HENRY A. PARSONS, JR. - Editor
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1874.

THE GENERAL ELECTION LAW.

We print elsewhere the general election bill as it goes to the Governor for his signature. It has the distinction of being the first law framed under the new Constitution. We presume it is as fair and non-partisan a measure of the kind as ever emanated from the Legislature, and amendments proposed were considered, throughout the long discussions on the bill, not on the basis of their political leanings, but solely on the principal whether they would subvert pure elections. It is barely possible there would be anything under this bill, but so manifold are the guards contained in it, and in the Constitution itself, that a community that now tolerates electoral frauds merits no better fate. It goes as far as any law should go, and if the people of any city are not capable of taking some little part in defending their rights, such communities deserve all the oppositions of the "rounder" and "bilox-box stuffer." There have been complaints of frauds from Philadelphia until the people have become nauseated by them. If they are continued under this law, the capacity of that city for self-government will be questioned.

PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS.

A prominent New York physician lately complained to Dundas Dick, about his Sandalwood Oil Capsules, stating that sometimes they cured miraculously; but that a patient of his had taken them for some time without effect. On being informed that several imitations were made and sold, he inquired and found that his patient had been taking capsules sold in bottles, and not DUNDAS DICK'S.

Its well known and established character in the past will be maintained in the future it will continue to advocate the cause of the people, without reference to individual interests, and will render all combats of demagogues, in whatever quarter it may appear. The TELEGRAPH will maintain its political independence of all semblance of all partisan "rings," and at the same time will advocate the principals of the Republican party and support its nominees when they are deserving of support.

PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS.

OIL OF SANDLEWOOD is fast superseding every other remedy, sixty Capsules ONLY being required to insure a safe and certain cure in six or eight days. From another medicine can this result be had. Dr. S. S. Carter's solve the problem long considered by many eminent physicians, of how to avoid the nausea and disagreeable experience in swallowing, which are well known to detract from, if not destroy, the good effects of many valuable remedies. Soft Capsules are put up in the full and neat boxes, thirty in each, and are the only capsules prescribed by Physicians.
