DESTRUCTIVE FIRES AT WARREN PA .- At one o'clock Sunday morning. May 10th, the alarm of fire was sounded and as most persons were sleeping, it was some time before anything was done to stay the progress of the flames. The fire was first discovered in the rear of Andrew Meehan's boot and shoe store between Keystone block and the Episcopal church. The fire company, with their new engine, the Rufus P. King, were promptly on the ground, and after two hours hard work the fire was quelled property in its course. The Ledger says, bardly had the people reached their homes when the$75 00 alarm of fire was again sounded. This time it was in another part of the street pearly two blocks away, between the building of J. N. Schnur and the Russell House. The rear of these buildings were on fire in a short time, burning from the outside as the other was discovered to be. The smell of the smoke of kerosene oil was discovered, and the fire was rapid like that made from oil. It was poured on the sidewalk in front of the buildings, showing unmistakably it to be the work of an incendiary, as the other had been. Eleven o'clock .- The church bells are ringing for religious service.
