Ridgway, Pa., June 22, 1881. To Whom it may Concern:

This is to certify that the undersigned has not left town nor does he intend to, as has been reported around the county. But you can find me at the West End Furniture Store in Healy's building where I removed to on April 1st. C. Bowers.

The Fourth of July is coming, don't you forget it. There will be a grand time at the picnic during the day and a grand ball will be given by the Odd Fellows in the evening, where you will want to be dressed in the best style. Go to the New York Store to get your suits for the occasion, and have money left to celebrate the day.

Chicago, Ill., June 28.—At noon to-day John Grisoom weighed 1634 pounds, being a loss of 14 pounds. In the last twenty-four hours, during which he drank forty-eight ounces of water. To-night his pulse is sixty, respiration fifteen, and temperature ninety-eight, and for the first time since May 28 he confesses to a feeling of hunger.

Puppies are tough: Seven grains of melolotis will kill a dog. Melolotis is used to flavor cigarettes. Our best young men will notice their danger.

New Haven Register. Seven grains may kill a dog, but puppies are tough. However, that fact has nothing to do with our best young men. Nevertheless, we congratulate them on—that is to say—well, we congratulate them anyhow.—Boston Transcript.

A grand ball will be given in Hyde's Opera House, July 4, 1881, for the benefit of the I. O. of O. F. Lodge No. 969. The public are cordially invited. Tickets $1.00.

Hurrah! hurrah! hurrah!!! for the new Railroad! It's coming sure this time, no mistake. But that will cause no advance in the prices at the New York Store. On the contrary we shall sell cheaper than ever.

Great reduction in the price of clothing at the New York Store, suits worth $7 we shall sell for $5, suits worth $10 we shall sell for $8, suits worth $15 to be sold for $12 suits worth $20 to be sold for $16. A big stock of hats and every thing in Mens' wear will be sold at astonishing prices. All other goods in our line will be sold at corresponding prices.

As we have said before, customers coming from a distance of from ten to twenty-five miles, purchasing goods to the amount of $10 will have their fare paid, we guarantee that you will save ten per cent. on ever purchase made of us.

Our customers in town will be given a reduction equal to the fare of outside purchasers. While we are not the largest store in Western Pennsylvania, we sell the best and cheapest goods in this town.

We don't get new goods at the New York Store every day, but we get a new stock every season, and don't believe in keeping the old goods on hand for generations.

If you want to buy a good pair of working pants for 99 cents, overalls for 40 cents, paper collars best styles, 15 cents a box, go to the New York Store.

We have the biggest and nicest stock of neck-wear in town at the New York Store. All kinds and styles of neck-ties from 25 to 75 cents. We beg the public to pay attention to what we say here, as we guarantee to do just as we advertise.

If you want to be politely attended and get the worth of your money every time, go to the New York Store. Post-office Block, Ridgway, Pa. Cohen Bros. & Brownstone.

An Unusual Accident.

Near Sergeant station on the P. & E. R. R. five miles from Kane, about 6 o'clock last Friday morning, June 24, there occurred an accident of a peculiar and unusual nature by which William Boyle, an unmarried man aged about 35 years received severe injuries. He was felling a gigantic hemlock, the first tree of his days work; as it toppled to the fall he stepped back a few paces out of harm's way. A few steps back of where he stood was a beech of perhaps a foot in diameter. Without warning, and without apparent cause, the beech fell in the same direction of the hemlock, crushing the unfortunate man to the earth. Whether the wide spreading branches of the hemlock were interwoven with those of the beech, or whether the concussion caused it to fall is not known, but that it did fall without apparent cause as before stated, is a fact. The falling beech struck the man on the right shoulder; he also received injuries on the right hip besides being badly shaken up on general principles. A convenient log broke the force of the tree's fall and prevented him from being crushed beyond recognition. He remained conscious during the whole time, and when some companions endeavored to pull him out he told them to desist when he felt a limb of the tree tearing his shirt and the flesh with it. The tree was cut and the man extricated, when he was carried out of the woods, put on the cars and brought to the Thayer House at this place where he is now lying, suffering great pain from his injuries. A man of powerful frame and vigorous constitution he will no doubt in a few weeks fully recover from the effects of his adventure. To an ADVOCATE reporter he said it seemed as though every bone in his body was broken. He has worked in the woods here and at Driftwood for three or four years past, and is well known by many people here who fully sympathize with him in his affliction.

Lightning at Wilcox.

Tuesday night, during the terrific storm which prevailed about ten o'clock, J. L. Murphy's barn, at Wilcox, was struck by lightning, a valuable horse killed and another so severely shocked that it can scarcely move. The barn was alivered in nearly all parts. Lightning also struck the Railroad section house near Bridgetown, tearing great holes through the roof, and gable ends, making kindling wood of boards, etc. Eleven persons were in the house and strange to say no one was hurt. PETE.

More of the Comet.

Hanover, N. H., June 27.—Observations taken at Dartmouth observatory last night show that the comet was moving to a point approximating five degrees from the Pole star, its motion being about three degrees a day. At its lower culmination it was approximating ten degrees from the horizon. As seen through a ninety-inch glass the comet was very clearly defined, being circular on one side and fading away on the other. Behind the nucleus there was a dark spot. The comet itself passed over and nearly covered an eighth magnitude star, making a beautiful sight. The form of the comet could be very clearly seen with a two or three inch objective. The comet is less than a minute of an arc in width and about a minute and a half in length.

A SOUTHERN VIEW.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—A large comet was discovered about dark last evening in the northwest, about thirty degrees above the horizon. Its course is downward to the horizon, two degrees westward.

ESTIMATE OF THE SIZE OF THE NUCLEUS AND ITS DISTANCE FROM THE EARTH.

Albany, N. Y., June 27.—The great comet was plainly visible here all last night, and interesting observations were made at the Dudley observatory. Prof. Boss said this morning that this is unquestionably the same comet seen by Gould from South America. At 2 o'clock A. M. to-day the diameter of the nucleus was estimated at seven seconds, and, supposing the comet to be distant 45,000,000 of miles, which is probably not far from the truth, this would make the diameter of the nucleus about 15,000 miles, or a little smaller than the moon. The tail was visible at 2 o'clock for a distance of forty degrees.

The Weather of 1816.

A correspondent asks us to reprint the following from the Sunday Dispatch of a few years ago: Birmingham.—"Was the summer, spring and autumn of the year 1816 so cold that no grass, grain or vegetation were produced. Is it true that there was snow and frost at intervals during those seasons of that year? Has there been any year since, this century, that has been so cold as the above mentioned? I of course allude to the States of New Jersey and Pennsylvania."...Substantially, this question must be answered in the affirmative. In April, 1816, ice and snow destroyed all the buds and almost every green thing. In May buds and small fruit were frozen upon the trees and bushes. Corn was replanted two or three times and very little of it came to perfection. In June there were severe frosts several times. Every green herb was killed, vegetables of every kind much injured and all kinds of fruit had previously been destroyed. On the 5th of July there was ice as thick as window-glass in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and all states north and east of them. Indian corn was chilled and withered. The grass was so much injured by repeated frosts that the cattle would scarcely eat it. In the beginning of August there was ice half an inch thick. The corn was frozen and rotted and every green thing was destroyed. This was the case not only in the United States but in Europe. An English newspaper said: "It will ever be remembered by the present generation that 1816 was the year in which there was no summer."

Runaway Accident at Wilcox.

Thursday, June 23 1881, while out driving on the pike east of Wilcox, behind a skittish team of young horses, Mrs. Latta, daughter of Hon. J. L. Brown, and child, Miss Loomis, and Philip Ernhout's little girl, met with an accident that under less favorable circumstances might have proved fatal to the entire party. While going down a long hill the horses became frightened at some calves that jumped up at the side of the road, and dashed down the steep incline at a fearful rate of speed. The horses ran some distance when the entire party were thrown with great violence to the ground. Continuing at full speed they ran into the village of Wilcox having only the forward wheels of the buggy hitched to them. Their appearance created a wild excitement among the people of the village who rushed in great numbers in the direction the team came from expecting to find the occupants of the buggy either dashed to pieces or seriously injured. On arriving at the scene of the disaster a sad sight met the gaze of the on-lookers. Covered with blood and dust and with clothes torn the ladies sat on the ground half unconscious trying to soothe Mrs. Latta's crying child. The other child was twenty or thirty feet away with no one to care for it. They were taken to the house of Mr. Brown where Drs. Straight and Ernhout were at once summoned and did all in their power to alleviate the sufferings of the unfortunate ladies and children. Mrs. Latta was out about the head and face so as to be almost unrecognizable, one knee badly injured, and otherwise cut and bruised. Her child had one leg broken, and severe cuts and bruises about the head. Miss Loomis had one ankle sprained besides being generally bruised and hurt. The Ernhout child was not seriously injured but was shaken up and bruised in a more or less painful manner. The ladies were unconscious for some time after being taken to the house, and have no recollections of anything that occurred beyond the fact that the horses ran with break-neck speed down the hill. It appears by a pool of blood on the ground that Mrs. Latta lay stunned and bleeding in an unconscious state for some time a short distance from where the child lay. Partly recovering consciousness, however, she, with true motherly instinct crawled to her child and tried to soothe its sufferings. PETE.
