

To-Day and To-Morrow.

If there comes some joy to me, Would you have me stay, With that joy to smother life? "Yes, Heart, stay to-day!" Well, then, if I have a dream Of some coming sorrow, Shall I wait to feel its fear? "That will do to-morrow!"

The Miller's Granddaughter.

The summer afternoon waned at last; the flaming sun declined toward the horizon, and a cool, soft breeze, inexpressibly delightful after the heat of the day, began to blow. Since early dawn Lizzie Dupont had been toiling at her needle, but now she threw down her work, and leaving the old mill stool on the rustic plank that crossed the mill-race, and looked eagerly over the fields.
