Fatal Accident.

A MAN KNOCKED FROM A FREIGHT TRAIN BY THE SHAWMUT BRIDGE AND FATALLY INJURED.

Yesterday morning W. J. Shank of Renovo, a freight brakeman, was fatally injured by being knocked from his train. He was at the foot of the lader on a freight car, oiling a "hot box," and on returning to the top of the car just as the train was entering the Shawmut bridge, was thrown off, and between the cars. His right arm and leg were broken in several places, and it is supposed he was injured internally. The injured man died last night and was taken to Renovo for interment. Deceased was a man about twenty-five years of age and has a wife and two Ridgway, Elk Co., Par children at Renovo.

Correspondence From Northwestern Ponn-

Ridgway; Elk county, Pa., Aug. 26 1875.—By advice of physicians I am spending a few weeks in the mountains (accompanied by my wife,) in the healthy air of the pine and hemlock forests, for recreation and the promotion of health, at the same time making observations among the people and in the country which may be useful in my calling.

Yesterday a week ago we came here to Ridgway, the county seat of Elk county, on the Philadelphia and Eric Railroad, about halfway between Williamsport and . Erie situated on the western part of the Alleghany Monntains, wh ere we are high up in the pure air, water and other good gifts of nature. Ridgway was named after Mr. Jacob Ridgway, of Philadelphia, who us red about 40,000 acres of land in this neighborhood, and who sent Mr. James L. Gillis here fifty-three years ago to dispose of it. This whole county was then a perfect wilderness, with howling wolfs, with plenty of deer, bears, panthers and other wild acimals.

After Ridgway was settled by a few persons a colony of German Catholics commenced a large settlement ten miles from bere, establishing the town of St. Mary's which now numbers 3000 inhabitants, most all of them Catholies, with a very large German and also a good sized English Catholic Church, and other institutions belonging to them. St. Mary's commenced with great personal sacrifices and under many privations, has now become a great stronghold of the Catholic church is this part of the State. Ridgway numbers about 800 inhabitants, with four churches, and a fine large school house, and has greatly improved in every respect during the last used for banking and public office purposes, and being painted white and partly surrounded with flowers make an attractive appearance. Among the new-comers is our friend Foundry and in Mr. Ainey's Furnace, and was also a very active member of the English Reformed (Rev. Wagner's) Church. He moved here with his family during last month, and is now, with the assistance of Mr. Hyde, (one of the wealthiest men of the place,) building a well-arranged foundry and maching shop, which will no doubt add greatly to the business of Ridgway. There are two large tanneries here, eighty hands, for whose accommodation ouilt, and the rent of which amounts to | in full. only $3 or $4 per month. The men must work eleven hours a day, from six one-half are Swedes and about twenty-five Germans. Mr. Grant, of New York, manages one of the tanneries, and is now building himself a fine frame house for his home near it. The other, the largest lishments of the kind in the country, is owned and controlled by Mr. W. H Osterhout, a native of Ulster county New York, a man of wealth and great ousiness tact and activity. Yesterday we spent a very pleasant evening with him and his excellent family at his fine mansion, celebrated for its hospitality and refinement. Last Sunday we had services in three languages in the Lutheran Church. English, Swedish and German, at 11, 1 and 3 o'clock. The Sunday School was held in the morning at half-past nine o'clock. At half-past five o'clock we attended Episcopal services, and at halfpast seven o'clock we heard a good sermon from Mr. Stevens, a Presbyterian clergyman, who came from Ireland when young. He spoke an hour and a quarter-rather long for an evening sermon -but kept the audience very attentive to the close. After having been to church five times and to Suuday School once, we retired to rest. On Tuesday was a Saint's Day in the Episcopal Church-St. Bartholomew's-and the Rector, Mr. Miller, whose worthy family I knew well at Washington, Pa., had service in the morning, and we attended. The congregation itself being not large and the people not yet accustomed to week-day or Saint's Day services, the number present was very small, but the faithful Rector went through with the regular services as if the church had been full. During the last four years the Rev Father Breneman, a faithful missionary of the Pittsburg Synod, in Elk and adjoining counties, visited from house to house, traveling often long distances on foot in visiting and collecting the scattered Lutherans, some of whom lived here twenty years without seeing a Lutheran minister, Here in Ridgway he has collected a promising congregation and built a fine church, some of the members coming a long distance, often on foot, to attend service. The Methodists have also an active congregation and a church, newly built, here.

As the pulpit and the press belong together, I visited both printing offices in Ridgway, and became accquainted with the editor of the E.k County Democret and the editor of the Elk County Advocate both respectable pa-pers and worthy of the support of the During our stay in Ridgway the great kindness and hospitality of the oldest residents.

From the Allentown Chron. & News. | More than three-fourths of the land of Elk county is yet woodland, and had, be fore the establishment of the tanneries. served the world only by its timberpine and hemlock lumber. The sawmills are numerous. Mr. Hyde alone owns about a dozen of them, of which seven are now in operation. Hard times affect these regions as well as other parts of the country, and the ladoring men must work hard for wages a good deal business of tanning seems to have be come more profitable. In regard to the qualities of the soil for agricultural purposes there is a difference of opinion among persons with whom I have conversed on the subject, and I cannot decide. Potatoes, oats and grain that does not require a very long summer is raised mostly now. The future must yet be developed.

When I had written thus far, Judge

James L. Gillis, a venerable looking gentleman, 83 years of age, called to see me to give me some information which I desired. He was, although quite a young man then, an officer in the war of Legislature at Harrisburg, was a member of Congress for a number of years, and served as Indian Agent among the years, under the administration of honor and trust. He was no doubt the leading man in business and politics in this part of the country for about 40 years, up to 1862, when he moved to Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, where he now resides, and is at present only here on a the Susquehanna river, in January, visit. I "interviewed" the bright and very intelligent old gentleman for several hours, and he gave me an exceedingly instructive history of his life, experience and observations during more than fifty years. He came here from Jersey Shore and Lock Haven. Here the State of New York in 1822 with an ox team and six or eight hired men to make the first settlement in the district now called Elk county. After he had built a small and cheap house, he brought his family here in the following Summer. Then he opened roads in the wilderness and used all possible means to develope and improve the large tract of land until then only used Shore, and began his legal studies. as hunting grounds by the Indians. five years. All the houses are built of The nearest Post-office he had when he wood, except the jail and a few others came here was in Coudersport, Potter county, 70 miles from here, where the mail arrived once in two week. His nearest neighbors were 16 miles one way and 24 the other way. For county 1829, and immediately entered upon the and judicial business he had to go to D. K Kline, from Allentown, who was the county seat of Indiana county, with formerly employed in Mr. Fisher's which this county then was in connection, a distance of 80 miles, always traveling on horseback mostly through dense forests where he seldom met a human being.

Judge Gillis said: "I have outlived all the Presidents of the United States. but one, "Grant, being born in 1792, when the Father of his Country" was still living. The Judge is in many respects one of the most remarkable men I ever met. The amount of his exone employing about thirty, the other perience as Agent of the Government among the Indian tribes in the West, as neat frame tenant houses, with yards in | well as his life among the wild regions | 3, showing himself in that post a faithfront and gardens behind, have been of Pennsylvania deserve to be published ful and accurate public servant. In

Father Gillis says that this part of the State will never be of great value as to six with an hour for dinner. Almost farming country, and says with Greeley in 1861, holding the office for a term of to young men, "Go West."

In conclusion I would advise young people to learn from old people, listen to their history, much of which is not found in books, and treasure it up before it is too late. The experience tannery here and one of the best estab- and the wisdom of the aged should be more appreciated by the young. S. K. B.

The Warren Mail says:

The Tramp Nuisance.

The people of Warren and vicinity have long been annoyed by tramps or vagabond tourists, and last winter the lock-up alone accommodated over six hundred. Something should be done to stop them. Last Wednesday Judge Vincent of Erie, addressed the grand jury as follows, from the Dispatch: He informed that body that it is a country is being overrun with trampsa class of persons constantly on the move, a great majority of whom will not work when they can find anything to do, but live by plunder and outlawry. He said that as long ago as 1767 acts of Assembly had been passed to protect the people against such things, and proceeded to read an act defining vagrancy and prescribing a remedy in the form of work houses and jails where vagrants the nigt-mare of debt, your sleep will be may be sent and employed at hard labor, e.c. He also read an act of a later date relating to the counties of Warren Erie and Crawford, providing for the arrest of vagrants and bringing them before the Mayor of any city, the Burgess of any borough, or the Justice of any township, which officials are empowered to execute the law, appoint special policemen, etc., and in case of a neglect or refusal, then the Court of Quarter Sessions shall attend to it. It would seem then, he remarked that there is ample provision already provided for taking care of vagrants provided there is a place to put them, and that it was his opinion that the County Commissioners had the power to create a workhouse, and that if the jury made a presentment to that effect, he should deem it proper and right. He declared that the evil s on the increase, and that if the law does not step in to check it, the people will be obliged to step outside the law to protect themselves, and as he could not counsel law breaking; he thought it advisible to act within the law.

From the Wellsboro Agitator, Sept. 7 The Late Judge White-

For the last few years the late Pres'dent Judge of this district, Hon. R. G. White, has been gradually failing in health, suffering from time to time from attacks of epilepsy. About three years ago, while in his office, he fell from such an attack, striking against a safe and lower than a few years ago, whilst the dislocating his hip. From this severe injury he never fully recovered, and from that time he was seen but seldom on our streets, and relinquished almost entirely the transaction of business. For several months past, however, there had seemed to be no immediate danger of dissolution, and his death came finally as a surprise to those about him. Last Sunday he fell again on his own premises, injuring his side somewhat, and bringing on, during the night, attacks of the nature of pleurisy. These attacks were not regarded as especially 1812-15 served in both Houses of the dangerous, however, until about six o'clock yesterday morning, when a very decided change for the worse was Shawnee tribe in the far West for three | noticed. From that time he sank peacefully away until he expired at about Buchanan, and filled other positions of half-past six in the morning. He was conscious until a short time before his

Robert Gray White was born in Northumberland county, on an island in 1807. His father died when Robert was still quite young, and his mother married again, the family removing to a point on the West Branch between were passed the early years of the young man. He entered Jefferson College, Washington county, at a comparatively early age, and in due time was graduated. Having selected the bar as the field of his future labors, he entered the office of Judge Parsons, of Jersey He atterward read law for a time at Pitisburg and afterwards with Judge Shippen at Meadville. His preparatory studies completed, he came Wellsboro late in the year practice of his profession. The young attorney was at once recognized as an able member of the profession, and his name and fair fame have from that time been most intimately associated with the political and business history of the county. He was the delegate from this district-then consisting, we believe, of Tioga and Potter counties-to the Convention which framed the State Constitution of 1838, and discharged the duties of that office with marked ability. He was County Treasurer in 1842 and 1851 he was elected President Judge of this judicial district, and was reelected twenty years. In this position he was held in high honor by the bench and bar of the State, being recognized as a sound lawyer and an upright, impartial, and judicious judge.

The tollowing, from the Venango Spectator, should be preserved for fo ut . eference: When a lamp explodes or is upset and the oil takes fire, great difficulty is experienced in extinguishing the flames. Water does harm, for it spreads the oil and increases the area of the fire. A heavy cloth thrown over the blaze will stifle it, and so will loose earth, but these are not often at hand. The best check to an oil fire in such emergencies is flour, and it is generally accessimatter of public notorie'y that the ble. Liberally scattered over burning oil it absords the fluid, deadens the flame, and can readily be athered up and thrown out-doors when the fire is extinguished.
