Thirty dollars reward.
Ran away from the subscriber, a white French servant man named Pierre La Fite, about 30 years of age, of small stature, blue eyes, large nostrils; had on blue clothes, like a sailor's, and has a small wound in one of his fingers. He left my plantation last Saturday morning, after stealing several silver spoons and forks, part of which he sold to a silver-smith in Fredericktown. He parted away with him a French Negro Girl, named Gillette, about 22 years of age belonging to me. She had on a green petticoat, and they both speak bad English. He says he is a gardener, and had been afeaman on board a French privateer which he left at Baltimore, previous to his coming into my service at Fredericktown. Any person who will secure them in either of the jails of the following places, shall thereupon receive 15 dollars for each of the said run-aways, of the following persons.

Struggle for Freedom:
A PLAY,
interspersed with Songs, in three acts intended to the Citizens of the United States of North America.
By Mrs. Rowson.
As performed at the New Theatres in Philadelphia and Baltimore.
Extra'd from the Preface.
"My chief aim has been, to offer to the public a Dramatic Entertainment, which, while it might excite a smile, or call forth the tear of sensibility, might contain one sentiment, in the least prejudicial, to the moral or political principles of the government under which I live. On the contrary, it has been my endeavour, to place the social virtues in the fairest point of view, and hold up to merited contempt and ridicule, their opposite vices. If, in this attempt, I have been the least successful, I shall reap the reward to which I aspire, in the smiles and approbation of a liberal public."
Sold by M. Carey, No. 128, and Rice & Co. No. 59, High Street; S. Campbell, No. 54, South Second Street, and Wrigley & Beriman, No. 149, Chestnut Street.

"Here smooth CANALS, across th' extended plain
Stretch their long arms to join the distant main
The sons of toil, with many a weary stroke
Coop the hard bottom of the solid rock;
Resistless through the stiff opposing clay,
With steady patience, work their gradual way;
Compel the Genius of th' unwilling flood
Through the brown horrors of the aged wood;
Crofs the lone waste the silver urn they pour,
And cheer the barren heath, or fallen moor.
"The traveller, with pleasing wonder sees
The white sail gleaming through the dusky trees;
And views the alter'd landscape with surprise
And doubts the magic scenes that round him rise.
Now like a flock of swans, above his head,
Their woven wings the flying vessels spread
Now meeting streams, in artful maze, slide
While each, unmingled, pours a separate tide;
Now, through the hidden veins of earth they flow
And visit sulphurous mines and caves below.
The ductile streams obey the guiding hand,
And social Plenty crowns the HAPPY LAND."
