An Address by the United States Centennia Commission.

To the People of the United States.

The Congress of the United States has enacted that the completion of the One Hundredth Year of American Independence shall be clebrated by an International Exhibition of the Arts, Manufactures, and Products of the soil and mine, to be held at Philadelphia, in 18-76, and has appointed a Commission, consisting of representatives from each State and Territory, to conduct the clelebra-

Originating under the auspices of the National Legislature, controlled by a National Commission, and designed as it is to " Commemorate the first Century of our existence, by an Exhibition of the natural resourses of the Country and of our progress in those Arts which benefit mankind, in compairson with those of older Nations," it is to the people at large that the Commission look for the aid which is necessary to make the Cenlennial Celebration the grandest anniversary the world has ever seen.

That the completion of the first century of our existence should be marked by some imposing demonstration is, we believe, the patriotic wish of the people of the whole country. The Congress of the United States has wisely decided that the Birth day of the Great Republie can be most fittingly celebrated by the universal collection and display of all the trophies of its progress. It is designed to bring together, within a building covering fifty acres, not only the various productions of our mines and of the soil, but types of all the intellectual triumphs of our citizens, specimens of everything that America can formsh, whether from the brains or the hands of her children, and thus make evident to the world the advancement of which a self governed people is capable.

In this "Celebration" all nations will be invited to participate; its character being International. Europe will display her manufactures, India her curious fabrics, while newly opened China and for centuries their ingonious people have been perfecting. Each land will comsuperior excellence.

To this grand gathering every zone will contribute its fruits and cereals. No eloquently of the supreme regard in mineral shall be wanting; for what the which the "services and character of Manufacturers of the East lacks the West will supply. Un. Gen. Meade were held in the city of his der one roof will the South display in rich luxuriance her growing cottou, and the North in minuture, the ceaseless machinery of her mills converting that cetton into cloth. Fach section of the globe will send its best offerings to this will show to her sister States and to the world, how much she can add to the greatness of the nation of which she is a barmonious part.

To make the Centennial Celebration such a success as the patriotism and the pride of every American demands will require the co-operation of the people of the whole country. The United States Centennial Commission has received no Government aid, such as England extended to her World's Fair, and France to her Universal Exposition, yet the labor and responsibility imposed upon the sowed broadcast in a ten acre field of Commission is as great as in either of those undertakings. It is estimated that ten millions of dollars will be required, and this sum Congress has provided shall en fire. P. S .- No farmer of good be raised by stock subscription, and that moral character should be without this the people shall have the opportunity of rakesubscribing in proportion to the popularitories.

The Commission looks to the unfailing patriotism of the people of every section, to see that each contribute s its share to the expenses, and receives its share of the benefits of an enterprise in which all are so deeply interested. It would further earnestly urge the formation in each State and Territory of a centennial organization, which shall in time see that county associations are formed, so that in 1876 each Commonwealth can view with pride the contributions she has made to the national glory.

patriotism ever displayed by our people in every national undertaking, we pledge and prophecy, that the Centennial Celebration will worthily show how greatness, wealth and intelligence, can be fostered by such institutious as those which have for one hundred years blessed the people of the United States. JOSEPH R. HAWLEY, President.

Friday evening November 29th 1872. about seven o'clock, Horace Greeley, a man of note in American Journalism breathed his last. For more than thirty years Mr. Greeley has been at the head of the New York Tribune, indeed be papers of the world.

To say that Mr. Greeley was not a great man would only be to array oneself against the facts of history. Mr. Greeley was ranked among the first of the great mental lights of the age. He was an unremiting toiler, devoting the energies of bodo and mind and body

But the great journalist has written errors of life, our common humanity covere all with the mantle of charity, and a whole nation mourns the loss of one of its greatest sons.

The Presidents Message.

The President's Message like every document of the kind coming from Gen. Grant, is brief but to the point. The nation through him as the chief magis trate is informed officially of our relaprosperous and peaceable condition of readers. affairs at home. He dwells at some length on the finances of the country giving a very full and complete statement in detail of the receipts and disbursements of revenue from all sources for the fiscal year, and up to date of Publication, showing that our national debt has been greatley reduced during the year. Indeed all matters that concern and interest a great nation are fully. yet briefly discussed by the President.

It also speaks home. In a few days in the quietest possible way, the Meade fund, which was intended to be fifty thousand dollars, has mounted up to one hundred and three thousand dollars. Philadeldhia may well feel gratified at this demonstration of exhibition, and each State of the Union, what she may do, in her pulet way, for as a member of one united body politic, a noble object. PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for Decemtion of their respective States and Ter ber is on our table in advance, and is a perfect gein. This is, without doubt, he cheapest of the really good lady's books. It contains, every year, one thousand pages; fourteen steel engravings; twelve colored Berlin patterns; twenty-four pages of music; and more than a hundred novelets and original stories by the best American writers. There is no deception about it! Yet the price is only two dol?ars, or a dollar less than magazines of its class. No wonder it has the largest circulation in the world! To clubs it is cheaper still .-Thus, five copies are sent for eight dolwhen the nations are gathered together lars, or eight copies for twelve dollars, 12 copies for seventeen dollars. To the person getting up either of these clubs an extra copy is given as a premium, and also a supurb five-dollar engraving for Confidently relying on the zeal and framing, "Christ Weeping Over Jerusalem." Specimens of the magazine are sent, gratis; so write for one, and see for yourselves. Now is the time to subscribe, or to get up clubs for 1873. Address CHARTES J. ARTHUR BONNICASTLE.

This is the title of a new serial commencing with the November number of "Scribner's Monthly," by D. J. G. Holland. A charming story it is, it from its first chapter we may be allowed to form an opinion as to its merits. We was its founder, and for many years it read the twelve pages comprising this was the most extensively circulated news first chapter and regretted that more had not been served out at this first setting. and expressed a desire for the December Number that we might see how offairs went with the old laudlady and little Arthur, but we shall have to wait till it comes. Atthur Bonnicastle is not of the light, trifling, sen-ational story conmodity so abundant in the literary mark et of the day, but on the other hand s in building up, and giving character to just such a story as every body should read, that they may have a season of interrup ed all-alone chat with the loves and friends of yore. It demonstrates his last line, the curtain has fallen, and the fact that the often heralded sentiwhatever may have been his faults, and ment, "let by gones, be by gones," is tle mearest thing on paper, without the shadow of foundation in fact. Every human being has his and her "by gones," son e pleasant, some not o pleasant. There are none so gay, or so old but what love to be alone in company with their part of life. This story greatley helps us to get back into the days of other years, restoration of vitality it gives to the and in memory mingle with those whom we were once associated in fact. It helps us also to bury in oblivion the part u t so pleasant, and not so desirable to be remember d. Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or missmatic from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

No one remedy is londer called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Agne. Such we are now canbled to offer, with a perfect cartainty that it will eradicate the discase, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Precention is better than care, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "Cutte" expels the miasmatic poison of Feven and Agus from the system, and prevents the development of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the hest remedy everyed discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of everybody: and in bilious districts, where Feven and Agus prevails, everybody should have it, and use it freely, both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains an Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the minemate poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Charrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This crue of the minemate of the stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this ef-fectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that Cherner Pecroral will and does relieve and sure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it savos unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, Cherry Pectoral. and Chest of childhood, CHEERY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.
