This Lottery will afford an e.egant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two heautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these drawings, it is proposed to erect two centre, and some corner buildings, as soon as possible after this Lottery is sold, and to convey them when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the anamer described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent, will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c., and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the City of Washington.

The drawing will commence as soon as the Tickets are sold, or at all events on

The drawing will commence as foon as the Tickets are fold, or at all events on Monday, the 22nd of December next: The money prizes will be payable in thirty days after it is finished, and any prizes for which fortunate numbers are not produced within twelve months after the drawing is closed are to be considered as given towards the fund for the University, it being determined to settle the whole business in a year from the ending of the drawing and to take up the bonds given as security.

The real securities given for the payaent of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the Lottery. The drawing will be under the management of 24 gentlemen approved by the commissioners for the City of Washington, for the time being, and acting on oath.

SAMUEL BLODGET.

 Tickets may be had at the Bank of plumbia; of James West & Co. Baltimore; Gideon Denison, Savannah; of Peter ilman, Boston; of John Hopkins, Richard; and of Richard Wells, Cooper's fer-

Dancing School.

BOOKS, PRINTED & PUBLISHED By Mathew Carey,

No. 118, Market Street, 1. Charlotte, a tale of truth,

By Mrs Rosuson, of the Nesu-Theatre Philadelphia. Second American edition-Price 75 cents

The rapid fale of the First Edition of this interesting novel, in a few months, is the best proof of its merit.] Extract from the Critical Review, April 1791, p. 468.

It maybe a take of truth, for it is not unatural, and it is a tale of real diffress charlotte by the artifice of a teacher, ommended to a school from humasity her than a conviction of her integrity he regularity of her farmer conduct, is the regularity of her farmer conduct, is enticed from her governe's, and accompanies a young officer to America—The marriage cerem ny, if not forgotten, is postponed, and Charlotte dies a marry to the inconfiancy of her lover, and treachery of his friend,—The fituations are artless and affecting—the descriptions ustural and pathetic; we should feel for Charlotte If such a person ever extired, who for one error, scarcely, perhaps deserved so severe a punishment. If it is a fiction, pretic justices not, we think, properly distributed."

EXTRACT FROM THE PREFACE,
"The authors have presumed to affix to their title the epithet Imparial; and the reason is, because they cannot charge themselves with feeling the sinalless bias to any party, but that of truth and liberty; and they slatter themselves, that their readers will find not only every circumstance fairly, whoever were the authors or actors, marked in its proper colors. If it was necessary to make a declaration of their own principles, they would say, they are neither tory nor republican—They love liberty as English whigs, and execute every criminal act by which so noble a cause is endangered and disgraced.
