Lapham, Vest, Frye, Beck, Sewell, Cockrell, Pendleton, Fair and Jonas, Speaker Keifer, Samuel J. Tilden, Roscoe Conkling, Governor Foster, of Ohio, and Long, of Massachusetts. about a dozen Congressmen and other prominent men. A long series of resolutions was read and adopted, which began after a number of preambles, by declaring that "we, the citizens of New York, irrespective of creed, race, extraction or political affiliation, desire to express our earnest sympathy for those imprisoned citizens [in British dungeons] and our deep displeasure at the official neglect or evasion of duty which has abandous d them to the mercies of their unscrupulous jailers." "The sycophantic bearing of James Russell Lowell, our minister at the court of St. James, joined with his supercilious replies to the appeals of our unlawfully imprisoned fellow-citizens," it was next declared, "has been viewed by us with mingled feelings of disgust and indignation." The resolutions then denounced "the flunkeyism which airs itself in Anglicized circles in this country," and declared that "notwithstanding the profound sympathy which true Americans feel for Ire and and her cause since that cause is kin to that of the spirit of '76, the issues now in volved constitute not an Irish question, nor an Euglish question, but simply an American question." #### From Washington

In his message to the Senate vetoing the bill

o restrict Chinese emigration the President asserts that the suspension of the coming of Chinese laborers to this country for twenty years would be a breach of our national faith as pledged to China in the treaty of 1880, He reviews the negotiations at the forming of the treaty, to show that neither of the contracting parties contemplated the passage of an act containing a prohibition of emigration for twenty years, or thought that such a period would be a reasonable suspension or limitation. He adds that he is deeply convinced of the necessity for some legislation on this subject, and points out features o this act which, he thinks, could be modified to advantage. He says the system of personal registration and passports is undemocratic and hostile to the spirit of our institutions, The Chinese minister has reminded him that the bill makes no provision for the tran-it across the United States of Chinese subjects now residing in foreign countries, Good faith, and good policy too, he thinks, require us to suspend the emigration of Chinese laborers for a less period than twenty years. No one, the President asserts, can say that the country has not profited by the work of the Chinese; and the Pacific States, he declares, are full of evidences of their industry. Now it is supposed they are not needed there, but there may be other sections of the country, he auggosts, where their labor may be advantageously employed without interfering with the labors of our own race. Finally, the President declares that the trade of China has been very valuable to us, and especially to California, and that the policy of this bill must repel it. It may be, he says, that the great and paramount in terest of protecting our labor from Asiatic competition justifies us in a permanent adoption of this policy; but it is wiser in the first place to make a shorter experiment, with a view hereafter of maintaining permanently only such features as time and experience may

Fatal Storm in the West.

Portions of Michigan, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas have been visited by a tornado in which many lives were lost and much property de-stroyed. Near Raymond, Kanses, John Wil-son's house was blown down and Mrs. Wilson was killed and a Mrs. Parker fatally injured. Several other large and strongly built houses were demolished in the neighborhood. Prowere demolished in the neighborhood. Proceeding northward the storm struck the new and thriving town of Chase, demolishing twenty out of the twenty-six buildings in the place, and throwing cars from the track. Mr. Read, a hotel keeper, was killed, and his wife fatally injured. Another woman and a child were also killed. At about the same time in the evening a small cyclone passed through the eastern part of the county, doing considerable damage. It was accomdoing considerable damage. It was accompanied by a waterspout, pouring a deluge of water in some paces, and drowning everything loose in others. The wind sucked all of the water out of the wells. As the cloud approached Chare it was in the shape of a funciet, whirling and twisting with fearful velocity. Churches and other buildings in its path were completely wrecked. Near Highland Station, Michigan, the dwelling of a man named Crandall was blown down, killing Grandall and general mining a durcher. A one child, and severely injuring a daughter.
