MR. WAYNE.

SINCE I landed in America, I either have, or think I have, discovered certain local traits of character among the natives of fuch states as I have vifited, which may not fo obvioufly appear toperfons to whom they are more familiar : Therefore, a few words, if you pleafe, on the fubject. In New Jerfey the e appears to be a caft of character, extending to the figure, the mien, and the dialect of the natives, fufmien, and the dialect of the natives, ful-ficiently fighing to arreft a franger's atten-tion. With perfors long and lank, and features fmall and pinched (the no'e thin and equiline, a fmall head and pointed chin) ad-ded to a firaggling gait; they drawl out their words and drag along their perfors, as if each were weary of the other. Almost every fentence they utter is tagged at one, or each end, with a felection from those fignificant words, Guefs, Sufpett, Expett, Reeken. Take the following D'alogue between two natives of N. Jerfey.

- 2 It's one o'clock, I GUESS?
- I Exp. cr it is.

You are from Woodbury, I Sus-PECT

I GUESS I am.

9. I GUESS you are going to Market, then ?

Why-I RECKON fo.

How do you Expect Truck will go to day ?

A. Confiderable cheap, I GUESS. 2. Will Cheefe fell well, you GUESS? A. I SUSPECT it will. There's not much at market. I R+CKON.

And thus, Mr, Editor, those conjurors never fail to fufped and guess, exped and rec-kon, to a tittle, concerning even the most obvious truths.

N. B. The words imagine, fuppof, be-lieve. think, conceive (except in one fenfe) conjecture. apprehend, with numerous others of funitar import, form no part of the New-Jerfey Dictionary : nor, indeed, can they be found in any Lexicon to the callward, funitar perchange. New Yeak a but here faving, perchance, New-York ; but how long they may be countenanced there, it is not for me to div ne—me, a mere obferver of things as they exift under my eye. Yet, on the other hand, it must be confessed, that their language is enriched with numerous other words of prompt and lometimes exten-five fignificance; fuell as illy [forill] lay [lie] five fignificative; tuch as my form j my fire j sot [late] set [lit] swap [to exchange or barter]. Then, Mr. Editor, there is that all-devouring fubftantive, verb, or whatever elfe you may pleafe to call it, and which must be pronounced with the genuine nafal twang. — I mean notions; a word fo rich in itfelf and of luch unlimited import, that I feel myself incompetent to detail all its powers. It is devoutly to be wilhed, that that ers. It is devoutly to be willed, that that great language-making luminary, Noah Weblier, Juar. Elquire, may gratify the American public with a learned differtation upon the beauties and powers of this in-comparable word. Such a work would af-furedly be confidered as a moft valuable addition to the learned Lexicon he has now on the flocks, and which, I guess, will be inti-tuled (and juffly too) A Dictionary of the

In three parts. In three parts. To expatiate on the propriety of an Enter-tainment, where the Follies of Life are expoded in laughable & triking colours, & the moral inferences drawn from fluch difplay, it is prefumed, would be needlefs. It is well known that the ancients held this mode of influctive amufement in the higheft degree of effimation; nor has it been lefs effecemed by the moft po-lifted nations among the moderns. To "Catch the living manners as they rife," has ever been held not only allowable but merrito-rious; and the opinion given by one of the original compiler, of the Lecture now offered to the public, "That his merit, genius, and fatirical obfervations, marked him as a Public Ceafor; and that his judicious difplay of Fol-ly and Vice, entitle him not only to public en-couragement, but public thanks." As the high-ly flattered attempts of the then living author, mult be confidered as the higheft eulogium to his manes; fo it is koped the fame with to pleafe and entertain in the prefent cafe, will be viewed at leaft with candour.
