ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT RIDGWAY, PA., AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

-The Mrs. Garfield fund has reached $157,000, and $125,000 of it has been invested in 4 per cents for her benefit. It took $145,281,25 to buy that amount of bonds.

-D. W. Holt, of Phillipsburg, pro-prietor of the Loch Lomond saw mill, shipped a car load of hemlock lumber to a Philadelphia party a few days since aggregating 18,408 feet, the larg-est car load of green lumber that ever passed over that road.

-The Herald of Utica gathers a crumb of comfort from out the smoke of the forest fires that have been so heavy of late near that city. It claims that smoke is really beneficial to humanity, the creosote which it contains being an excellent preventa-tive of and curative for hemorhage, diarrhœa, cholera morbus, cholera in fantum, nausea, vomiting, toothache and a variety of other ailments.

Speaking of the artificial production of rain, the Ohio State Journal claims that in the war rains followed battles where but a few batteries and battalions were engaged whenever the engagement lasted an hour or more. Detonations loud and effective enough to produce rain can be made for $500, it claims, and it adds: "The misfortune is that 'scientific' men, and too many practical men, though more than half convinced that detonation will produce rain whenever desired, are too cowardly and conservative to try the experiment."

phia, Bridesburg and the Twenty-sixth Ward, pay to the position of the flags displayed on the arsenals which are located in both. Both are manu-facturing districts, and both populated by an unassuming class, but as the great factories disgorge their workers at noon and night all eyes are turned to the flag-poles of the arsenals, and the fact that the flag is still there elicits expressions of joy and cheers from thousands of throats. And thus it is that in times of peace the flag of the Union has become a beacon to thousands of citizens.—Philadelphia

-The corner stone of one of the abutments of the iron bridge of the Bradford branch of the New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad, which will cross the Kinzua about twelve miles from Kane, were laid recently. This bridge, which will be three miles from Alton. Papers with one of the finest in the world, will be 2,250 feet long and at the highest point 301 feet above the surface of the creek It will doubtless be finished before snow flies.

-A travelling dentist in Australia advertises a new method of extracting teeth,"without the aid of chloroform or laughing gas." When a patient calls upon him for treatment, he places him in a chair and makes a fixture of him with straps and bands. Then he puts the forceps to the bad tooth and gives it a terrific jerk inward. "That," he says, "is the way that Dr. Smith does it." He gives it another yank in the opposite direction, remarking, "And that is the way that Dr. Jones goes to work." By this time the tooth is quite loose. With a gentle pull he forces it out, saying, " But this is the way that I'll convince them of the superiority of my method."

-A Liepzig journal, devoted to the glass interest, states that the cracking of lamp chimneys may be prevented by placing them in a pot filled with cold water, adding a little cooking salt. and after the mixture has been allowed to boil well over a fire, to have the articles cool slowly. Treated in this way, glass will be found to resist cracking, even if exposed to very sudden changes of temperature, and the chimneys become very durable by passing through such an operation. The process is, in fact, simply one of annealing, and it results that, the slower the operation is carried on, especially the cooling portion of it, the more effective will it be.

"As Virginia and Kentucky now export their tobacco mainly in manufactured from, and not in the leaf, green or dry, so," says the State," will the South in the future come to export her cotton in more valuable manufactured shape."

AT LONG BRANCH. The Presidential Party Arrives Safe at the Seashore.

Long Branch, September 6,-The presidential party arrived here safely at 1:10. The President has borne the journey well, and is not much fatigued. The physicians express themselves as highly gratified at the success of the trip. The train ran direct to the door of the Francklyn cottage, which the President is to occupy. A temporary track connection for this purpose was commenced yesterday and finished early this morning. Attorney Genera! MacVeagh, who arrived yesterday, greeted the party and was highly pleased at the assuring reports received from the President's physicians. The Attorney General has been busy since his arrival attending to all the minor details of the arrange-ments for the reception of the suffer-ing President. He has also found time to watch with anxious interest the work of building the branch road.

the work of building the branch road.

A detachment of Battery A, First artillery from Grovernor's Island. consisting of Captain J. N. Ingalls, First Lieutenant T. C. Patterson, Second Lieutenant W. C. Rafferty, and thirty men, will compose the military guard of the President at Elberon. They reached their post this morning. The battery which is assigned this honorable duty is one of the oldest and most distinguished in the oldest and most distinguished in the regular army. It was organized in the war of 1812, and assumed its present character in the reorganiza-tion of our army in 1821 as a military organization. It has seen more than 100 battles, having done service in the three wars. During most of the re-bellion it formed part of the army of bellion it formed part of the army of the Potomae.

The exact time of the arrival of the train at Elberon was nine minutes after 1 o'clock, New York time. At twenty minutes after the President was in his room. His pulse at this time was 102, which was a source of great satisfaction to the physicians. His windows look out apon the ocean, not over 100 feet away, and by open-ing windows and door the breezes from the east, south and west can —According to Milwaukee Scatines, the iron-clad prohibitory law which Kansas has grafted into the Constitution doesn't work very well. It was predicted that it would lead the citizens of Puritan New England communities to flock there in great numbers. Nothing of the sort has happened. Moreover a convention, has been held to protest against it and secure its repeal, and worse than all, prohibition doesn't prohibit, as is shown by the issue of a large number of United States licenses to liquor sellers.

—"The flag is still there." One of -"The flag is still there." One of the most touching incidents connected with the sickness of the President is the careful watch the people of two widely separate districts of Philadelphia, Bridesburg and the Twenty-sixth Ward, pay to the position of the staircase is of easy ascent with two landing. The room at the head of the stairs, in the northeast corner of the house, is the President's. A part of the wall along the stairs had been taken out, so that the bed could easily taken out, so that the bed could easily be carried up into this room, which is handsonnely furnished, just as Mr Francklyn's family left it recently. Fully two thousand persons assembled in the neighborhood of the Francklyn cottage, many of them having taken places from which they believed an hour ago that they would be able to see the President carried into the Press.

—At the postoffices throughout the country coins with holes punched in the nor otherwise mutilated have, by order, been given the following values: $1 is worth 75c; 50c pieces, 35c; 25c pieces, 15c; 10c pieces, 5c; and 5c and 3c pieces not taken at all.

—The corner stone of cultivarian and stone displacements of a gang of men at 10 o'clock bearing an awning borrowed from the surrounding cottages, with which a covered passage way was quickly built from the door on the piazza to the track. The total distance is 230 miles, and the average running time was thirty-seven miles per hour, which, embracing stoppages, is equal to more than forty miles per hour for the entire trip.

The Kinzua Bridge.

[Bradford Era, Aug. 30.] The laying of the corner stone of the largest bridge in the world (railroad or otherwise) took place yesterday at the Kinzua, two and a half or description of the bridge, &c., were placed under the stone of this structure by Chas. Pugsley, engineer of this division. The stone was laid with appropriate ceremonies. The magnitude and immensity of this bridge has been explained previousthe Eric should for a moment contemplate such a gigantic undertaking seems almost fabulous, especially after viewing the contemplated span from bank to bank and the obstacles to be overcome in its construction. fixed fact needs no confirmation or opinion of ours, as the contractors who have the project in charge is a sure guarantee that the work will be done, and well done to the end. Mr. John G. Noakes, of Scranton, Pa., has the contract for the mason work of the piers. Who has the trestle or fron work of the bridge we are not advised. Mr. Alex. M'Quirns, of Downington Pa., has the contract for grading of the extension from Crawford to the bridge and he is pushing the work with great vigor. His time and book-keeper, Mr. J. O Neil, seems to be the "right man in the right place." We believe this section is under the supervision of Engineer William Seaman, of New York, who ten rods to a post on the turnpike; watches the lines and workings thence east along the turnpike nineteen watches the lines and workings thereof in a manner so as to assure

—It is not often the practical joker comes to grief. As a rule, his rude wit or brutal trick makes a victim of some weak or innofensive individual who has not the power to retaliate. Now and then, however, the practical joker comes to grief. There have been occasions where the funny person who pointed an empty pistol at somebody else's head has received the contents of a loaded revolver in his own carcass. A case in point occurred at Hemlock Lake, a little summer resort in Northern New York, the other bay. Stopping at one of the hotels was a young man who was somewhat bay. Stopping at one of the hotels was a young man who was somewhat boastful of his adventures and of the courage he had displayed on several trying occasions. The other young men of the hotel made a laughing-stock of him and resolved to humiliate him thoroughly for what was, after all, only a little harmless lying. The opportunity came when the supposed braggart invited a young is dy to take a carriage ride with him. The practical jokers, disguising themselves with masks, hid themselves in a lonely spot on the road, and as their would-be victim passed rushed out and demanded his money or his life. They got neither, but one received a bullet in the body and another had his arm broken by the same unerring aim. broken by the same unerring aim. There will be no more practical jokes played at Hemlock Lake this season.
