J. C. ROUSSEAU, one of the unfortunate inhabitants of St. Domingo, having a small family of children, finds it necessary for their support, to apply himself to the infrudion of youth. He therefore proposes teaching the above branches of science, inthe most modern stile; and solicits the paltronage of a generous public. The liberal education he has received, and the fevera other branches of science he has acquired a perfect knowledge of, will enable him to give satisfaction to those persons who may employ him. He will wait on ladies and gentlemen, who wish to be taught at their own houses; and will open an evening school, from fix to nine o'clock, on the 20th instant. Enquire at No. 117, No th Second-Areet.

This Lottery will afford an e.egant specimen of the private buildings to be erect d in the City of Washington—Two beautiful defigns are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these drawings, it is proposed to erect two centre and tour corner buildings, as soon as possible after this Lottery is fold, and to convey them when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of sive per cent, will be made to destay the necessary expences of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the sund intended for the National University, to be erected within the City of Washington.

for the National University, to be erected within the City of Washington.

The drawing will commence as soon as the Tickets are fold, or at all events on Monday, the 22nd of December next: The money prizes will be payable in thirty days after it is sinished, and any prizes for which fortunate numbers are not produced within twelve months after the drawing is closed are to be considered as given towards the fund for the University, it being determined to settle the whole business in a year from the ending of the drawing and to take up the honds given as security.

The real securities given for the sayment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the Lottery. The drawing will be under the Lottery. The drawing will be under the management of 24 gentlemen approved by the commissioners for the City of Wain-ington, for the time being, and acting on path.

BOOKS, PRINTED & PUBLISHED By Mathew Carey,

No. 118, Market Street,

Extract from the Critical Review, April 1791, p. 468.

It may be a tale of truth, for it is not unnatural, and it is a tale of real diffees—Charlotte by the artifice of a teacher, recommended to a school from humanity rather than a conviction of her integrity of the regularity of her former conduct, is enticed from her governess, and accompanies a young officer to America—The marriage cerem ny, if not forgotten, is postponed, and Charlotte dies a marry to the inconstancy of her lover, and treachery of his friend,—The fituations are arties and affecting—the descriptions natural and pathetic; we should feel for Charlotte if such a person ever existed, who, for one error, thetic; we should feel for Charlotte is such a person ever existed, who, for one error, scarcely, perhaps deserved so severe a punchment. If it is a siction, poetic justice is not, we think, properly distributed."

EXTRACT FROM THE PREFACE.

The authors have prefumed to affect to their title the epithet Impartial; and the reason is, because they cannot charge themselves with feeling the smalless bias to any party, but that of truth and liberty; and they flatter themselves, that their readers will find not only every circumstance fairly represented, but every constrable action, whoever were the authors or actors, marked in its proper colors. If it was need fairly to make a declaration of their own principles, they would say, they are neither tory not republican—They love liberty as English whigs, and executate every criminal act by which so noble a cause is endangered and difgraced.
