

Late FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

LONDON, August 7.
Our readers are informed that two more Danish vessels have been detained by the Phoenix lugger, and brought into Bridlington, in Yorkshire. The one was in ballast, bound to Norway; the other from Copenhagen to Leghorn. We cannot account for the detention of these vessels. Did the captain of the lugger detain them without orders? Or did the Danes resist the attempt to search them and prefer being captured, in order to give additional force to the complaint of Denmark? The particulars are not known, so that we cannot answer these questions.

Notwithstanding the menacing aspect of affairs in the North, it seems not to have excited any considerable alarm, at Lloyd's for the insurance to the Russian and Swedish ports in the Baltic has risen only 2 per cent. It is improbable, likewise, that any general order should have been given to seize Danish ships at sea, as no hostile measure has been exercised against those in our ports.

It is probable that Lord Wintworth goes to Denmark to endeavour to divert that court from the system it has adapted, or at least to endeavour for the present, to postpone the discussion of the principle. It would be a miserable thing, at the present moment to see such a point submitted to the decision of arms. Lord Wintworth's stay it is supposed will not be long. Mr. Drummond, however will remain as chargé d'affaires.

Nothing can be more dreadful than the fate which a ministerial paper confidently predicts must befall the Northern Powers should they persist in adopting, at a crisis like the present, any thing like an armed neutrality. "The foundations of their thrones will be shaken; they must fall into the gulph of revolution, &c. &c. and the contempt and indignation of mankind will call down upon their heads, that curse of which Buonaparte will be only the agent and the instrument."

The Hamburg papers mention that the Danish General, Goult von Des Goltz, lately passed through that place on his way to England, from whence he proceeds to Portugal to take the chief command of the Portuguese troops. He is to organize them in the Prussian file.

A letter from the Hague says, that the troops at Duffeldorf, under Gen. Angereau have received orders to march back again to Holland.

The funds at Amsterdam rose 4 per cent. on the news of the armistice on the Danube.

Some accounts by the mail say, that the King of Sweden had returned to his kingdom, from the island of Rugen.

Count Wedel Jarlsberg, is gone to Deal to have a personal interview with the Captain of the Danish frigate brought into the Downs.

BOSTON, September 20.
Yesterday the ship Onida, Capt. Pearson, arrived here from Falmouth, England, in 36 days, bringing papers to the 8th August, four days later than by the Alert; but excepting editorial conjectures and remarks they do not contain any political information.

In the London "Sun" of the 7th August, is a lengthy report of another overturn at Paris, in which Cambaceres and Lebrun, the two Cypher-Consuls, have been prevailed upon to resign; and other considerable changes effected by the Consul Paramount; but we consider it as idle speculation unworthy serious regard.

A gentleman from Connecticut assure us, that at the election on Monday last, in that State, the friends of order and government came out in great strength, and gave such a vote as will shew to the United States that federal state is unalterably attached to the government of our country, and will resist to the last, that malice and folly "which is the reproach of any people."

Board of Health.

BALTIMORE, September 23.
The following communication was yesterday received by the Board of Health: "The citizens of Philadelphia, and the district thereof, sympathize with their fellow-citizens in Baltimore, and at Fell's Point, on account of the afflicting and awful visitation of sickness which is prevailing with so much violence among them; and impressed as they are, with a sense of your kindness and generosity to the people of our city, on a similar occasion, they have appointed committees from the several wards and districts of Philadelphia, to solicit donations for the relief of your suffering poor, at this season."

This information we consider it our duty to give you, and when the amount of our subscriptions is known, we intend to address you again.

"In the mean time, as a part of our collection is intended for Norfolk and Providence, we shall find it necessary to appropriate the sum that is raised as near as we can to the circumstances of each of the Cities; for which reason you will please to state to us generally your present situation, and in particular, we desire you to mention, whether money, provisions or clothing will be most useful, as it is our wish to accommodate our supplies accordingly."

"That the Almighty Preserver of men, may speedily remove from you the present scourge, and restore your distressed citizens to a state of good health, is the ardent desire of your sincere friends, the inhabitants of Philadelphia and all its dependencies.

(Signed)
SAMUEL COATES, Chairman

REPLY.

WE acknowledge the receipt of your favor without date, communicating the proceedings of your citizens, respecting the suffering poor with us, in this time of calamity and distress.

Our expenses hitherto on the occasion have been considerable, yet our funds have been fully adequate to the demands made upon them; how far this may be the case at the end of the present awful visitation, is unknown to us, or what the amount of the expenses may be at that period.

If relief should be afforded from the distance that you are; Bank notes are the most ready conveyance, for through the blessing of a kind Providence, provisions, &c. are articles in which our country abounds.

On behalf of the Board of Health,

FEDERAL MEETINGS.

AT a meeting of a number of Federal citizens of the counties of Chester and Delaware, at West Chester, on Saturday the 30th of August, 1800, it was resolved to support JOSEPH HEMPHILL, Esquire, at the ensuing election for member of Congress for said counties.

The citizens of Delaware having retired, it was, on motion, resolved, that Thomas Bull, Isaac Wayne, and Joseph McClellan, Esquires be appointed Conferences on behalf of Chester county, to meet Conferences already appointed by the counties of Bucks and Montgomery, at Norristown, the 12th of September next to fix upon some suitable Federal Character to be voted for the ensuing election, to represent the district in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

On motion, it was resolved, That the Federal citizens of Chester county be requested to meet at the house of Abraham Marshall, in West-Bradford, on the 30th of September next, for the purpose of fixing on a ticket generally for said county, and that the whole proceeding of the day be published in Hall and Sells's Gazette, with a request to the other Federal printers of the city of Philadelphia, to publish the same in their papers until the election.

JAMES MOORE Chairman,
JOSEPH McCLELLAN, Secretary.
August 30th, 1800.

At a meeting of the citizens of Philadelphia, held pursuant to a public notice at Mr. Dunwoody's Tavern on Thursday evening the 18th September.

To Readers and Correspondents.

HARCOURT'S complaint of the coquetry of his Amanda and of her visible partiality to a weak and coxcombical rival, would not be interesting even to our gayer and lounging readers. The case is not a new one, and though it may deserve compassion, will be pronounced by every woman too common and rite. He, and his favored rival are the Edwin and Sir Topaz of Dr. PARNELL.

"He felt the charms of Edith's eyes,
Nor wanted hope to gain the prize,
Could Ladies look within;
But, one Sir Topaz dress'd with art,
And, if a shape can win a heart,
He has a shape to win."

The lady, who transcribed and transmitted the beautiful Lines to Sensibility is entreated to crop more of the flowers of Poesy. In the intervals of domestic duty it is more illustrious for a woman to peruse the brilliant and the useful, than to flout in public places or to cheapen fans.

Ah, friend to dazzle let the vain design,
To raise the thought, and touch the heart be thine.

"Lines from FLORIO" are inadmissible. The rhymes are not legitimate, and we discern neither plan, nor connection in his Poem. FLORIO may continue to scan verses with ten fingers, but he never can be a Bard.

"But, lest you think I rally more than teach,
Or praise malignly arts I cannot reach,
Let me for once presume to instruct the times,
To know the Poet from the man of rhymes
'Tis he, who gives my breast a thousand pains,
Can make me feel each passion that he feigns,
Enrage, compose, with more than magic art,
With pity and with terror tear my heart;
And snatch me o'er the earth, or thro' the air,
To Thebes to Athens, when he will and where."

Duane boasts of the facility with which business under a State Government is transacted—ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, is pocketed by a State officer with amazing facility, Mr. Duane.

Regimental orders have been issued in Virginia; patrols are ordered on duty; 75 cents are allowed for every 12 hours duty, to each individual; they are called on to use their utmost exertions, &c. &c.

On the 19th instant, the Town Council of Providence, reported five persons dead since last report, eight new cafes, fourteen now sick, six of which are in the hospital, eight in the town.

For the 24 hours, preceding Tuesday morning, there was 25 deaths in Baltimore and its vicinity.

If Fries' regiment was to be ordered to Virginia, which side would he take, Black or White?

The Epistle from the Friends' yearly meeting, signed "William Alexander," is as usual, fraught with the purest spirit of true Christian morality; for which they with the other classes of the Christian Church, will be bitterly arraign'd by our Jacobins.

It must be pleasing to our worthy President and to our southern brethren to learn, that should danger increase, and their country call, the True Federal Blues of America, will again seize their muskets to defend their country—already do we see the uniforms preparing, and they lay one to the other, "prepare, for our country ere long will invoke your aid."

Duane says that fifty persons who were under arms in the Legion on Monday, had a share in the battle of Germantown—but he don't say a word about whose army they were in; we know that many of them are recently from Britain and Ireland.

"The END shall justify the MEANS,"

Is a maxim of long standing, and universally practised by the Jacobins. It was this favourite axiom, that urged the charge of Deism against Mr. Rofs, prior to the last election for Governor, of Pennsylvania. The basest means were then used, by the Demos and the END was obtained by the election of M'Kean. It was a belief of this "Aurora" falsehood, that lost the election of Mr. Rofs, and although fully and clearly disproved, by the solemn testimony of a Clergyman, and the Vestry of the Church to which he belonged, yet the assertion had its effect, and many honest, worthy farmers, and others do to this day believe the charge, and were induced to vote against him for no other reason, (I must confess, that were the truth of the charge substantiated, it ought to operate against every man). It was by this falsehood, widely circulated, and boldly asserted that the good people of Pennsylvania were deceived, by pretended friends to Republican Liberty; that they did miscad the people, and that their boasted respect for religion is a mere veil to disguise their real views, it is only necessary to observe, that the same characters who opposed Mr. Rofs, as a Deist, and supported M'Kean, as a religious man, are now supporting an acknowledged Deist in the person of Jefferson; and we defy all his satellites to prove the contrary, for out of his own mouth is he condemned.

It was at one time given as reason, why M'Kean, ought to be elected, because he belonged to the same Church with Adams, and consequently was a good man;—if the it was so necessary to tell the people, to what Church M'Kean belonged, why do they not shew to what Church Mr. J. belongs, and why do they not bring Certificates to prove him innocent of the crime, as the Federalists did with respect to Rofs; ask them these questions, and they are mute; subterfuge is in vain returned to—He stands confessed a Deist, and member of that Church, whose partizans think it of no consequence whether a man believes in Twenty Gods or No Gods. Such is the Character whom, the AMERICAN PEOPLE are told is their friend, and are called on to support, as the Chief Magistrate of their country. Let them then make a solemn pause ere they pass the Rubicon.

I trust my countrymen have yet too much real respect for the religion of their Fathers, to place this man in power; the Jacobins are seeking the ruin of our country and the "means shall justify the END." Unite then Americans, and remember your faithful, and well tried friends, the Federalists, and by giving your votes for Adams, and Pinckney give a deadly blow to aspiring ambition.

Extract of a letter from Cape Francois, August 29th, to a gentleman in this city.

"I have just time to tell you that Peace is now established throughout the whole island; and that Rigaud is gone with his family, that he was seen at St Thomas's six days ago, and that he has failed from thence for St Martin's—That Gen. Touffiant is in possession of all the fourth part, and that in consequence Peace has been proclaimed, Te Deum sung, and the town illuminated."

MR. WAYNE,

DOVER, SEPTEMBER 19, 1800.

AS your paper has a more extensive circulation through this State, than any other, I wish to contradict a Jacobin lye which is gaining ground. They say, that the Methodists who form a very large proportion for the Federal interest of Kent county, intend to drop the Honourable James A. Bayard at the next election. I can with boldness contradict the mischievous and ill-founded untruth, and say, that there is not twenty voters, of that society, in the county, who will not support him with all their influence. The following is the Methodist Ticket.
