The following Platform of principles was read and adopted:

We, the Republicans of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, renew our expressions of confidence in and devotion to the principles of Republicanism, and declare-

First-That we heartily endorse and re-adopt the Republican National and State platforms of 1872.

Second-That the national administration commands our continued confidence, and is entitled, by its promotion of the best interests and prosperity of the nation, to the earnest support of the people. Third—That the administration of Governor Hartranft calls for our warmest approbation. During the short time he has been in the Executive Department he has established a State policy which has justly endeared him to the people of this Commonwealth, and has amply justified the confidence we have placed in him.

Fourth-That while earnestly in favor of constitutional reform, and such revision of our State constitution as will make it an effective instrument in preventing and punishing the corrupt abuses that have crept in under our present system, we demand, emphatically and especially, that whatever is done or left undone, the main purpose for which the Constitutional Convention was called-the absolute prevention of special legislation-shall be so placed before the people as to secure their seperate and decisive action thereon.

Fifth-That the reduction of the State debt from $41,000,000 to $26.-000,000; the establishment of schools for the support of soldier's orphans; the maintenance of our excellent and prosperous system of public schools; and the establishment of the policy of paying off our debt at the rate of $2,000,-000 a year; together with the prosperous old Common wealth, are evidences that the Republicans, during their twelve years' control in Penusylvania have faithfully administered her affairs, and that the reins of government may safely he left in their hands.
