

BALTIMORE, August 1.

Among the stolen articles advertised yesterday, and which have been recovered by the vigilance of the police, is a faux Bible! No doubt it contained the 20th chapter of Exodus which is earnestly recommended in particular to the furious perusal of the thief. "The law came by Moses, but"—the Age of Reason came by Thomas Paine! and as Paine has led these men into error, let pain bring them to a sense of their duty.

CHARLESTON, July 19.

On Monday morning last, the Barn, on General Vanderhorst's plantation in Christ Church parish, was struck by lightning, and entirely consumed, together with his Machine-House, Grind-Mill, and some other buildings, which stood adjoining. Nothing was saved, but a few bushels of corn.

Died, much regretted by all his acquaintances, at Cambridge, in this State, on the 9th inst. Mr. William McCoury, a native of Galloway in Scotland, aged 24 years.

On Saturday last a beautiful ship was launched at Hobrow, from the ship yard of Mr. William Pritchard, sen.—She is called the Horison, is about 360 tons burthen, and pierced for 22 guns, and built of the best materials our country affords. She is purchased by Messrs. A. and John M. Clure, and intended for a London trader. Judges of naval architecture pronounce that her model for sailing and the faithfulness in the execution of the work will do great credit to Mr. Pritchard. The launch was executed with skill and expedition, and highly gratified a large number of spectators, who attended for the purpose.

FORGERY.

An Irishman, by name John M. Murray, was arrested on a warrant from Justice Beutham, and committed to the goal of this city on Tuesday night, as one of a gang concerned in counterfeiting and issuing Baltimore Bank Notes of 100 Dollars.

Information had been forwarded by the Mayor of Baltimore to a gentleman of this city, that an accomplice of Murray's was then confined in goal, for passing forged notes of 100 dollars of the Baltimore Bank; and that in expectation of lessening his punishment, he had confessed that they were executed by Murray and himself in Charleston, South Carolina. He likewise described the person of Murray, his residence, and the part of it, (under the King of one of the lower rooms, No. 19, King-street,) where the plates and other necessary implements were concealed. Upon the arrest of M. and the examination of the premises, the correctness of the information was established. The copper plate and two notes of the Baltimore Bank for 100 dollars each were found.

By the confession of the first villain it is stated that they stamped 85 notes of 100 dollars each, and that between the two they had passed off 80 of them—the small sum of 8000 dollars.

The copper plate is said to be well executed; but the paper is rather darker and browner than the genuine notes.

PHILADELPHIA.

MONDAY EVENING, AUGUST 4.

The Federalists of the City of Philadelphia are requested to meet at Dunwoody's Tavern, on Wednesday evening next, at 7 o'clock, on important business.

Monday, Aug 4.

The Federal printers are requested to insert the above notice.

No papers have come to hand by this Day's Eastern Mail.

We understand, a Court-Martial composed of the Officers of the Western army, commenced its sitting in this City on Friday last.

The Democrats of Statesburg in South Carolina, have addressed General Sumner;—they speak of his great military services during the revolution!—What were they?

To-day, we republish another masterly essay from the pen of L. ZEUS. These speculations, written in a sober and dispassionate style, claim and have received a very large share of public attention. No papers on the important topic of the approaching election have more fully detected the wiles of JEFFERSON, and none in the Eastern States have more effectually defeated the projects of his ambition.

The "Act to establish a uniform System of Bankruptcy throughout the U. States," is from its importance and precision, best calculated to appear in the pamphlet form. In this mode, the convenience of the purchaser is consulted, and the knowledge of a part of our legal code, at once novel and important, is more advantageously communicated than in a fugitive newspaper. We find that the act in question is very neatly printed in this city by MAXWELL and DICKINS. The proofs were inspected by a gentleman of professional skill, and the execution is highly respectable. The type is beautiful, and the text is pure of errors.

The Jacobins are ferociously alarmed at the just and necessary measures adopted by Massachusetts and New Hampshire in defence of their rights against an aspiring and daring faction. The Democrats are fearful, that Maryland intends giving the death-blow to their darling hopes at the approaching election for Electors. Their incessant cries for the rights of the people, we should suppose, would arouse the insulted shade of Virginia's murdered rights, which sitting through the air would exclaim in the language of the Ghost in Hamlet, "Remember Me."

We shall never tire of inserting satirical Sketches of the late democratic proceedings at the State House. "ON BROWER" will appear to-morrow, and will probably recall to the mind of the reader this passage from HUDIBRAS.

For, when a fly retires to bed, Here lies his tail above his head; So, in this commonwealth of ours The rabble are the supreme powers."

A correspondent is desirous of being informed whether a would be Sheriff of famous Insurrection memory can calculate upon a powerful support from that highly respectable body, the Roman Catholics of this city, at the ensuing election in October? He is induced to ask this question from the circumstance of this very p. u., enlightened and devout christian having yesterday attended divine service, and perched himself in a conspicuous part of Saint Mary's.

Many of the retainers of the Aurora Office have a very forlorn and disconsolate air. Of some the creditors are importunate, and to others, perhaps the churlish laundress has not returned the only shirt they have in the world. Alas, poor Devils your lot is a hard one, your lines have fallen in pleasant places neither have you a goodly heritage. Mr. Jefferson lays out what is left of his British debt in the purchase of big bones and small deism; and, as for your immediate employer Cash, must be a stranger to him, for democratic subscribers never pay, and Gin is excited.

The people of the United States are attempted to be gulled into the belief or frightened into the fear that Jefferson will be their chief. But this Deist and philosopher will be refuted by the good sense of America. From the present aspect of things and from well grounded calculations a man of principle, and energy, and a staunch and virtuous Federalist will triumph over democratic machinery, and save us from Philology and Frenchmen.

Some of the traits of Jacobinism are empty brains ragged coats, a blaspheming tongue and a bawdy breath. The Democrats are generally Falstaff's ragged regiment; and, like the miserable gazetteers lashed by Pope's "Sleeveless fame, and shirtless others."

A writer, whose signature is Bylander, in the Baltimore Federal Gazette has taken a complete review of the United States, and gives a statement of votes for Electors of President and Vice President.—This calculation is made with nice precision and close investigation.—Such is his fairness that in every instance when a doubt arises he places it to the credit of the democrats.—The result appears to be that were district electors as universally established, the anti federalists, on the most liberal allowance, could get but 63 votes in all the States, out of 138, of which it requires 70 to make a majority. This is, that if the sense of the nation could be expressed by the fairest of all possible modes, a general election by the people in districts, there would be a large majority of the nation against that candidate whom his friends are now attempting to smuggle in, by changing the mode of election from districts to a general ticket, where it suits their views, and clamouring, at the same time, for district elections, where they hope to get something by them.

In Virginia they began the game. They took away the fair mode of district elections and substituted a general ticket, where by the voice of six federal districts was filenced in the election of President. In Pennsylvania they contended to the last for a general ticket, and refused to the federalists a district election, on the fairest division of the State, which was repeated y offered to them. A person, indeed, under the signature of "A Pennsylvanian," who is said to be Mr. Dallas has had the unaccountable effrontery to assert, in a paper of this city, that the anti-federalist in the Pennsylvania legislature did not object to the principles of a district election, but to the mode of dividing the State; asserting which but person himself, and every man in Pennsylvania, knows to be false. In Maryland, on the contrary, these same friends of Mr. Jefferson, hypocritically affect the most violent attachment to district elections, raise a loud clamour about the rights of the people, and contend, tooth and nail, for that very mode which their coadjutors have abolished in Virginia, and presented in Pennsylvania; hoping by these means to cheat the federal party, who calculate the majority in Maryland, as well as in the nation at large, out of their choice, out of their right, as a Majority, to have a President of their choice and to impose on the nation a Chief Magistrate to whom the majority is unquenchably opp'd.—In a subsequent number, I will examine, more at length, this pretence about the rights of the people, where by they are attempted to be cheated, in fact, out of their rights; and the foundations of this clamour by which the good sense of the majority is attempted to be imposed on, and a President to be chosen by a fictitious majority. In the mean time, I will take the federalists of Maryland who constitute the majority by the confession even of their opponents, what is the right which they hold most dear? Is it not to have a President of their own choice? If so, will they suffer themselves to be defrauded of this dear and substantial right, by a few cant phrases; by the artifices of the enemies of government in other States, aided by the noisy clamours in this? Should such be their conduct, I shall indeed be acquiescent but astonished.
