Hurray for the Gal-rious Fourth. No paper will be issued from this office next week. Punkies help a fellow make garden and help to make him mad at the same time. Company H, 25 men and officers, paraded last evening and were inspected by Captain Schoening. The boys still persist in going in swimming back of the Hyde House in the mill race. This practice should cease. A new organ has been purchased of D. S. Andrus & Co., Williamsport, for the Lutheran church at this place. John Miller has also a new organ from the same firm. Another improvement in the Hyde House. Joel Miller's barber shop has been enlarged, and the entrance to the bar-room changed from the Main street front to the side on Broad street. In the Supreme Court the following Elk county cases have been disposed of: Township of Ridgway vs. Wheeler et al. Judgment reversed and new trial granted; Saltonstall et al. vs. Little et al. Judgment reversed. An old cow nearly choked to death while endeavoring to scale J. Powell's new iron fence the other day. She caught her neck on one of the iron spears of the fence, and it was with difficulty the old bovine was rescued from her perilous position. A Grand Lawn Party. Chinese lanterns have been ordered. Saturday from 7 till 10:30, P. M. at Mrs. Chapin's on Centre St. Ice cream, strawberries, lemonade &c., &c. Proceeds for the benefit of the Presbyterian society. All come and have a social time. Jacob Butterfuss has purchased J. S. Powell's harness and shoe shop and moved into the building recently occupied by Mr. Powell. He is now prepared to get you up a first-class harness, or make you a neat fitting and substantial boot or shoe at reasonable prices. Give him a call. Company H will parade on the morning of the "Glorious Fourth" in their new uniform. The Company will form in their army at 8 o'clock, A. M. sharp. It is especially desired on this occasion that every officer and member be present promptly at the time named. A new time table will go into effect on the middle division P. & E. R. R. on and after Sunday next. We have not learned what the alteration is. No additional passenger train will be run on the new schedule. The vain hope that the accommodation would be replaced is, therefore, vanished. We understand that the passing siding of the P. & E. R. R. at this place is to be extended to near Judge Whitmore's residence at Eagle Valley. The telegraph office is to be moved around the curve to the tannery. This arrangement will greatly increase the usefulness of the siding, but will make it very inconvenient for passengers wishing to learn if trains are on time. Monday morning last O. C. Kelle's team ran away smashing the wagon and scattering his packages in all directions. He was loaded up and ready to start down the creek with the mail when the accident happened and was obliged to get a buggy before he could proceed on his way. Peter Mann rushed out at great risk of personal injury, and seizing the horses by the head stopped them, thereby preventing greater damage to the team and wagon. Brockport, Elk Co., Pa. CORNER STONE LAYING.—The corner stone of the M. E. Church of Brockport will be laid on Saturday July 5th, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Rev. B. F. Delo, Presiding Elder of Clarion District, will be present and deliver an address; addresses will also be delivered by Revs. C. C. Hunt and J. W. Martin. We expect the Hon. John G. Hall, of Ridgway, to be present and deliver an address. There will be a dinner in the grove given for the low sum of twenty-five cents per head. Proceeds to be applied on the church. Come and hear the addresses and do not forget the dinner. B. The Ridgway Dramatic Society will give an entertainment in Hyde's Opera House on Thursday evening of next week, July 3d. The previous entertainment given by this society elicited warm applause, and we feel confident the present one will be better than heretofore, judging from the earnest manner in which the member of the society have taken hold of the new plays. Persons attending this entertainment will get the worth of their money and the right change back and don't you forget it. Come and bring the children and have an evening's enjoyment and at the same time encourage a home institution. For further particulars see bills.

Slings of a Personal Nature.

Fred. Fitch has a new gold watch. Ben. Dill has bought himself a pig. Newt. Rhines didn't raise that moustache in vain. Michael Fearn, of Wilcox, was in Brockwayville. Mrs. Chapin is on a visit to friends in Brookwayville. Jim. McAfee's dog "bouncer" is a heavy piece of dog flesh. Mrs. Horton has a new plecter fence in front of her residence on South street. Lieutenant Horton is better at shooting snipe than he is at raising "garden sass." Arthur B. Little is home on a visit, looking first-rate. It must be that city air agrees with him. A new house is being built by the Supervisors for Mrs. O'Brien at the west end of Centre street. Morgester has hoisted an extensive board awning, across the sidewalk, in front of his new place of business. Peter Kennedy, for a number of years a town charge, has gone to live with his son in the northern part of Yorktown. Frank C. Ely fell on an ax on Thursday last, cutting his right hand in a frightful manner. The wound is healing rapidly. Mrs. Warner, mother of Mrs. W. S. Service, died in Broome county, N. Y., June 15th, 1879, after an illness of four months, aged 79. J. S. Powell has sold out his harness and shoe shop, bob, hook, and sinker, to Jacob Butterfuss, and is now clerking in Hyde's store. Talbot Cuthbert is home and sick. This reminds us that Talbot took unto himself a wife, a few weeks ago, and didn't even hand us in the notice. Ed. Powell has killed thirteen snakes this summer and the ADVOCATE devil two. We'll bet on the devil if you give him half a chance. Trout fishing is engaged in to a great extent by our citizens. Nevertheless, all the same, Jim. Hagerty broke over his rule not to lend his new fish bucket the very first day he had it. Miss Jenna Atherton commenced a select school in the Primary Department of the Graded School Building on Monday last, with thirty scholars. The school was gotten up by friends of Miss Atherton without her solicitation. W. K. Wright, an engineer on the P. & E. R. R., going east on fourth Empire freight June 19th, while jumping off his engine at this station, fell and was struck by the cars dislocating his shoulder and bruising him about the head. The injuries are not considered fatal, however. Captain Schoening has laid out a picnic ground on his farm on the line of the railroad east of the depot. The underbrush, old logs, etc., have been cleaned out and the ground put in first class condition. Picnic parties can obtain the use of the grove, without money and without price, by applying at the Captain's office.

MARRIED

Butter, Eggs, Cheese, Pork, Lard, Ham, Shoulder, Pickles, Canned goods and everything usually kept in a first-class grocery will be found at Morgester's.

Pete's Wilcox Budget.

Wilcox, Pa., June 24. Warm growing weather. Hay is going to be a light crop. Potatoes look fine. The Tanning Company have seventeen acres of these vegetable planted. Prof. Prideux left yesterday for his home in Huntingdon county. E. O. Aldrich and Arthur Revier are rustivating in the Bradford oil country this week. Norman Schultz of New York is visiting friends here and having a little twist with his brother Irving at shooting glass balls and tame pigeons. Some graceless scamp, not having the fear of God before his eyes, shot one of Irve Schultz's dogs a few days ago and it was a hundred dollar dog too. Another one of his blooded dogs got caught in a trap and had his leg so badly broken that it had to be amputated. J. H. Wells is bragging about a very young girl that came to his house a few days ago and says he is going to keep her. A spirited horse was left near the hotel, without being hitched, one day last week, when something frightened him and he ran away receiving injuries from which he has since died. The owner was boasting a few days before that it was perfectly safe to leave the horse half a day without hitching. It is safe to leave him a whole day now. Montgomery has Martin Sowers working his garden again this summer. What will the harvest be? It is safe to bet ten cents that we have the best roads in the county, and the township is not a dollar in debt. The Rev. Mr. Lampe preached in the Swedish language last Sunday, it having been only four weeks since he commenced the study of the language and took his first lesson in the A. B. C.'s. Who can beat that? The Watson well is down about five hundred feet. For garden or haying tools go to 42 Main street. Wm. S. Kimball & Co., Peerless chewing and smoking tobaccos at Morgester's. James McAfee, Merchant Tailor, has just received a varied and extensive assortment of spring and summer goods for gents' wear, which he will make up cheap.

The New Court House.

Every visitor to our village is pleased with the appearance of the new Court House so far as it has progressed. The foundation wall on the west side is ready for the water table, and an idea can be formed as to how the stone work will appear when completed. We are told, and we think reliably, that it is the intention to build the whole superstructure, that is the walls, of brick without any ornamentation. This we think is a mistake. Our Co. Commissioners, during their last term, earned for themselves the commendation of every one for the manner in which they had conducted the business of the office and the excellent judgment displayed by them in all places where the exercise of that faculty was required. They should remember that in erecting a building of this kind, intended for public use and to last many years, that something more than the plainest kind of work, even though it be substantial, is required. Such stone as has gone into the foundation are plenty in Ridgway and within a short distance of the public square; they cut nicely, have good color, contrasting with the brick, and will stand weather as well as granite. It seems to us that under the circumstances it would be the part of wisdom to lay up the corners of the walls at least with cut stone as it would add but very slightly to the expense. The improved appearance of the building, so ornamented, would be worth ten times the additional cost, and the idea of the architect would be more fully carried out. If it were a mere temporary structure then we should say sacrifice everything but utility to cheapness, but as it is hoped that the expenditure now made will last for generations, let us have something to please the eye as well as a structure that shall be fitted for the purpose for which it is designed. If the plan of the building is followed as it should be to make a harmonious whole, we will have a Court House of which all the citizens of our county may well be proud instead of a red brick monstrosity which no one will assume the task of christening. Messrs. Commissioners please remember that: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," and spare us the unbroken lines of brick by building the corners of the new Court House of cut stone.

Grand Picnic.

There will be a grand picnic in Hyde's grove on July Fourth, under the auspices of the Catholic Society of this place. Dancing will be permitted. Dinner will be served on the grounds, also ice cream, lemonade, cigars, &c. If you want to buy a Lounge go to Bowers'. The Boston co-operative grocery under the Presidency of Josiah Quincy, has been open three months, and is said to be a success. The plan is to sell unadulterated goods at fair prices, and return the profits to the purchasers. With every sale a certificate of the amount is given, and every three months a dividend is paid on these, shareholders receiving double the rate given to outsiders, besides six per cent on the money invested. At the first quarterly meeting, President Quincy said: "Your organization has already produced much good. Applications for your by-laws have been received from all parts of the United States. Probably more than fifty stores have been, or soon will be, opened in consequence of your example, and this most comprehensive scheme of benevolence, resting on self-help and material assistance, become general through the land." For wooden ware go to 42 Main street.

Early Monday morning.

Early Monday morning, Eugene Ludlow of Eldred, passed through this place, having in charge the remains of Miss Emma May, who was killed by lightning at Eldred on Sunday. The remains will be taken to Wellsboro, near which place the family of the deceased reside. The young lady was at Farr's boarding-house, in Eldred. The thunder-bolt struck the house, shattering the head-board of a bed on the upper floor, occupied by a sick man, but strange to relate, not injuring him. It then passed down the wall striking Miss May at the back of the head, tearing most of her clothes from her person, and killing her instantly. Several other persons were more or less injured. During the same storm, the house of A. Lennox was also struck by lightning. Mrs. Lennox received a severe shock but will recover.—Potter Enterprise. SHORT DRESSES FOR WOMEN.—A lady just returned from a protracted stay in Paris says: "I was thoroughly astonished in visiting Worth's to find all the new costumes made short. In fact, no fabric was too costly to cut up into dresses of walking length. Only dinner costumes and ball dresses were made long. House dresses, carriage dresses, promenade dresses, are all made of one length. A Parisian lady does not pretend to be seen on the streets holding up her skirts." 50 fine pine apples at Morgester's.

State Notes.

A Lancaster man had his eyes poisoned so badly that he is nearly blind by using a colored handkerchief. The town of West Chester has a gambling den in which several persons have been known to lose $500 in one day. A colored hostler of Chester named George Hall slept so soundly the other night that a cat gnawed off his toe before he awoke. Even potato bugs are not useless. A Hollidaysburg fisherman has discovered that they make excellent bait for trout and other fish. The health of Mr. Peter Herdic, of Williamsport, which was very poor, is improving. He says he has a good many years of work in him yet. The man named John Fundel-dunk, who made the indecent assault on a little girl in York, last week, on Friday was sentenced to five years in the eastern penitentiary. A West Chester man named James Dolan was bitten by a mad cat the other day. The man was awful mad about it too, and now waits the appearance of hydrophobia. Workmen excavating the cellars under the National hotel in Green-castle, Franklin county, on Friday dug up a number of human bones. It is supposed that the spot was once an Indian burial ground. A little girl, ten years of age, has arrived at the residence of her uncle in Mt. Carmel, Schuylkill county, after having travelled unaccompanied by relatives or friends from Scotland to the Schuylkill coal region. An enterprising storekeeper of Phoenixville hired a man to dress as an Indian and go about the town as an advertisement. One of the first things accomplished by the frightful looking object was to scare a child into convulsions. In Williamsport, two house painters named John Wasser and Dale Allen fell from a scaffolding to the pavement, a distance of twenty feet. The latter was only bruised, but the former received probably fatal internal injuries. A bogus revenue officer has been making things lively in Huntingdon. He managed before he was detected to collect fifteen or twenty dollars from dealers in the town for alleged violations of the revenue laws, and then skipped. Sharon, Pa., has a sensible clergyman named Allen, who with three newspapers in Sharon, does not see the necessity of making his pulpit a bulletin board for the purpose of advertising festivals, etc., and announced this fact to his congregation. The case of Andrew Tracy, McKean county, now under sentence of death for murdering a young lady, and whose friends petition a commutation of the death penalty to imprisonment for life, was continued until the next session of the Board of Pardons. Edward Lee, a farmer who resides near Burgall, Dutchess county, was found dead in Shaw's pond Sunday, with both eyes blackened, a severe bruise on the nose and a cut over the eyes. It is believed he was foully dealt with and an investigation is in progress. Farmers in the lower portion of Chester county are suffering greatly from the ravages of a new and strange looking beetle that is killing their corn. A whole field belonging to James Armstrong, in Franklin township, that county, has been destroyed necessitating him to plow and replant it. Other farmers in the same neighborhood have suffered in a similar manner. The ten year old daughter of Henry Bishop, of Annville, Lebanon county, has mysteriously disappeared and so far nothing is known of her whereabouts. On Wednesday morning the father openly accused a man named Wm. Bodenhorn of being the cause of his daughter's absence, and followed up his accusations with threats of violence. For behaving thus he was lodged in jail. The shot gun that travels around in company with the boy has appeared in Lebanon county. A youth of that section was lying on the grass beneath a tree and so was the gun. He attempted to draw the gun a little closer to him, and as he did so a tuft of grass caught the trigger and the load of shot left the barrel and took up its position in his arm. Anxious mothers please note this. When the counsel for Spattenhuber, the Lebanon murderer, entered the jail to break the news of the unfavorable action of the pardon board, in the case, the condemned man rushed forward with hope in his eyes, evidently expecting good news. When the terrible news was repeated to him and he knew that his last chance was gone, his face whitened and he trembled like an aspen leaf. The Raber murderers, who are confined in the same jail, are also much depressed by the results of the appeal in Spattenhuber's case, as they expected to be benefitted if the action had been favorable. Pittsburgh is one of the blackest of cities by reason of the smoke from its manufactures; but a plan is being tested that promises to make it clean. The proposition is to wash the smoke and the way of doing is thus described: The washing is done by passing the smoke through the spray caused by paddle wheels revolving in a tank of water holding soda ash in solution. The tank and wheels are placed in the flue between the furnace and the chimney, and the wheels being made to revolve in the direction of the chimney, the draught is increased." The smoke after being thus treated will not soil a white handkerchief.

Two Men Drowned.

Saturday afternoon last a painful accident occurred at Coder's dam, about two miles below town, resulting in the death by drowning of two young men, residents of Union township, this county. It has been the practice of a number of young men living north of the Red-bank to visit the stream Saturday afternoons and evenings for the purpose of bathing, and last Saturday, about noon, Michael Winters, son of Mr. Frank Winters, an old resident of Union township, and Mead Haugh, son of Mr. David Haugh, of the same township, aged nineteen and sixteen years respectively, repaired to the stream, and it seems that they went into the water below the dam, where it is very deep, and undertook to swim with the assistance of a plank or board, and getting into deep water went down and were unable to make their escape. An alarm was given by a brother of Winters, who was in company with them but, before assistance could be rendered they were drowned. The body of Haugh was soon recovered but that of Winters was not found until about six o'clock in the evening. Mead Haugh was an only son, the pride of his parents, and their sorrow at his untimely death is very great. Winters was the support of aged and dependent parents, and his death deals a double blow, one of sorrow for his unfortunate taking off while yet so young and full of promise of a long life of usefulness, and that of taking away the stay of their old age. We deeply sympathize with the parents and friends in their deep affliction.—Brookville Republican. A MORTGAGE.—In the whole range of sacred and profane literature, perhaps there is nothing recorded which has such staying qualities as a good healthy mortgage. A mortgage can be depended upon to stick closer than a brother. It has a mission to perform which never lets up. Day after day it is right there, nor does the slightest tendency to slumber impair its vigor in the night. Night and day, on the Sabbath, and at holiday times, without a moment's time for rest and recreation, the biting offspring of its existence, interest, goes on. The seasons may change, days run into weeks, weeks into months, and months may be swallowed up into the gray man of advancing years, but that mortgage stands up in sleepless vigilance, with the interest, a perennial stream, ceaselessly running on. Like a huge nightmare eating out the sleep of some restless slumberer, the unpaid mortgage rears up its gaunt front in perpetual torment to the miserable wight who is held within its pitiless clutches. It holds the poor victims with the relentless grasp of a giant; not one hour of recreation, not a moment's evasion of its hideous presence. A general savage of modifying aspect, while the interest is paid; a very devil of hopeless destruction when the payments fail.—Exchange. Edward Jenkins, a robust roofer in Cincinnati, was drunken and brutal. His common drunken when intoxicated was to maltreat his mistress. After using his fists upon her for several years, and possibly tiring of the sameness of the sport, he chopped her with a hatchet. She was several months recovering in a hospital, and on getting out she went back to live with Jenkins. He tried to be contented with occasionally beating her, but at length gave way and stabbed her with a knife, very nearly killing her. She rejoined him before the wound had entirely healed. A few days ago he struck her with a poker, and then began to cut her with a knife. She ran, and he chased her, inflicting dreadful wounds whenever he got within reach. She begged for her life, but he did not let her alone until he thought she was dead. Then he fled, bareheaded, bloodstained, and disordered in apparel. Policemen chased him until, cornered on a ferryboat, he leaped into the river and was drowned. The woman said, on learning of his death: "Poor Ed. I don't think he ever meant me any harm." A young lady subscriber in the county says she has seen in the papers that goats eat old fruit stems, wire clothes lines, barrel staves, hoop iron, broken bottles and grindstones, and she asks us if it is really true that these animals subsist on such a diet? It is not true. This bill of fare is slightly exaggerated. A goat will not eat boots as long as there are any old hoop skirts about the premises, and their line of food must be drawn at broken bottles. Probably if a goat was buried eight days in a coal mine, with no food save a lot of broken bottles, he would devour them before he would undertake to eat through a solid vein of coal seventy-five feet thick, but it is extremely doubtful. —Exchange. NEWY Notes Foreign and Domestic. An Indiana farmer shot into his smoke house at a supposed thief, and killed his uncle. A fierce bulldog at Meriden, Conn., tried to fight his reflection in a mirror, at a cost of $200 to his owner. Chicago packers, since March 1, have slaughtered 804,000 hogs, against 925,000 for the same period a year ago. William Gale of Cardiff, England, the unexampled feat of walking 2,500 miles in 1,000 consecutive hours. Dan Rice will not not build a floating theatre this season. He joined Adam Forepaugh's circus at Chicago on the 27th as leading clown. Miles, the polygamist, who was all ready to marry three women, will look from behind the bars of a penitentiary during the next five years. He is the second polygamist convicted in Utah. It is estimated at the Brewers' Convention, in St. Louis that there were ten million barrels of beer consumed in this country last year, or more than a barrel for every five persons. And yet we talk of hard times. Immigrants are now pouring into this country at something like the rate they used to come before the panic. Over 18,000 landed at New York during May, an increase of 7,000 over May last year, and arrivals are steadily increasing. Salt Lake City, June 15. —George R. Reynolds, the bigamist, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and $500 fine. He is the first Mormon convicted of polygamy since the passage of the act in 1852, and every effort was made to prevent his conviction. The national debt is now about $2,304,000,000, which bears interest as follows, in round numbers: 3 per cent, $14,000,000; 4 per cent, $650,000,000; 4 1/2 per cent, $250,000,000; 5 per cent, $600,000,000; 5 1/2 per cent, $350,000,000; no interest, $400,000,000. London, June 19. —A dispatch from Cape Town, dated June 3, says that Prince Louis Napoleon, accompanied by other officers, went out from Col. Wood's camp to reconnoitre and dismounted in a meadow field, and that the enemy crept upon them and killed the Prince. His body was recovered. Cincinnati, June 21.—In the U. S. court Dr. Edward Bonaparte, alias E. B. Reynolds, a specialty physician of this city for the past twenty-five years, was to-day sentenced to the penitentiary for one year for sending printed documents through the mails giving information were certain articles, the sale of which is forbidden by law, could be purchased. William Nailor and Elvira Virch were married, near Evansville, Ind., in the evening, and that night remained in the house of a friend. In the morning the bride's parents came up with their farm hands, all armed with guns, and captured her, in spite of her own and husband's desperate resistance. She was carried off, and Nailor has not yet been able to find her. Washington, June 22.—The legislative bill was signed yesterday and the President, at an early hour tomorrow afternoon, will send to the house of representatives a message announcing his approval of the army appropriation bill. His private secretary will at the same time deliver to the house the message from the President returning the judicial expenses appropriation bill, without his approval. William Henry Fish of St. J. behaved so badly to his wife that she procured a divorce. He afterward became a drunkard, and earned a miserable living as a knife grinder. It was his custom to set up his machine across the street from his wife's house, and menacingly grind knives in her sight. This made her nervous at first, but she gradually became accustomed to it. Seeing that he was no longer scaring her, he took to running toward her, brandishing a knife, and declaring that he would kill her. When that plan began to fail, as it did a few days ago, he stabbed her to death. There is considerable excitement in the neighborhood over the murder of Samuel Howe, who was found dead near Pioneer, June 2. The Co. Commissioners offered last Friday a reward of $250 for the conviction of the murderer, and the dead man's sons added $50 to the above sum, though reluctantly. Last Thursday, Roblison, a son and principal heir of the deceased, was arrested on suspicion and lodged in jail. Salsgiver, a laborer on the farm, was also arrested with Howe as a witness.—Warren Mail. Table and pocket cutlery at 42 Main street.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

Allentown, Pa., June 22.—A terrible explosion occurred at half past five yesterday morning at the ore mines on the land belonging to Stephens & Imoyer, two miles from Ematus, Pa. The boiler burst with terrific force, killing five men outright and seriously wounding four others, one of whom has since died. The list of killed as follows: Frank Pegley, the contractor; Morris Schmoeyer, John Schmidt, Frederick Ettinger, Charles Derr, aged ten, a driver at the mine; Benjamin Keck, the engineer; Wilson Derr, aged twelve, a brother of Charles Derr. All the bodies were terribly mangled. The list of injured were William Hull, Frank Heimback, Wilson Harling, George David, Edward Hess, seriously. Great excitement prevails about the mine, which is operated by the Le-high iron company. The washery and engine house were completely demolished, the force of the explosion being sufficient to project a portion of the boiler, weighing over a ton, a distance of 110 feet. The accident is said to have been caused by a defective flue. Benjamin Keck, the engineer, died at 1 P. M. He left a statement, in which he avers that he notified the contractor, Pegley, three months ago that the boiler was unsafe. It is stated that Keck, the engineer, was drunk on Friday, and the accident is attributed to his letting the water in the boiler run too low. The Walking Match. London, June 19.—In the walking match Weston is going finely, while Brown's friends are becoming anxious. Brown rested two consecutive hours during the night, in which time Weston picked up considerable, running two miles without a brake. At 9 o'clock this morning the score stood: Brown 343, Weston 339. Both men have thus far beaten all previous records, and have crowded out of the race Ennis and Harding, who have left the track permanently. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Weston was three miles ahead of Brown. London, June 20, 6 P. M. — Weston 442, Brown 400. Weston declares he will not make 550. London, June 21, 3 A. M. — Weston 473, Brown 420. London, June 21, 8 P. M. — Weston 539, Brown 458. Eleven P. M.—The great contest is finished. Weston is being proclaimed with shouts and cheers, "champion of the world." He completed his 550th mile five minutes to eleven, thereby winning the belt, his bet of $2,500 and the championship. From two o'clock this afternoon until eight, Weston after over five days upon the track, continued making five miles an hour. At two o'clock the score 507, during the next six hours he had plied miles to 535. The excitement was wonderful. The plucky hero of the hour was greeted with shouts and cheers as he plodded along. From eight the excitement steadily increased and reached the culminating point just before the finish. At half-past nine Weston had made his highest score on record, 843 miles and five laps, beating "Blower" Brown's great score of 512 miles, made in the same hall in April. The hall was filled with an enthusiastic crowd who seemed never to grow tired of cheering. Weston makes over $9,000 out of his walk of 550 miles in six days, beside what he gets from betting. He bet $500 against $2,500 with Lord Astley that he would succeed. "GAINED A POUND A DAY." SOUTH STOCKTON, N. Y., April 7, 1879. DR. FENNER'S BLOOD AND LIVER REMEDY. Dear Sir:—I had been suffering from Abcesses on my Lungs and Liver Disease for about three months. I could not eat, had become nervous and restless, and my flesh had wasted away. I had been treated by three different physicians without any material benefit. After using two or three bottles of your Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic I was a well man. Once fairly under its influence I gained flesh at a rate of a pound a day. GRACIOUSLY YOURS, J. H. CLARK. An old gentleman named David Wheeler, residing at Decker's Point, in this county, was robbed of a large sum of money on the night of the 27th ult., estimated at from $2,500 to $2,700. Mr. Wheeler and wife and an old man lived together in one house. On the night spoken of the house was entered by raising a window, the old folks rendered insensible by inhaling chloroform, whilst the thieves ransacked the house. The money carried off was the savings of a long and laborious life. It is said to have been mostly in greenbacks, with a small portion of specie. No one suspected. The robbery was the work, however, of persons who understood the house and the location of the treasure.—Indiana Democrat.
