FATAL ACCIDENT .--- A sad and fata ecident happened to Ellis P. Gatchell, a farmer of East Nottingham township, on Friday last. In the morning Mr

Gatchell had taken his horses from the field and was driving them up the road to the stable; one of them stopped to eat grass on the road side when Mr. G. went up behind him without speaking and struck him on the flank with his hand, whereupon the horse kicked him violently in the stomach. This occurred near the residence of John McVey, a close neighbor who hearing an exclamation from Mr Gatchell, ran out and saw him fall to the ground. Mr. Mc-

Vey and family carried the injured man into their house and summoned his family and Dr. Hutchinson; but after suffering intensely during the day he died at 7 o'clock the same evening, at Mr. McVey's residence.
