Wilcox, Pa. Oct. 16th, 1876. Bert Bevier fell head first through a hole in the mill floor, a few days ago, upon a large belt that was in motion which skinned his head, face, and ears in a shocking manner. His foot was caught between the belt and a pully. The mill being just on the point of stopping his life was saved. The fall was about twelve feet and it is the greatest wonder that he escaped

Senatorial Conference.

As mentioned in yesterday's issue the Republican conferees of the Thirty eighth Senatorial district met at Tionesta yesterday for the purpose of selecting a candidate. This district is composed of Clarion, Forest, Elk and Cameron counties, and within its Cameron counties, and within its boundaries lies a portion of the oil field, one of the greatest industries of the State, and the one most needing legislative representation. The conferces of the different counties were cognizant of this, and on the second ballot Major Wetter, one of Clarion's prominent oil men, was nominated unaumously. A better selection could scarcely have been made. Maj. Wetter is an influential citizen, devoted to the oil business, and as a producet understands the needs of our industry. As a business man his record is excellent, he having made for himself a good income from the oil business, while as a gentleman and man of henor he is without a stain. The oil men of Clarion will be delighted with may rest assured that Maj. Newspapers at the Centennial. The Special Correspondent of the London

Times says it would be difficult to find an apter illustration of the big way in which the Americaus do things than that furnished "Centennial Newspaper Building." in the Exhibition grounds. Here you may see any one, or, if you like, all of the 8,129 newspapers published regularly in the United States, and see them, one and all, for nothing! You are not only permitted as a favor to see them, but invited, nay, pressed, to confer the favor of entering, the building and calling for what paper you like. It is about as cool and agreea-ble a place—quite apart from its literary attractions—as a visitor to the Exhibition could wish to be offered a chair in, He may at first wonder how, among 8,000 papers among them such mighty sheets as the New York Herald, he is to get at the small, loved print of his home, thousands of miles away, it may be, over the Rocky Mountains. But the management is so 2 All sales no: settled immediately will be continued until six o'clock, P. M., at which time all property not settled for will again be put up, and sold at the expense and risk of the person to whom it was first struck off, and who in case of deficiency at such re-sale, shall make good the same and in no instance will the decoder of the same and in no instance will the decoder of the catalogue, or one can at once find whatever paper he wants. They are pigeon-holed on shelves or Territories and their towns, the names of which are clearly labelled on the shelves. The proprietors of the Centennial Names paper Building are simple that by consulting the catalogue, or The proprietors of the Centennial News-paper Building are advertising agents, the largest in all America—Messrs. G. P. Rowell & Co., of New York. Their enterprise will cost altogether about $20,000, or $40,000, including the building and the ex-penses of "running" it for six months. The 8,000 and odd American newspapers are declared, by the same authority, to ex-ceed "the combined issues of all the other nations of the carth."
