECKLES .- Take a table spoonful of sal ammoniac; 30 drops of muriatic acid; rain water, a pint; essence of lavender, two tablespoonfuls; mix, wash three times a day, and let it dry on the face. HYDROPHOBIA.-Mr. Youatt, the famous veterinary surgeon, who has been bitten seven or eight times by rabid animals, says that crystals of nitrate of silver, rubbed into the wound, will positively prevent hydrophobia in the bitten person or animal.

TO MAKE HAM BALLS .- Take what is usually left and otherwise lost of ham, chop five, add as many eggs as you have persons to eat and a small amount of flour, beat together and make into balls. Fry in a little butter to a nice brown. They are estable. PRESERVING MILK -An easy way of preserving milk or cream sweet for a long time. or, of removing the sourcess when it has already come on, is to add to it a small quan tity of common sods, pearlish or magnesis, of the druggist shop. So it is said.

Pickled Eggs .- As this is the season of fresh eggs, if you have a quantity of boiled ones left, as often happens, remove the shells, slice the eggs (they should be hard boiled), covers them with vinegar and a layer of horse rad. ish, and lovers of eggs will enjoy them. Tooth Powder.-Calcined bread or sugar reduced to fine dust, is an excellent tooth powder. It cleanses the mouth mechanical ly and chemically.
