Washington Letter.

[From our regular correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17, 1879. The equestrian statue of Genl. G. H. Thomas has arrived and will at once be placed in position. The most extensive preparations are being made for the exercises next week. The decorations at the circle where the monument stands will be on a grander scale than those of any preceding unveiling. Ample provision of seats for visitors will be made. All our military will parade and every wise it is intended, should the weather permit, to give the deceased here a fitting memorial tribute, not only in a magnificent statue but in appropriate ceremonies. Next week we will describe the whole affair more particularly for should we attempt it now it is possible our programme will, through a November tempest, be as mythical as a certain brilliantly pictured description in the past in Harper's weekly, of the President's New Year's reception which a heavy snow storm interposed to prevent. The artist's sketches of the various rooms of the White House were of course correct though prepared necessarily several days prior to the reception, but the grand display made by visitors and callers which his imagination pictured unfortunately did not occur.

Mr. Ward the sculpture, has been engaged for more than six years in preparing the model of this statue and the horse on which it is mounted and it is claimed, has succeeded in giving us a perfect specimen of art. We hope so, for several of those already erected in our parks are open to severe criticism sufficiently so to lead many to ask that we be spared further effort in the equestrian direction. We hope further that the pleasant balmy weather of the past ten days may continue so that the thousands of visitors whom the unveiling and re-union ceremonies will bring here will not have their pleasure marred. Our hotels are already beginning to fill up with the advance columns of the numerous delegates from other cities.

Since our last letter Mrs. Margaret Eaton, one of the most notable women that ever moved in Washington society has passed away after suffering from prolonged illness for several months. Mrs. Eaton became famous during Genl. Jackson's administration by her causing the disruption of his cabinet, through his attempt to force the members thereof to recognize her as the first lady. All the various drifts of public sentiment will be heard directly effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy of the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant and insolent administration entrenched at Washington. THE SUN did something toward dislodging the gang, and breaking its power. The same men are now intriguing to restore their leader and themselves to place from which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answer to these momentous questions. THE SUN will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

Thus with a habit of philosophical humor in looking at the minor affairs of life in its greater things as a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors. THE SUN is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of its own. Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $5.50 a year; or, including the advertisement, a four-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address: L. W. ENGLAND, Publisher of THE SUN, New York City, N. Y.

THE SUN FOR 1880.

THE SUN will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1 until December 31 will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people. As a newspaper, THE SUN believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the large world with the unproductive expenditure of time the greatest interest to the greatest number—that is, the law controlling its daily make-up. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read THE SUN, and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, THE SUN believes that the guide of policy should be the popular sense, inspired by genuine American principle and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is, in name, and in fact, will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is to the point and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It is not a party paper, by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It hates injustice and rascality even more than it hates unnecessary fraud. It abhors frauds, pities fools, and deplores nincompoops of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to chastise the first class, instruct the second and discipline the third. All the best men with honest conviction, whether sound or mistaken, are its friends. And THE SUN makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and about its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which THE SUN will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to the facts. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the fathers have bequeathed to us. The year 1880 will be one in which the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the fathers have bequeathed to us.
