SNOW STORM .- Our readers have noticed, we persume, the snow fall of Saturday evening. At least by the number of men employed on the Sabbath Day shoveling paths and cleaning off roofs, we judge some people were aware that snow had fallen. The fact is, laying saide all jokes, one of the heaviest falls of snow ever known in this section fell during Saturday night and Sunday morning. The snow now covers the ground and house tops to a depth of two to four feet. The barn in the rear of Powell & Kime's store caved in. The roads are almost impassible. New York, January 4.-Last night a sleighing party from Astoria approached Hunter's Point Ferry to Thirty-fourth street, New York. The large sleigh was drawn by two horses and contained besides the driver, three ladies and three gentlemen. From some cause the gate of the ferry was open, though the boat had leftithe slip. The speed at which the horses were going and the slippery descent to the Bridge rendered it impossible to stop the team, and horses, sleigh, men and women were precipitated into the water. All but one of the party were rescued. The missing man is Wm. Fearens, of Astoria. One lady had an arm broken. The horses went under the ice and were lost.

Cheyenne, Wy. T., Jan. 7 .- Col. Mason, post commander at Fort Robinson, Red Cloud agency, telegraph Gen Crook to-day that he believed that he could get Spotted Tail to go out and bring in Crazy Horse, if the General would permit the acceptance of the hostile chief's offer to surrender on his giving up his arms and ponies. Gen. Crook telegraphed in reply that Col Mason could accept the surrender on the terms named. I learned to-day that Crazy Horse is a son of Spotted Tail's brother. If old Spot undertakes the mission he will probably succeed, and thus substantially end the Indian war. That he will endeavor to do so seems likely, as he dislikes the prospect of a trip to the Indian territory, and wishes to strengthen his influence with the whites so that his request to stay where he is may be respected. General Crook goes to Red Clond in a few days.
