THE estate of Joseph L. Lewis, of Jersey City, valued at $1,000,000, which he bequeathed to the United States government to help to pay the national debt, has been finally settled. The probate of the will was disputed by a woman who claimed to be the widow. She, Marcus Sacia, Dr. Parks and other associates were convicted of fraud and septenced to State prison at Trenton. The estate, by judicious investment, bas now reached the sum of $1,400,000. The sum of $300,000 has been awarded to the West India heirs, and $100,000 has been allowed for counsel fees and legal expenses. The residue, $900,000, is in United States bonds, and they will, it is said, be canceled, under the direction of the court, and then be returned to the secretary of the treasury, as the simplest way of carrying out the terms of the will.

To arrest these causes the article used must possess medical as well as themical virtues, and the change must begin under the scalp to be of permanent and lasting tenefit. Petroleum oil is the article which is made to work such extraordinary results; but it is after the best reflued article has been themically treated, and completely deoderized, but it is in proper condition for the toilet and receives the name of Carboline. It was in far-sif Russia that the effects of petroleum upon the off Russia that the effects of petroleum upon the off Russia that the effects of petroleum upon the sair were first observed; a government officer taxing noticed that a partially bald-headed servant of his, when trimming the lamps, had shabit of wiping his oil-besmeared hands in his canty looks, and the result was, in a few months, a much finor head of black, glossy hair than he sver had before. The oil was tried on horses and cattle that had lost their hair from the catand cattle that had lost their hair from the cat-ile plague, and the results were marvelous. The manes and fails of horses, which had fallen out, were completely restored in a few weeks, These experiments were heralded to the world, but no one in civilized society could tolerate the use of refined petroleum as a dressing for the hair. But the skill of one of our chemists has vercome the difficulty, and he has succeeded n perfecting Carboline, rendering it as dainty s the famous can de cologne. Experiments on he human hair and skin were attended with the most astonishing results. A few applications, where the hair was thin and falling, gave remarkable tone and vigor to the eca p and the hair. Every particle of dandroff disappears on the first or second dressing, all outaneous disease of the skin and scalp are rapidly and permanently healed, and the liquid seems to penetral tax and a first or second dressing. It is well rate to the root of the hair at once. It is well known that the most beautiful colors are made from petroleum, and by some mysterious opera-tion of nature the use of this article gradually imparts a beautiful light brown color to the hair, which by continued use deepens to black. The color remains permanent, and the change is so gradual that the most intimate friends can respect dates its recovers. When the tones of a musical instrument become harsh and discordant we say it is "out of time." The same may be said of that far more wonderful and complicated piece of mechanism, the human structure, when it becomes disordered. Not only actual disease, but those far more common causes, overwork, mental anxiety sind fast living, may impair its vigor and activity. The best remedy for a partial collapse of the vital energies, from these as from other causes, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is at the same time an agreeable and mind cheering cordial, and the best possible invigorant in fill cases of debility. It is an incomparable stomachic and anti-

TONY PASTOR IN TROUBLE. his physical health, and he replied that it was excellent. He had occasionally severe pains, either the result of rheumatic attacks or colds, but any complaints of the control of the con that character never trouble him long, as he hadroundout a remedy a ffections. I aske, st. Jacons Oil.

Mr. Pastor said that he can except the Great German Remedy a relief of preparation for the cure or relief of the interesting and would not be without if, and knew that it was vury popular with a number of memoers of his own company. The foregoing, from the Brooklya (N. Y.) Engle, recalls to our mind an Hem wherein the editor of the Catro (III.) Econing Sun, in paying a tribute to the enterprise of the St. Louis Fost-Dipotch, and expressing his sorrow at the loss by fire which the latter paper sustained, says: "The whole office was knocked into ten thousand pleces—all except the St. Jacons Oil. advertisement, which was mercifully preserved." The closing remarks in the above and the following incident are a true index of the mexampled appularity the Great German Remedy enjoys everywhere: At a St. Louis thesies recently whilst the play was in progress, one of the hady performers met with a painful mishap, which quite disabled her. The hero of the piece, equal to the emergency, called out to one of the ushers to "bring a bottle of St. Jacons Oil, aukkly." The thundering applause throughout the entires house which promptly followed this happy suggestion was an unmistakable proof of the fact that the audience "had been there the meetices," as the expression goes, and experienced the benefits of this wonderful article.

Mr. Charles A. Whitney, advertising agent of Park Garden, Providence, R. I., writes, "For three years I land inflammatory rhemmatism in my right hip and knee. I employed many noted physicians, and tried numerous remedies for the allinent, but found nothing to help me until I used the Great German Remedy, St. Jacons Oil, which cured meatone
