AFFIXING POSTAGE STAMPS .- The fact that many people do not seem to have learned that the proper place upon a letter for a postage stamp is upon the upper right hand corner, has suggested the idea to a Bostonian of giving printed directions on the back of each stamp as to how it should be used, by use of the words "stick this stamp upon the upper right hand corner of your letter." He proposes to bring the subject to the attention of the Postoffice Department, if he receives favorable responses to his Smoke. letters addressed to Postmasters in first class offices asking their opinions.

PROBABLE MURDER AT KANE, MC-KEAN COUNTY .- Last Wednesday morning, 20th inst., the body of Mrs. Patrick Burns and that of her child were found under a barn near their residence at Kane. As it was known that Patrick Burns was in the habit of getting drunk, and when in that state, of abusing his wife and child, even at times compelling them to fly for their lives to the neighbors, it was supposed he had driven them out into the cold and they had taken refuge under the barn, and had frozen to death. On Thursday a post morten examination was made of the bodies, when it was discovered that Mrs. Burns had died from strangulation, as prints of fingers could be plainly seen on her throat. A jury was impaneled, which after sitting three days rendered a verdict that deceased came to their death and all her people were against it. by the hards of Patrick Burgs or some person o persons unknown. SAYS a late issue of the Philadelphia City Item: "Ingenuity has been taxed to find the surest and most direct means of reaching the public and the business man who would advertise a speciality, and get the greatest good out of the greatest number, in the shortest space of time, is compelled to go to G.o. P. Rowell & C., of New York, for alvice. Why to this house. Because it is the head and front of the advertising business. It is prompt, methodical and clear in its transactions, and possesses the confidence of all the houses which advertise most.

OVERWORKED BRAINS .- A general error prevails on this subject. Nearly all the cases of sickness or exhaustion from excessive mental labor that we read of are really the effect of overloaded stomachs. Working the brain ever so moderately on a stomach gorged with indigestable food may result in dyspepsia, paralysis or consumption; and the same might happen if the brain were not worked at all. But, f the stomach is properly fed and the bowels duly attended to, no amount of study or of headwork that any human being can perform between sunrise and sunset will occasion the least injury to the brain .-[Everybody's Journal.

This is the season of the year when the large city newspaper and magazine publishers are sending out their prospectuses into the country, and every post-office is flooded with "great inducements to subscribers for this or that periodical. This is all right, provided you do not lose sight of the fact that you have a newspaper nearer your own door that is a hundred times more closely identified with your prosperity, and more sincerely interested in the welfare of the city publications combined. A cotemporary says on this subject:

"Do the city papers say anything in regard to your own county? Nothing. Do they contain notices of your schools, your churches, meetings, improvements, and hundreds of other local matters of interest, which the county papers publish without pay? Not an item. Do they ever say a word calculated draw attention to our county and its numerous thriving towns, and aid in Vick's Illustrated Catalogue and Floral their progress and enterprise.
