POTTSVILLE, PA. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19. 1867. FOR A CONVENTION TO AMEND THE STATE CONSTITUTION We raise the above Banner, and intend fighting it

We raise the above Banner, and intend fighting it on this lime.

We propose in the Constitution, increasing the number of Representatives to 400, and 8-mators 100, limiting the session to 40 days with pay at $45 at day. The foregreentatives to be elected from single districts bronchout the State.

Tass a general law for all corporations beyond the rach of individual enterprise, and no special laws. All corporations with an income not exceeding $25, 600, to be granted by the courts.

For the balance of the breiness of the Easte, 40 and a fact, 80 days, would be sufficient for all the legisla in the people require. This is the only plan to break up the present corrupt system, because large bodies in their assistant are not so liable to be corrupted.

Mr. Lincoln's single-hearted and guiltles devotion to the country is shown in the fact that during his Presidential term nearly all he had was invested in Government securities He patriotically, staked all upon the success of the Government, while the men who villified him, decried the Government credit, refused to advance it money, discouraged others from doing so, and directed their investments in such a way as to reflect, on the soundness and honesty of the National Government.

tions to enter his house:

The corrupting influence of a certain class of papers, which are said to be issued in large numbers and circulated in the country, is unquestionable. They have set up as censors of morals, and have adopted means for collecting all the scandal of the country, which they expose in their columns with far more likelihood of spreading corruption among their readers than of correcting it in their victims. For the purposes they have in view, they are under the necessity of organizing a corps of caves droppers, gossips, libelers ramifying through all parts of the land, who are expected to discover, invent or manufacture scandal in proportion to the pay they get for it. The convergent streams of vileness and lies are poured into one or another of these Police papers, and thence are issued for the people's reading.

We cannot conceive how a young man or woman, who weekly holds an hour's or an evening's intimacy with such writings and such subjects, can well escape some pollution of mind or some damage of conscience, or some loss of self-respect. Familiarity with reading of this kind inflames passion, teaches the arts of seduction and other crimes, and hardens the heart against the claims of virtue. To this cause we attribute no small share of the increase of crime in these times. It is but a verifying of the exclamation of the great observer of human conduct:

"How of the ignerican in the selection in these times."

"How oft the sight of means to do ill deeds Makes ill deeds done!" COLOR IN POLITICS "-Tuesday's Philadel phia Morning Post says in concluding an ar ticle on this subject : ticle on this subject:

If it was ridiculous to talk of liberty in America when we held four millions of slaves, it is nonsense to talk of Republicanism when we exclude American citizens from their rights. The Republican party should now recognize color so far as it is made the pretext of oppression, and it should fight to the end for the colored man, be cause he is in the line of its principles. We are going into that battle, and wish it understood that we are not fighting only ont of friendship for the colored race, but for the interest of all races; for the sake of the humanity which includes all, for the principles which are beneath all, and for Friendful Draft of There "Hildern"—A widow, Mrs. Blankenship, living near Bowling Green, Ky, went to a ran to wash, taking with her her entire lamily, two little sons and a baby daughter, followed by their dog. The dog ran of a short distance into the woods, and began barking fintously. It was thought he had treed some game, and with the mother's consent, the little fellows went to secure it. The game proved to be a large ratilesnake. They were to small to know the nature of the creature, and delighted by its elittering coils, the edder ran to catch the prize, saying, "I'll get him brother." The venomous reptiledarted, and etruck its venomous fangs again and again into the flesh of the glowing, eager child, and wound its terrible folds about him. The younger brother ran to his rescue, and was also repeatedly bitten. Their screams brought the mother. When she arrived the eldest boy was dead, and the younger one lived but long enough to tell what had happened. THE COAL TRADE. SHERRORE.

Pettsville, October 19, 1867. The quantity sent by railroad this week is 81 352 07—by canal 32,130 09—for the week 113 482 16 tons against 31 204 tons for the corresponding week last year. There is no new feature in the trade to note. We now require the assistance of capital more than ever in our past experience, in opening up new outlets to market—by lines absolutely required to place us in favorable competition with our neighbors. Fortunately, a combination of circumstances now favors us, and if we go earnestly and energetically to work, the influences of our friends will counteract the injury we have done ourselves "There is a time and tide in the life of all nen," so Shakespeare says, "which taken at the flood will lead to fortune." We may not require much foresight to see that such a time has now arrived in the affairs of this community. The aid and influence, now al most forced upon us, by corporations as pow eriul as the corporation of which we complain, will enable us to do that which could not be done under other circumstances The monopolizing spirit of the Reading Com pany, has raised up powerful rival companies, which have the will and the ability to check its growth and power.
