Facts for Voters.

We commend the attention of voters to the following: The new Constitution forbids all persons from voting unless they have been assessed at least two months and paid their taxes at least one month before the date of the election.

Petroleum.

The special report on the petroleum of Pennsylvania, its production, transportation, manufactures and statistics, is one of the most interesting volumes ever issued under State auspices.

The prospect of separation from one of her children, added to the previous unhappiness of her position, manifested preyed upon her mind, and she was very much depressed.

At the date of the report, which was prepared last December the tankage of the oil region amounted to over 3,100,000 barrels, and the balance of trade was of course disturbed by this great production.

The refining capacity of the United States at the date of the report was put at 46,576 barrels per day, of which Pittsburg was credited with 6,090 barrels per day, Cleveland 11,732 barrels per day.

As to general hints, facts, etc., in the report, we notice the statement that the safety of all oil is increased by age.

A Funeral at Reading Disturbed—the Recent Salsola Case.

On Friday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Philip Bissinger and her three children, whose death by drowning occurred in Reading on Tuesday, took place from the house of the husband and father.

The utmost excitement prevailed and a very large concourse of people followed the bodies to the grave, the procession comprising over thirty carriages, and not less than 1,000 people on foot.

For an hour before the time for the funeral, the house was surrounded by excited people, and the excitement was so great that a detachment of police kept guard on the premises.

The circumstances attending the death of the mother and children were such as create the strongest interest, which partakes very largely of indignation.

Philip Bissinger is the keeper of a saloon on Penn street, in this place, and his family consisted of himself, his wife, a woman of about thirty years, and three small children, a boy and two girls.

His mother also made her home with his family. Of late, it is said, there has been considerable unhappiness, caused, the neighbors say, by the treatment of Mrs. Bissinger by her husband and his mother.

The report commonly accepted is that Bissinger had bestowed his affections upon an unmarried woman named Philadelphia, whom he frequently visited, and who was accordingly according to a lady who is well informed, an illegitimate child.

On Monday, as is stated, a quarrel took place between husband and wife on this account, and he ordered her out of his sight.

He told her he would give her $2,000 to go away, and return no more, she to take the two girls, and he to keep the boy, and she threatened to kill her if she returned.

This prospect of separation from one of her children, added to the previous unhappiness of her position, manifested preyed upon her mind, and she was very much depressed.

On Tuesday, accompanied by her three children, she left the house and entered a street car in which she rode out of the city for a distance of about two and a half miles, to a point on the bank of the canal.

She had a basket with her, and this she proceeded to fill with stones, her children assisting her. Having filled the basket, she took it secretly to her waist, and then, taking a child under each arm and holding the third child to her breast, she jumped into the canal.

The cries of the children attracted the attention of a man who could not swim, and before he could get help all were drowned. The bodies were recovered and taken to the undertaker's shop, where they were identified.

They were removed to the house of the husband and father, and he was notified of the occurrence, receiving the news, it is said while in company with the woman who had caused the unhappiness.

So great was the indignation among the people at large that a detachment of police was kept guarding his house from the first until after the funeral.

It is stated that in the crowd in attendance not less than fifty men, and even women, were armed with pistols for the avowed purpose of shooting Bissinger.

He was guarded by police all the way to the grave and back, and as a further protection the coffin containing the little boy's body was placed in the carriage with him.

When the bodies had been lowered into the graves, a part of the crowd hooted at Bissinger and a number of women endeavored to get at him. One shot was fired at him without effect.

He was instantly hustled into the carriage and driven off. Another shot was fired at him in passing the gate, and is supposed to have struck him as he was carried from the carriage into the house.

PITTSBURGH EVENING TELEGRAPH

AN INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN JOURNAL

A LIVE NEWSPAPER, IN ALL ITS DEPARTMENTS.

In entering upon the New Year and within a few months of the second anniversary of the first appearance of the paper the publishers of the PITTSBURGH EVENING TELEGRAPH renew their expressions of thanks to an intelligent and patriotic public for its

LIBERAL AND EVER INCREASING PATRONAGE during the year just closed. Coming into existence at a time when every kind of business was to a certain extent depressed, and when retrenchment in every direction was the rule, the TELEGRAPH has fought its way, and become, not only an established fact, but a

PRIME NECESSITY IN EVERY WELL INFORMED CIRCLE, whether it be of the counting-room, the professional office, the workshop, or the family. Its circulation, equal to the best from the start, has grown in extent and importance daily, until now it acknowledges no equal—the Dispatch and Leader—so far as the number issued daily is concerned, and no equal as to the character of its readers. These facts are so well known and appreciated by the business community, and the shareholders members thereof, that our columns have been well filled by the favors of

THE BEST CLASS OF ADVERTISERS, and we are glad to know that their faith in the TELEGRAPH as an advertising medium has been firmly established.

THE PITTSBURGH EVENING TELEGRAPH, has, we think, during the past year maintained its claim to the good will and support of the people, irrespective of party, inasmuch as its opposition to bad nominations within the party whose principles it favors was largely instrumental in procuring their defeat. While it shall be our aim to promote the established principles of the Republican party, we shall in the future, as in the past, oppose the election of men not fully qualified, or who shall by trickery or any unfair means manage to secure a place on the ticket. Honesty and capacity only will receive our support.

THE TELEGRAPH will continue to publish ALL THE NEWS OF THE DAY at the earliest moment, and in such a shape as to be acceptable to the most critical reader.

THE TELEGRAPH will continue to reflect the sentiments of the people on all public questions touching their welfare. The TELEGRAPH will uphold zealously the hands of all honest men and earnest reform, and it will, as in the past, give all sides a hearing on the topics of the time.

THE TELEGRAPH will labor with renewed zeal for the prosperity of the city and State and the advancement of the material interests of our citizens. Its will continue to be carefully attended to, and its reports of local events will be always fresh and reliable. Its SPECIAL TELEGRAMS AND CORRESPONDENCE from the Capitals of the Nation and State and from all important news centers will continue to be of the most attractive and trustworthy character. Its MARKET AND FINANCIAL REPORTS will receive the same careful attention that has been remarked in the past, and in this respect the TELEGRAPH will continue to be without a competitor. Its EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT will contain an honest expression of views on all important live topics, political and otherwise. Its NEWS AND LITERARY DEPARTMENTS, which have always enjoyed an exalted reputation, will continue to be of the same unexceptionable character. In fine, the
