Several privateers have been already fitted out from Oftend ; ten Scotch velfels were captured on the 17th inft. off Lowestoff by fome of them. On Saturday Mr. Eaft, the meffen-ger arrived at the Secretary of State's office with difpatches from the Duke of York, dated July 30. The British ar-my under the command of his Royal Highnels remained unmolefted in its position near Rolendael. On the 29th, position near Rofendael. On the 29th, orders were illued for the army to pre-pate for moving nearer to Breda; but on the 30th thefe orders were counter-manded. The advanced guard of the French army, confilting of 6000 men, under the command of Gen. Cafpard, was, on Tuefilay laft, about a league on the Dutch fide of Antwerp. The Prince of Orange, with the Dutch troops, occupied a position to cover the right of Breda. On Saturday a meffenger arrived alfo with difpatches from the Earl of Elgin, and Lord St. Helen's, at the Hague. The accounts received by the Dutch and Elanders mails make no mention of and Flanders mails make no mention of the reported defeat of a part of the Prince of Saxe Cobourg's army near Maeftricht.

Maettricht. The garrifon of Landrecy, confifting of 2000 men, furrendered at diferction on the 15th of July. Letters from Leghorn of the 9th July mention that Calvi fill continues to hold out notwithflanding the place was inceffuntly fired upon. Two fhips of the line, with four fri-gates had arrived at Leghorn ; on board of one of the frigates were four Corfican Deputies on their paffage to England. From Milan we learn that the rifing in a mafs in Piedmont, has produced upwards of 40,000 men. They are to be divided into three columns, to affift the troops of the line in driving the be divided into three commus, to and the troops of the line in driving the French from their various pofts. Their ftandards are decorated with the words "Vive Jefu, Maria Vergine la Religi-one Cartolica. Patra." But they are furnished with provisions only for a

Accounts from Warfaw down to the 13th mention that a general attack was expected to be made on that place in 4 days. Kofciufco's whole force is in the days. Kolciulco's whole force is in the intrenchments under its walls, and an obflinate refiftance is expected. The most confiderable part of the people arc for giving up the place, but the chiefs of the infurgents are for refifting to the utmost. The centre of the Profilan ar-my under the King in perfon, it is fup-poled, will undertake the fiege. The corps under the Hereditary Prince is upon the left, and cloics with the wood of Bielinow, while the right wing is Bielinow, while the right wing is formed by the Ruffians under General Forfen, and extends to Czernichow.

His Royal Highnefs the Duke of York and his Army continue at Rofen-dael—The French General has fent His Royal Highnefs word, that he thall very foon pay him a vifit, and His Royal Highnefs has returned a flort and ver, that he is used to receive him. I hope that he is ready to receive him. I hope that the compliments on fuch a bufinefs will not be the most agreeable to the Carmagnols.

BOIS-LE-DUC.

The Governor of our city having received orders to put the place into a flate of de-fence, has ordered all the fluices to be opened to effect an inundation. This measure has fueceeded partially, the want of rain ha-ving left the waters very low. The fame attempt has been made with as little fuecefs at Heufden, Gapelle, and Breda.

FLUSHING, July 28.

FLUSHING, July 28. The French, for thefe two or three days, have been in the neighborhood of Sluys, without coming near enough the town to be annoyed by the garrifon; but this morning, it feems, they began in earneft their labor, the effect of which was the complete routing of all the Dutch troops that were placed both here and there, with batteries at the entrance of the oppointe fide of the Scheldt. Their retreat was cut off from Sluys, fo that they were obliged to fly to this place, where they arrived at 4 o'clock this morning; they were about 70 or 80 that efcaped hither. We differen very plainly the Car-magnols working at the batteries, which they attempt to confirmed all along the hore: a Dutch armed brig has been all the morning firing at them, and they re-turn the fire; all this we fee from our ramparts here.

July 29, 1 o'elock, A. M. Yefterday we faw very diffinctly from About 12 a very heavy canonade com-menced; the refult no one can be ac-qualitation with the refult no one can be acquainted with ; the French were about quainted with; the French were about 10,000, according to the beft judges. The Mynheers began to examine their guns upon the ramparts, and a brig in the offing fired at the Carmagnols as they paffed along the fands. Sir S. Smith and Lord Moira are here. There are 400 pieces of brafs cannon in Sluys; but there are not 2000 men to defend it. We feem all panic ftr

THE BYSTANDER.

The Tragedy of Percy* with the High-land Reel, reduced to an after siece of two acts were reprefented on Friday evening to a very brilliant and crowded house-both of which got off, feemingly to universal fatisfaction.

The curtailing the Comic Opera the By-

The curtailing the Comic Opera the By-fander thinks a laudable improvement, and the piece certainly appears with additio-nal advantage under its prefent form. The Writer has beard it frequently ob-ferwed that be confines his remarks lokely to the merits of the Performers—from which be concludes that it is expected of him to no-tice also the Plays. He begs leave to offer his reply, and appeals to the candour and judgement of the public. It is well known that most of the old flandard plays have undergone the toff of capricious tafle for upwards of a Century, the flrongest evidence of their prejent undi-puted worth : and those written of later years (among subich much wile trafb exists) have all undergone the fiery ordeal of the Montoly and Critical Reviewers. Should a piece the production of an American pen be prefented on the flage, the Bystander avoid conceive it his duty to the Author and the Public, to speak of it with that impar-tiality he subich that impar-tiality he subich that imparthe Public, to freak of it with that impar-tiality by which he has ever endeavored to be guided : he will

"nothing extenuate,

"nothing extenuate, "Nor fet down aught in malice." The Byfander has learnt with pain, that his remarks on the performance of Leander caufed fome convulfive ymptoms to the gen-tleman avbo perfondted that charafter—Un-avilling to agravate the caufe of his difcon-tent, he will only observe, that he is not to be bullied nor cowted by fattery into obsequiouf nefs; impartiality is his fludy, and though his remarks may fometimes be thought for vere, yet becan make allowances, "mildy udging, like a good natured critic.³³ When he witneffes natural failings, boswever ingular, he can fubdue his wit; but an ingular, be can judane bis wit ; but an affected deportment, aiming to be internal-ly great, induces bim to compose those emo-tions excited by any thing ridiculous, ---- Non amo te, sed non possibility dicere quare, tantum possibility diceres non amo te: 1
