THE MINERS' JOURNAL is now over fourty years old, and has a circulation greater than any other paper published in this State, and contains more reading matter than any other paper except one, published in the United States. The yearly subscription price of the MINERS' JOURNAL is $2 75 per annum, but for convenience in making change the fraction of one dollar is added to each, and thus the subscription price of six cents, on each publication, is included, and found in a majority of cases due to entitle the paper to be delivered from the city publication office. And yet such numbers will be furnished during a year for $2 75 in advance, or six cents per week.

The principle of the JOURNAL has been good qualifying it as it has, it now ever outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the largest circulation of any paper published in Pennsylvania, and is steadily on the increase. As an advertising medium in this section of the State, it is most valuable.
