Business is surely reviving all over the cou by. We can see evidences of returnin, prosperity all around us. As we approach a specie basis, and as resumption is already practically achieved, a degree of confidence is manifest among the manufacturing and commercial communities that is really cheering. Our own little community begins to show signs of improvement. Our two fine tauneries are running full time and making money, as they deserve to. Our other industries are beginning to thrive. Labor will soon begin to receive a better reward, and then will commence a new era of prosperity. Our merchants are preparing for an increased trade already commenced. Particularly, we notice our down-stair firm, Powell & Kime, are receiving new goods nearly every day. They have a resident buyer in New York, who is constantly watching the markets, and when any sacrifices are to be made, is on hand to make good bargains. In this way P. & K. keep their stock fresh and com-plete, and at less than market prices. They are also keeping their grocery and provision department well filled with everything desirable. Go in and see them often and thus secure good bargains.
