Lachawannock.

A LARGE body of LAND on this river and its waters, is now for sale to Settlers only, on moderate terms, and at a long credit. The soil is remarkably fertile, and numerous streams of water are interspersed through the whole country.

The main river flows through one tract of about thirty thousand acres, and is with the exception of one obstruction, navigable to the Susquehanna.

Spring Brook Creek, which with its branches, waters another tract of about forty thousand acres of good Land, empties itself into the Lachawannock, about twelve miles from the Susquehanna.

It affords numerous Mill seats, & in its course creates large bodies of well watered meadow ground.

The other tracts are intersected by creeks of considerable importance.

Several Mills are already erected for the accommodation of the settlers.

Roads are cut in different directions, towards the most convenient markets.

The country town is not more than 12 miles distant from many parts of the settlement.

The Susquehanna affords an easy and safe navigation to Middleton, from whence the Canal to Schuylkill extends the communication to the city.

Another means of connection with Philadelphia, is by the Delaware, from which the distance in several places is about thirty miles.

The proprietors combining their own interest with that of the inhabitants, are disposed to erect works of public utility, open roads, &c. and in every nine miles square, a tract of one hundred acres is allotted for a School, and one hundred acres for the first resident clergyman of any denomination of Christians.

For further particulars apply to
George Eddy,
Wilkes-Barre, Luzerne County,
Pennsylvania, July 9.

Letters directed to George Eddy, at Philadelphia, or to this place, or to Thomas Eddy, at New York, relative to this business, will be duly answered.

At the same time he begs leave to remind them, that subscription papers are still open at most of the noted book-stores in the city; and that he hopes from the whole of them to be enabled to form such a respectable catalogue of names, as will do credit to the work, as well as afford a reasonable encouragement to the undertaker.

Detested be the open avowed baneful influence
Could to the youthful docile mind convey
Pernicious precepts, tell those tales,
And paint illicit passion in such colours,
As might mislead the unsuspecting heart,
And vitiate the young, unsexed judgment.

I would not for the riches of the East
Abuse the noblest gifts of Heaven thus,
Or sink my Genius in such prostitution.

THE TRIAL
OF
Maurice Margarot,
Before the High Court of Judiciary at Edinburgh, on an indictment for
SEDITIONARY PRACTICES.

OF the many remarkable trials which the present extraordinary system of criminal jurisprudence in G. Britain and Ireland has brought before the public eye; this certainly is most entitled to universal perusal and attention. It develops, more fully than any publication extant, the latest views and objects of the British constitution; and proves incontrovertibly, that judicial prosecutions (or persecutions) and decisions are now more the result of the present order of things, than any old fashioned attachment to the laws or the constitution. Add to this, that it holds up to the wonder and admiration of mankind, the firm, manly, and patriotic conduct of this devoted victim—thus 'Second Sydney,' as he has justly and deservedly been called; who in the course of one of the longest trials we know of, unassisted even by a single member of the long robe, evinced such a depth of legal and constitutional knowledge and, in a speech of four hours length, displayed such a blaze of eloquence and firm rate abilities, as astonished the court—and, strange to relate! even drew involuntary applause from the venal and time-serving creature of a corrupt government."
