Henry A. Parsons, Jr., -

THURSDAY, SEPT. 29, 1881.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT RIDGWAY, PA., AS SECOND CLASS

REPUBLICAN STATE NOMINA

of Fayette County. General Silas M. Balley. A man who from his youth up, has fought the battle of Republicanism in a region where no hope of success could which the country has suffered. Mrs. add vigor and zeal to the contest, and Garfield did not attend the funeral. with no reward save the consciousness of having served the cause he loved.

A man who has attested his love of liberty and law, by service on the field of glory and of blood, who won his promotion in the glorious Pennsylvania Reserves, from Captain to Bri- body would have been unostentagadier, by meritorious service on the

A man who stood in the red hell of battle at Drainville, on the Peninsula, at Gaines' Mill, Mountain Antietam, Fredericksburg, and the' Wilderness, and who bore witness with his blood, that he loved his country well.

He bears upon his person the rough scars left by the cruel cannon ball." and will carry to his grave the evidence of his patriotism and contage.

He is able, and worthy to lead Republicans to Victory as he led his regiment to war. (Speech of Attorney General Palmer, in Republican State Convention.)

Republican Primaries and County Convention.

The Republican electors of Elk ing the usual number of delegates to After the party had left the Capitol held at the Court House in Ridgway, vices made. TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4th, 1881, at 3 o'clock P. M.

The manner of choosing said delegates will be that heretofore recommended. It is very important that each district send its full number of tickets of admission were to enterdelegates to which it is entitled that On the pavement about ten feet from the Convention may fully represent the party interests in the county. W. W. AMES, Chairman

St. Marys, Sept, 21, 1881.

Republican County Committee Benezette-Jacob English, James Thomas, Luther Lucore. Benzinger-J. F. Corbe,

Eddy, David Pincheon. Fox-U. W. Rogers, Hollis Sidelinger, James R. Green. Horton-James Maloy, G. Clinton, R. S. McIntosh.

Highland-H. O. Ellithorp, I. C. Erickson, R. Underwood. Jones-Irvin Shultz, J. Ta

August Jacobson. Jay-Justus Weed, C. L. Thurston,

A. E. Goff. Millstone-Harry Cats, Wm Irwin, J. W. Donahue.

Ridgway-J. M. Schram, H. Wensel, William Johnson. Spring Creek-William Doane, O.

T. Miller, H. Carman, St. Marys-W. C. Spafford, T. Steumberg.

-Six years of constant and most excruciating pain from terrible sores all the head for the use of the officiating over my body, pronounced cancer and clergymen. incurable by all except Dr. Hartman. After I was reduced to the faintest ebb of existence Peruna saved my life and cared me. I am entirely well and doing my house work. I had paid the best and the worst physicians over $1000, Mrs. Milo Ingram, Alleghney City, Pa.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself as an Independent Candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Elk county for a moment engaged in silent lieve in God, believe also in me, I will at the polls next November. JOHN FORSTER.

St. Marys, Sept. 15, 1881.

ELK CO. ADVOCATE RATES.

Ten cents a line first insertion; five cents fine for each additional insertion.

HENRY A. PARSONS, JR., Proprietor.

MRS. E. CRAYSTON.

In returning thanks for past favors respectfully begs to inform her friends and the public generally that she has just returned from New York where she purchased a large stock of Millinery and fancy goods of the latest styles, also a nice selection of ladies' Skirts, Plain and Fancy hosiery, Ladies' and Childrens' Parasols, Hair goods, fancy Chinaware, &c., which she intends to sell as cheap as the cheapest. Particular attention given to trimming and in a style that cannot be surpassed in this section. All are invited to call and inspect her goods before purchasing elsewhere. n10m6

-The stomach's greatest friend is Peruna ..

-Buckham's Dye for the whiskers is an elegant, safe and reliable article, showed the sorrow which they felt. cheap, and convenient for use; will not rub off. Try it!

GOING HOME Scenes Immediately Preceding the

Departure Washington, Sept. 23.-The renains of the late President Garifeld been performed, and were witnessed by his successor and two ex-Presidents. to their ruler. A new order of and only a mass of black cloth swingbuildings and private dwellings of the city remains to indicate the loss She felt unable to endure the strain. She has been adverse to public demonstrations over the body of her husband from the first. She desiredas much .privacy as possible, and had she yielded to her own desires the tiously taken from Long Branch to Cleveland and interred as speedily as possible. This morning for the first time she saw the remains of her husoand lying in state.

THE WIDOW AND HER CHILDREN. At 11:30 A. M. a small procession entered the rotunda from the Senate wing. Sergeant-at-arms Bright was in advance. He was followed by Mrs. Garfield, leaning upon the arm of General Swaim; Harry Garfield, sustaining Mollie Garfield, and Lulu The Senators occupied chairs directly Rockwell, 'Colonel and Mrs. Rockwell, and Attorney General Mac-Veagh and Mrs. Swaim. Mrs. Garfield was attired in deep mourning. Entering the rotunda she threw aside her veil. What transpired for the next twenty-five minutes, what words were uttered by the bereaved County are requested to meet in their wife over the body of him who could respective election districts at the place never more reply, what tears were of holding their last election, on SAT- shed or words of comfort spoken, URBAY, OCTOBER 1, 1881, at 71 none but those in the rotunda could o'clock P. M. for the purpose of choos- tell. The meeting was a sacred one. which the district may be entitled, to for the residence of the Attorney attend the County Convention for the General the coffin was again closed momination of County officers to be and arrangements for the funeral ser-

BEAUTIFUL FLORAL OFFERINGS.
The floral offerings were magnificent. The foot of the coffin faced the east door, where the persons having the coffin lay a small but beautifully-designed Maltese cross, the tribute of The powers that be are ordained of Columbia Commandery of Knights Templar, of which the President was God, and they that resist shall receive coffin was a beautiful floral piece representing the gates ajar. Behind the "Gates" was a thick band of white roses with a cross in the centre, and still nearer the coffin a broken column, upon which a white dove with wings distended reposed. Against the foot of the coffin reposed the wreath of Marshal Nell roses, presented by Queen Victoria. Later this wreath were laid upon the casket before it left Long Branch occupied the same position. On the floor at the head of the catafalque stood a broken columb of roses higher than the one at the foot of the coffin, and surmounted; as the other was, by a white dove. Two beautiful baskets of flowers stood by the side of this column. Cut roses buds were scattered alongside of the catafalque. A draped dais, upon which stood a small walnut table covered with crape, had been built at

ENTERING THE ROTUNDA.

At 1:45 P. M. the sound of solemn music was heard without and the Columbia Commandery of Knights marched into the rotunda. They upon the arm. Four of the Knights at the head of the column bore an immense Maltese cross of roses, which was placed at the head of the coffin. The Knights formed a circle around out of the building by the door through which they had entered. Three members of the Chinese legation, in full uniform, came in soon afterward, and occasionally representatives of other legations entered, singly or by couples, and took seats in the front row of chairs in the northeast section. At 2:10 the general publie having tickets of admission was allowed to enter. Twelve hundred tickets in all were issued, and at least fifteen hundred people witnessed the ceremonies. The last six rows of chairs around the rotunda were devoted to the public. One row next was assigned the correspondents. Among those who came in at this time were Governor Hoyt and staff of Pennsylvania, the fepresentatives of Philadelphia City Councils, Delegates from the Boards of Aldermen of New York and Boston, ex-Secretary of War Ramsey, and many ex-Congressmen. After the lapse of possibly ten minutes Justices Matthews, Harlan and ex-Justice Strong of the Supreme Court entered and took seats on one of the sofas facing the catafaique. There was a little bustle and the familiar faces of Colonel Corbin with Mrs. Corbin, Dr. Boynton, Private Secretary Brown, Executive Clerks Pruden, Young, Henley, Morton and others, and the messengers of the White House, with their families appeared. The attendants were attired in mourning and their faces clearly

They occupied the sofas on the south forms outrivaled those of the officers were taken from Washington on the tions. The tadies and gentlemen of choir, many of his utterances were ourney to their final resting place in the Philharmonic Society entered and lost. Cleveland this afternoon. The day stood near the coffin on the south side ans been memorable. The funeral of the catafalque. At 2:50 the Memservices over the dead President have bers of the House of Representatives entered from the south door. They formed in a double line and marched The tast tributes of the people of the over to the rotunda. Sergeant-at-Nation at the capital have been paid arms Thompson and Clerk Adams led the procession. Kasson of Iowa and things has been smoothly established, Tucker of Virginia were next, followed by ex-Speakers Randall and ing over the fronts of the public General Banks. There were about seventy members in line, and they took the front seats on the south sections. Five minutes later there was a momentary hum of mingled curiosity and excitement, and the crowd instantaneously arose to its feet. President Arthur, the Cabinet, and Senators were entering. Doorkeeper Bassett, who was in a similar procession when the funeral of President Lincoln took place, walked by the side of Sergeant-at-arms Bright. Following were President Arthur and Secretary Blaine, ex-President Grant and ex-President Hayes, Secretary Windom and Secretary Hint, Secretary Lincoln, Secretary Kirkwood, and Postmaster General James. Mrs. Blaine, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Lincoln, and Mrs. Windom accompanied their husbands and took seats on the left of the north aisle. The President and members of the Cabinet occupied the sofas on the right of the head of the coffin.

THE RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

in the rear. As soon as the procession had entered the audience resumed their seats.

PRAYING OVER THE DEAD-BRIEF

Precisely at 8 o'clock the religious services began. The ceremonies were opened with the hymn, "Asleep in Jesus' beautifully rendered by the volunteer choir. Rev. Dr. Rankin then ascended the raised platform at the head of the catafalque and read in a clear, distinct voice the following Scriptural selection:

The Lord reigneth. The floods

His throne. By Him kings reign and princes decree justice. He changeth moveth kings and setteth up kings.

Whosoever, therefore, resisteth

the power resisteth the ordinance of a member. Next in order toward the to themselves damnation. Cease ye coffin was a beautiful floral piece, rep. trils; for wherein is he to be accounted of? For behold, the Lord, the Lord of hosts, doth take away from Jerusalem and Judea the mighty man, the man of war, the honorable man, and the counselor, and the eloquent orator. There is no man that hath power over the Spirit to retain the Spirit; neither and there is no discharge in that war. Then shall he be at rest with kings and counselors of the earth, which was laid upon the head of the coffin. built desolate places for themselves. The two branches of palm which The clods of the valley shall be swee unto him, and every man shall draw after him as there are innumerable after him as there are innumerable before him. There the wicked cease from troubling, and there the weary be at rest. Then answered Jesus unto them: "Verlly, verily, I say unto you, he that heareth my word and believeth on Him that sent me hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death unto life. Unto him from death unto life. Unto him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me on my Throne; even as I also overcome and sit down with my Father on His Throne. Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they have right to the Tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the City, and they shall see His face and His name shall be in their face and His name shall be in their foreheads." And He went a little further and fell on His face and prayed, saying, "O my Father! if it be possible let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless, not as I will but as Thou wilt." It became Him for whom are were in full uniform, wearing crape all things and by whom are all things. in bringing, many souls to glory to make the Captain of their salvation perfect through suffering. The disci-ple is not above his Master nor the servant above his Lord. It is enough for the disciple that he be as his Mas-ter and the servant as his Lord. Let subject to the decision of the voters prayer. They then slowly marched not leave you comfortless: I will come to you. Leave thy fatherless children; I will preserve them alive. And let thy widow trust in me." And it came to pass when they came to Bethlehem that all the city was moved about them, and they said, Is this Naomi? and she said unto them, "Call me not Naomi, Call me Mara; for the Lord hath dealt very bitterly with me. went out full and the Lord hath brought me home again empty."
"For a small moment have I forsaken thee; but with great mercies will I gather thee. I hid my face from thee for a moment, but with everlasting kindness will I have mercy on thee, saith the Lord, the Redeemer. And Jacob died and was gathered unto his people, and Joseph went up to bury his father, and there went up with them both chariots and horsemen, and it was a very great company. And when the inhabitants of the lands saw the mourning they said, This is a grievous warning to said, And they did unto him according as he had commanded them. For they car-ried him into the land of Cansan and buried him in the field of Macphelah, which Abraham bought for a sion as a burying place. And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, blessed are the dead which die write, blessed are the dark in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them. I would not have you be ignorant concerning which are asleep, that ye sorrow not even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also that sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him. Wherefore, comfort one another with side of the catafalque. The members | prayer. He spoke in a clear but low officers. The ladies were in deep heaven, where the harmonious and of the foreign legations had all arrived | tone of voice, and with much evidence | mourning. Following came Dr. and | ever changing face of nature reminds by this time and their showy uni- of deep feeling, but owing to the fact Mrs. Boynton, and then Mrs. Garfield us by its resuscitating influence that that some confusion ensued through of the army and navy, who were the neglect of the Committee on Arseated in the middle of the east sec- rangements to provide seats for the Miss Mollie Garfield and the other

The reverend gentleman in conclusion, paid an eloquent and touching tribute to Mrs. Garfield, referring to the noble and Christian spirit which she had exhibited in the hour of sorrow and tribulation, and exhorting affliction. He invoked the Divine blessing on the fatherless children, that the sons should, under the benediction of God, grow up to a noble manhood, and that the bereaved daughter might rise into a true, a glorious womanhood, and live to be the comfort of her widowed mother. He appealed to God to have pity on the dear old mother over the moundarling son, now that she was old and gray-haired.

DR. POWER'S ADDRESS.

As the closing words of the prayer of which President Garfield was a member, delivered a feeling address. He spoke in a clear voice, and was distinctly heard in every portion of the hall. He said:

The cloud so long pending over the nation has at last burst upon our heads. We sit half crushed smid the ruin it has wrought. A million mil-lion prayers and hopes and tears, as for prayers and hopes and tears, as far as human wisdom sees, were vain. Our loved one has passed from us. But there is relief. We look away from the body. We forget for a time the things that are seen. We remember with joy his faith in the Son of God, whose Gospel he sometimes himself preached, and which he always fruly loved. And we see light always truly loved. And we see light and blue skies through the cloud structure and beauty instead of ruin; glory, honor, immortality, spiritual and eternal life in the place of decay and death. The chief glory of this man, as we think of him now, was his dicipleship in the school of Christ. His attainments as scholar and states-men will be the theme of our orators and historians, and they must be worthy men to speak his praise worthily. But it is as a Christian that we love to think of him now. It was this which made his life to man an invaluable boon, his death to us an unspeakable loss, his eternity to him-celf an inheritance incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away He was no sectarian. His religion was as broad as the religion of Christ. He was a simple Christian bound by no sectarian ties and wholly in fellow-ship with all pure spirits. He was a Christologist rather than a theologist He had great reverence for the family and relations. His example as son husband and father is a glory to the nation. He had a most kindly nature. His power over human hearts was deep and strong. He won men to him. He had no enemies, The hand that struck him was not the hand of an enemy, but the enemy of the position, the enemy of the country, the enemy of God. He sought to do right, manward and Godward. He was a grander man than we knew. of the Garreton, Ely, Ranney, Hurl-He wrought even in his pain a better but, Chamberlain and Perkins famiwork for the nation than estimate. He fell at the height of his achievements, not from any fault of his, but we may in some sense rever-ently apply to him the words spoken which is nearest to that selected for of his dear Lord: "He was wounded the Gafield tomb there stands a lofty for our transgressions; He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of granite pillar surmounted by an angel, our peace was upon Him." As the and just beyond this, which bears the nations remember the Macedonias as name of Wade, a massive, plain col-Alexander the Great, and the Grecian umn of polished black granite attracts as Aristides the Just, may not the son the eye. Two little boys were kneelof America be known as Garfield the Good. Our President rests; he had ing over a mound this afternoon near joy in the glory of work, and he loved to talk of the leisure that did not come to him. Now he has it the sol flowers and running vines in the sol come to him. Now he has it. This is the clay, precious because of the service it rendered. He is a freed had loved them. Below, by the side spirit; absent from the body he is of the driveway which skirts the base present with the Lord. On the of the knoll, stands a beautiful marble heights whence came his help he finds repose. What rest has been his these four days? The brave spirit which cried in its body "I am tired" dead may be temporarily placed. is where the wicked cease from troub-ling and the weary are at rest. The patient soul which grouned under the building is of Ohio sand stone, a burden of the suffering flesh "O! this modification of the Gothic, twentypain!" is now in a world without seven feet square, and surmounted by pain. Spring comes, the flowers a minaret. Woodbine creeps over its bloom, the buds put forth, the birds sing. have long since hushed their voices, ident was deposited, to remain until the flowers faded and fallen away, the the permanent burial shall take place. orest foliage assumes a sickly, dying It is understood to be the desire of Mrs. hue; so earthly things pass away, and what is true remains with God. The pageant moves; the splendor of arms ing the placing of the body in its and the banners glitter in the sunlight; final resting-place, on the top of the the music of instruments and of oratory swells upon the air; the cheers and praises of men resound. But the spring and summer pass by, and the autumn sees a nation of sad eyes and heavy hearts, and what is true remains of God. "The eternal God is our refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms.". Ohio volunteers.

At the conclusion of Dr. Power's address Rev. J. G. Butler offered

This closed the ceremonies and the tining the remains of President Gar aurels and triumphs.

On the way to Cleveland the funeral train was received by thousands of people along the life with sad hearts and bowed heads. In the places through which the train passed bells were tolled and national safutes fired. And in every manner the remains of the beloved dead.

AT CLEVELAND. There were 50,000 people around rived. Every head was uncovered. these words: "Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it. The Lord gave, the Lord hath taken away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

ing. The Senators and Representamarched in pairs, and the guards of honor, headed by Generals Hancock, Sherman and Rogers, brought up the rear. The procession was headed by her to look to God in the days of her a triple platoon of police, but there was no trouble in keeping the avenue clear. The wide walks and parking, the extensive lawns and commodious residences fully accommodated even the immense crowds that had assembled. Nearly all the residences were handsomely draped in black, and white flags were flaneted with sombre fringes and portraits of the dead President were universally distains waiting for the dead body of her played. Secretary Blaine, Gen Grant and Gen. Hancock attracted a great march on the avenue the bells of the died away the Rev. F. D. Power of the head of the procession reached the the Vermont-avenue Christian Church | public square and approached the catafalque.

> Cleveland, Sep.28 .- The-body of the late President Garfield has been carried to the graye with so great a funeral display and attended by such a multitude of mourners as must ever make the event memorable. It is certainly the chief day in Cleveland's history, as it is also the saddest. Garfield was regarded with great admiration and affection in northern Ohio, and his body has been followed to the tomb today by sincere mourners. Over 800,-000 persons have taken part in this demonstration. Fully 60,000 people were in the procession. The rest were built, and these were filled. Balconies, windows, housetops, all held spectators of the great pageant.

The Last Resting Place.

The knoll where the body of the president was buried is the most choice gradually to the crest of the cemetery site in the cemetery, and it is said the where General Garfield is to be trustees had been offered $10,000 for it. In the future it will be the Mecca of many a pilgrimage. By its natural features and by the arrangements of the driveways, it is isolated from the adjoining lots, but just across the driveways by which it is reached may be seen, on another eminence, a line of beautiful and costly memorials, and a large tomb of Ohio sandstone bearing the name Vilas. Upon some of these memorials the genius of the sculptor has been powerfully displayed. Among the most beautiful are those of the Garreton, Ely, Ranney, Hurlwe can now lies. In these the sculptor has given form to beautiful conceptions in mar-Workmen erected a canopy before it. The building is of Ohio sand stone, a Autumn rolls round, the birds walls. Here the body of the late president was deposited, to remain until Garfield that the ceremonies attendlittle hill beyond the artificial lake, shall be strictly private. It has been suggested that the public tomb be guarded during the interval by the surviving veterans of the late president's old regiment, the Forty-second acres on the south side of Euclid avenue, just beyond the east limit of assemblage, with bowed heads and Cleveland, five miles from the business centre of the city. The grounds field was slowly borne from the build-ing in which he had gained so many clation of Cleveland, gentlemen of wealth and refinement, incorporated under the law which requires "all gains or profits from the sale of lots or otherwise to be appropriated to perpetual adornment of the cemetery.' The land was purchased ten years ago and laid out by landscape designers and engineers selected for eminence the most profound respect was paid in their professions: Wooded hills, grassy vales, secluded nooks, winding drives, sinuous walks, running brooks, and quiet lakes are the conspicuous landmarks. The association adopted Euclid Avenue when the train ar. a plan different from any other cemetery, and expressed tersely in the The military and templars presented original prospectus in the following arms, and hardly a sound was heard. language: "A feeling is growing in The guard of honor, consisting of the the public mind that birrials should be first officers of the United States made where the quiet repose of the Army and Navy in full uniform, dead may be assured forever. The alighted and formed a double rank at human heart clings to the grave of its the side of the second coach. With- departed hopes, and seeks consolation out delay the military bearers lifted in rearing monuments and emblems the easket containing the dead and of beauty over the femains of its decarried it on their shoulders to the parted loved ones. This can be fitly hearse, the band playing a dirge. done, not in the tumultuous din of Then came the Cabinet officers and cities, but amid the quiet verdure, Rev. Dr. Isaac Errett then offered their wives and other Government under the broad and cheerful light of leaning on the arm of her son Harry, to die is to live again." With this accompanied by Secretary Blaine, sentiment prompting the plans, the cemetery has become in beauty and members of the family followed and tasteful adornment the rival of the went direct to their carriages in wait- most celebrated cemeteries in the world, and the air of retired and resttives that were on the funeral train ful loveliness, of an inexpressible nearness to nature and withdrawal from the world, is not found elsewhere. The great object of the association was to provide a resting place for the departed, free from the gloom of the tomb, and from which should be banished everything suggestive of awfulness in death. No fence, either iron or wood, no coping or curbing of brick or stone, no hedge, wooden trellis, posts and chains, or anything to make an inclosure, is permitted. Head and footboards are prohibited, headstones not allowed to exceed fourteen inches in beight. Thus the cemetery rather resembles a vast well kept park, with stately shafts and deal of attention. During the entire modest or ornate vaults in lieu of statuary and structures. President city tolled in rythm. It was nearly Garfield loved to stroll in this cemean hour after the train arrived that tery. It was his ideal of a final earthly resting place.

> A Sketch of the Cemetery. Lake View cemetery embraces 300

Description of the Vault.

The public vault in which the remains will lie until their final interment is a chapel-like structure of Berea sandstone, gray and yellow in color and Gothic in design. It has a square tower aboue sixty feet in height and a people, our con narrow doorway at the base, guarded by iron bars, and on the inside a door of solid iron. The interior is twenty-seven feet square and almost devoid of decoration, save a few withered flowers. It has stone shelves on three of its walls for the resting place of the mous crime and an undeserved assault for a conscientious exercise of proper dead. The vault fronts on the main avenue of the cemetery, and immediately in front of it there is an artificial spectators. They lined Euclid avenue, lake surrounded by bright colored Erie and Superior streets for over five flowers. It is the abode of several miles between the public square and white swans, who move slowly to and miles between the public square and white swans, who move slowly to and mand the use of all necessary means the cemetery. The curbs and walks fro over its bright waters. This is the were literally impassable. In vacant only spot in the cemetery where the lots stands and tiers of seats had been trustees seem to have expended private means liberally. The lots of many wealthy families lie round about, and as the burying ground is comparatively new all the monuments are so, and many of them are elaborate and costly in design. The land rises

AFTER SCENES. Cleveland, Ohio, September 27 .-The pavillion in the public square of this city, in which the mortal remains of General Garfield laid in state, still stands just as when the body was raised from the imposing catafalque in its centre and born to its long home. Near it stands the magnificent funeral car upon which the last and journey was taken, and both have been the object of almost as much mournful interest to-day as on yesterday. Thousands have filed into the Park, looked upon the picture of the lamented President which still hangs above the spot from which his body was so recently removed and at the mourning drapery and decorations which are still left as ceremoules took place. A squad of poliece was this morning substituted for the soldiers and the people were permited to pass throuh the structure all day and evening. It is estimated that many thousand people who failed to pass the remains visited the pavilion to-day. It will be left standing some days yet and open to the inspection of all who care to look upon the spot prepared to honor the memory of the great man now resting forever in the beautiful city of the dead by the lake. While this evidence of the saddest event ever transpiring in the country is left, many of the mourning decorations on dwellings and business houses are being taken down by the owners or distroyed by the wind. There is much still left, however, to remind one of the sorrow in the hearts of the people, and will be for some days to come.

VISITORS TO THE CEMETERY.

Lake View Cemetery, where the remains now lie, has witnessed to-day an unusual scene. From early morning until dark people were there, coming away with some little relics from the burial place. The vault where he lies and the spot where he is to be finally buried have been points attracting all this mass of visitors, and in the vicinity of the two places, now sacred to all Americans, the trees and shrubbery have been literally striped of their branches, and even the pebbles on the graveled walks about both have been gathered by the thousands and carried away by the throng who have visited the home of the dead. To-day a twig, a gravelstone, a bit of crape from the decorations, or any other memento of a visit to his final home has been to many thousand people sufficient reward for any amount of trouble and fourteen miles of travel by carriage, street car or even foot-travel-

If you are young and discretion or dissipatied or single, old or poor health or languish acas, rely on Hop Whoever you are, whenever you feel hat your system nually from some form of Kidney disease that migh of the stomach HOP NEVER IOP BITTE

Resolved. That the Republican party of Pennsylvania is in the most party of Pennsylvania is in the most hearty accord with the Administra-tion of President Garfield, and, while uniting in the 'prayers of all good people for his speedy recovery, pledges continued feafty and the most active support in the prompt and courag-eous correction of all governmental abuses. As Republicans we are in abuses. As Republicans we are in favor of any proper and well-consid-ered reform, either in the government of the Nation, the State, municipality or county, and we court suggestions to any or all of these ends, and only ask that in their advocacy well-estab-lished safeguards shall not be harshly supplanted by experiments. The Ad-ministration of President Garfield has set the right example in this direction, and while firmly adhering to the principles and better practices of the great party which called it into existence t yet insists upon faithfulness and the yet insists upon mathematics and honesty in every branch of the public service. That the bullet of an assassing should not interrupt this work. It should be pursued while its author lives, and beyond his life, if through increasing misfortune it should be taken away.

taken away.

Resolved, That the Republican party has ever been progressive and reformatory, and while realizing that nothing in government is wholly right we desire to be always brave enough to seek every avenue of ap-proach to the right to the end that all our people may enjoy the ever increasing blessings of good government.

Resolved, That President James A.
Garfield, this tender and loving, this Republican Platform.

struggling and suffering, this pure and brave man, now becomes the beloved of this people and the admired of all people. We tender for ourselves and our constituents assurances of deep our constituents assurances of deep for a conscientious exercise of proper executive power, he has been tempo

Resolved, That in State as in Na-tion, the Republican party is com-mitted to the course of economical and honest administration; we do tended to prevent fraud and waste, and we require a close and watchful guardianship over all of the multifa-rious interests committed to the care of our organization.

Resolved, That in any revision of our tariff legislation which may be made care shall be taken to discriminate in favor of our industries, and thereby promote the causes which are rapidly making. America a controling power in finances, as it already is an established leader in political thought.

Resolved, That the administration of Governor Hoyt merits our warmest approval. We regard with satisfac-tion the results of a purely Republican Administration under his leadership, in which all departments have been faithfully conducted, the credit of the State raised to the highest point, and its finances placed upon a proper basis without increasing the burdens of the people.

"I have represented for many years a District in Congress whose approbation I greatly desired, but though it may seem, perhaps, a little egotistical to say it, I yet desire still more the approbation of one person, and his name was Garfield. He is the only man I am compelled to sleep with, and eat with, and live with, and die with, and if I could not have his approbation I they were when the imposing funeral should have had bad company,"-James A. Garfield before the Ohio

GET THE BEST!

LEAD ALL OTHERS!

Every Style & Price. Guaranteed Unequaled

OPERATION, ECONOMY, DURABILITY and WORKMANSHIP. Improvements and Conveniences found in no others. Always Reliable.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE. For Sale in Every City and Town in the United States.

BIG SIGN No. 42 Main St.

AFULL LINE BUILD: ERS' HARDWLRE.

STOVES AND House-Furnishing GOODS At POPULAR PRICES. W. S. Service, Ag't.

STRAYED.

From the premises of the subscriber. Aug. 25, 1881, a dark red heifer with white stripe on back, white belly and legs. Any information which will lead to the recovery of same which will be liberally rewarded. Ridgway, Sept. 16, 1881;